DEDICATION

This book is dedicated to my mother, Hilda Irene Stoor Kunz, born June 8, 1900 in Henry, Idaho to John Stoor Sr. and Johanna Majasdotter Gästgivars Stoor. In this year of two thousand, she would have been one hundred years old. This is my birthday present for her 100th birthday.

Hilda Irene Stoor Kunz

Hilda Irene Stoor was born June 8, 1900 in Henry, Idaho to her beautiful mother Johanna Gästgivars Stoor and her father John Stoor Sr. Johanna Stoor died when Hilda was about four months old. She was raised by her wonderful father, John Stoor Sr., and her sweet stepmother, Marie Stoor, both of whom she loved and respected.

Several years ago, I wrote a book about the Kunz family - the family of my father, Parley Peter Kunz, born October 28, 1894. The book was titled, THE KUNZ FAMILY: Johannes Kunz and Rosina Katharina Kolssner Kunz: Their Ancestors and Descendants. It is my belief that the book has had a positive impact upon the family. It was with that experience in mind that I decided to write this book.

I also dedicate this book to my grandparents, John Stoor Sr. and Johanna Stoor and to Marie Stoor and to their parents and grandparents as far back as it goes. It is my hope that this book will serve to assist us, their descendants, to obtain and to maintain a sense of loyalty to the family, and to have a feeling of love for our cousins and for other family members.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT

Thank you to my parents who instilled in me and motivated me with a desire to know my family and to help preserve our heritage.

I thank my wife, Joyce Sheffield Kunz, and children, Jay Phillip Kunz, Jenifer Kunz, Jody Kunz Roberts, Johnathan Kenneth Kunz, and Jana Kunz Porter, for encouragement on this book. Joyce and our children spent many hours with me in the Family History Center libraries searching for information about Finland, making telephone calls, editing and helping with the general organization of the book. We searched for information regarding the crossing of our grandparents from Finland to America and for other information that would assist us in obtaining a more complete understanding of our family.

Joyce Sheffield Kunz will always be loved by me for her tireless effort in this project. She has sacrificed much, and she has had great patience with me and my many piles of materials set about throughout the house. I appreciate her. The Lord will bless her for her goodness.

My eldest sister, Fern Kunz Galloway was especially helpful in assisting with Stoor genealogy work.

I thank Börje and Inga-Britt Sidbäck, and their son Hans, who were wonderful hosts during our visits to Finland. They provided information and interpretation of the material or information we had already found. They also introduced us to more information. Thanks is also expressed to others in Finland who were kind and helpful.

I also want to thank you, my extended family members, who were kind and patient to provide information to make this book possible.

VARIATIONS OF NAMES:

The names of our grandparents, and their three sons who came from Finland to America, are written in various ways in the histories, documents, letters and so on. In this book I will leave the names on the documents as they were found, but in the text I will use the names by which our relatives have come to be known in America and by which most of the family will readily recognize.

It may be helpful to refer back to this page if questions arise.

Chapter 1

Introduction

Introduction

We were born of goodly parents, whom we love and respect for providing us with a body, with nourishment and training, and with our identity. The family is significant to the preservation of civilization. It is largely within the family that the values of society are preserved. The significance of the family has long been recognized. The Reverend Albert Bitzium (1797-1854) who wrote under the pseudonym of Jeremias Gotthelf, as translated by Paul Anthon Nielson, said:

Be not misled by the idle words of unfortunate fools. Neither the state, nor the school, nor anything else but the home is the basis of life. Rulers do not really govern the land; teachers do not really give life its form. That is done by fathers and mothers in the home. Public life in a nation is not the most important, but instead, the home is the root of everything; as the root is, so will the plant be formed.

Source: Translation of a Prayer Day sermon from Jeremias Gotthelf, Geld und Geist, in Samtliche Werke in 24 Banden in Verbindung mit der Familie Bitzium, ed. By Rudolf Hunziker, Hans Bloesch and C. A. Loosli, VII (Muenchen & Bern: Eugen Rentsch Verlag, 1911, 366, as quoted in Paul Anthon Nielson's, Swiss Genealogical Research: An Introductory Guide, Virginia Beach/Norfolk: Donning, 1979.

All human beings—male and female—are created in the image of God. Each is a beloved spirit son or daughter of heavenly parents, and, as such, each has a divine nature and destiny. Gender is an essential characteristic of individual premortal, mortal, and eternal identity and purpose.

In the premortal realm, spirit sons and daughters knew and worshiped God as their Eternal Father and accepted His plan by which His children could obtain a physical body and gain earthly experience to progress toward perfection and ultimately realize his or her divine destiny as an heir of eternal life.

Husband and wife have a solemn responsibility to love and care for each other and for their children. “Children are an heritage of the Lord” (Psalms 127:3). Parents have a sacred duty to rear their children in love and righteousness, to provide for their physical and spiritual needs, to teach them to love and serve one another, to observe the commandments of God and to be law-abiding citizens wherever they live. Husband and wives—mothers and fathers—will be held accountable before God for the discharge of these obligations.

The family is ordained of God.

*From: The Family: A Proclamation to the World
The First Presidency and Council of the Twelve Apostles of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints*

Certainly our own concept of family is important to us, but it may be quite different from other family members' concepts. Each of us has some sense of what our heritage is, but that may differ from the knowledge held by other family members. Some of us may know most of our cousins and beyond, but others may know few extended family members. For some of you there will be a happy surprise as you find people you have known for years who are also your relatives. If you start with a surname, and follow the family for six generations, you find that the names multiply. In that sixth generation less than one half of one percent of the people will have the same last surname as the name started with in the first generation. Thus, in the first generation, if a family has half girls and half boys, the girls would probably marry and end up with different names. As the boys marry and have children, it may be assumed that half of them would be girls, who would then obtain a different name at marriage and so on. Primarily for this reason, extended family members become "lost" to us. My desire is that this book may help to maintain our family unit, so that there will not be a diminution of family identity.

Perhaps because of our traditional naming custom in the United States coupled with the general patriarchal influence in families, there is a tendency to look more toward the father's family. After writing the book on the Kunz Family¹, I was determined to do something like that for the Stoor Family. Mothers are as important as fathers and we should know as much about our mothers as we do our fathers.

I wanted to write something about the process that I went through in producing this volume. Since I was young, I have attended Stoor family reunions and have known some of the family members, including those in my extended family. At times I spoke to my own mother about her parents and her early life. Now, I wish I had done much more. I wish I had talked to all of her brothers and sisters, my uncles and aunts, and recorded whatever I could. I wish I had questioned, probed, collected and then done it all again. Perhaps there is a lesson in this for whomever wants a lesson.

I found that my mother had written some material about her parents and other family members had written a little as well. Early on, some wonderful people have assumed the obligation of determining the identity of our grandparents and great-grandparents. I am so thankful for them and the efforts they made.

As I read my mother, Hilda Irene Stoor's, history, I found that she referred to her father coming to America between 1891 and 1893. It was a desire to pin down a more exact time, but I have found that such an undertaking is not easy. After many many hours of searching I have determined that John Stoor Sr. came in 1891 and his wife Johanna and their children, John, Gus and Matt came in 1893. I have found no history of the family that gives the exact dates. We have literally spent hundreds of hours searching various films, documents, books and so on, looking for this information.

Entry from the United States 1900 Census gives important information for the transition years from Finland to America for the John and Johanna Stoor family

It should be noted that the name for Gus is listed in the Census as "Charles A. Stoor." Perhaps the census taker heard the "Karl" in Gus as "Charles" August. Documents from Finland, and other documents indicate that his name is Karl August.

We found applications for passports in Finland which indicate that the years of 1891 for John Stoor Sr. and 1893 for his wife, Johanna and their three children are the correct years. Examination of passenger lists did not yield their names, however. The United States Census corroborated these years but did not help determine the months and days when they came, nor even from which port they came. There is much more for many of you to search as you gain an interest in such things and decide that your time might be well spent.

I knew that John Stoor Sr., Johanna Stoor and their children, John, Gus and Matt came from Pörtom, Vaasa, Finland. I found Pörtom on a map but found that no family member, as nearly as I could determine, ever went back to see the town of Pörtom in person until 1995 when Jay and Jenifer Kunz, our oldest two children and I went to Finland. We first went to Vaasa by train, rented a car and began our exploration. We only had family group sheets and pedigree charts.

We drove to the village of Solf, Vaasa, Finland. John Stoor's mother, Maja Greta Johansdotter, was born there February 23, 1822. His Grandfather, Johan Jacobsson Gästgivers, was also born there, along with other ancestors such as the Michaelsson and Urbansson in the late 1700's.

We went to their church, spent some time in the cemetery and then found a Gästgivars home, across from a lumber yard and tried to ascertain if we were related. We were well received by them. We then drove to Pörtom and fell in love with that community. I remembered a postcard that my mother had. It appeared to be a scene of the street, with only the name of Fern written in the corner, identification of the Pörtom (kyrkoby) church and Hilda's handwriting "my Father worked here." Nothing was written on the back of the card.

As we drove into Pörtom, we went to the post-office and showed them the names on our family records. We were directed to the home of a Mrs. Ericksson, who could speak some English. She gave us refreshments and told us of a Mr. Börje Sidbäck. The name of Sidbäck appeared on some of our records. As it happened, Börje became a great friend and has given us a lot of help. He was a newspaper writer and historian. Mr. Sidbäck has written several books about the history in Pörtom and surrounding areas. He was a journalist and had been employed with the Vaasabladet, a newspaper in the city of Vaasa, but with an office in Närpes, where both he and his wife, Inga-Britte worked before his retirement.

On the day we first arrived in Pörtom, Mrs. Ericksson called him on the telephone. He was with his wife Inga-Britt, burying her mother. He came from the burial, picked us up and showed us Pörtom and Sidbäck. Sidbäck is a community adjoining Pörtom.

We looked at homes in Sidbäck where some Stoor families lived, visited the church and the cemetery and went to see other people who seemed relevant to our endeavor. Börje took us to a greenhouse where they grew tomatoes and took our photo there. The next day a news article was printed in the Vaasabladet newspaper which talked about the three professors who were there to find their family roots.

En fader, en son och en dotter från Utah respektive Texas i USA står på begravningsplatsen i Pörtom och söker sina rötter.

De är alla tre professorer och har inte tidigare besökt Finland, men nu har intresset för släternas hemland och hemtrakt kommit över dem.

Sociologiprofessorn Phillip Kunz mor hette Hilda Irene Kunz och var född Stoor år 1900. Av henne har han lärt sig några ord svenska och också fått intresset för sina rötter i Österbotten.

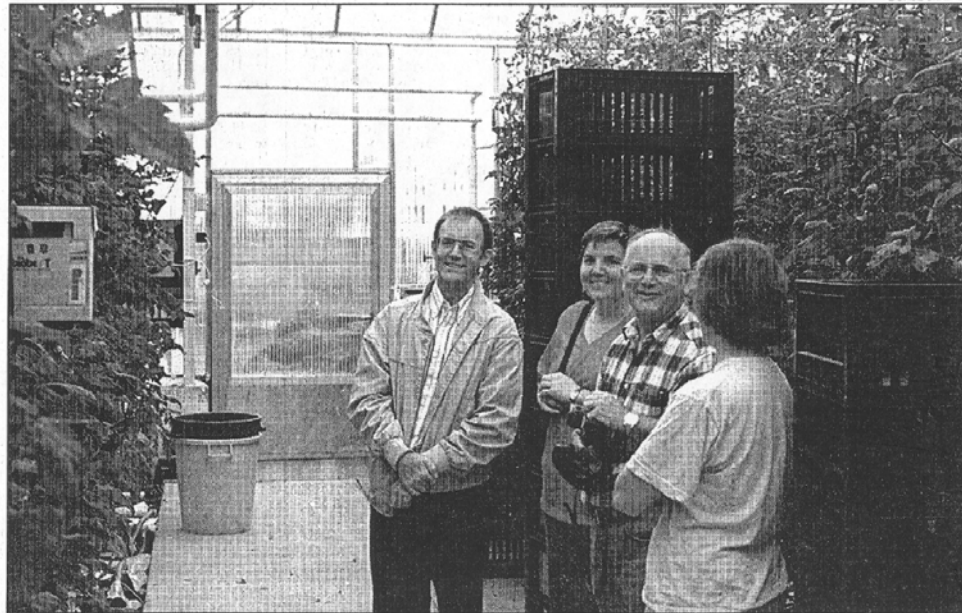

Morfar och mormor i Idaho

Min morfar var Johannes Emanuelson Stoor (på Sidbäck) och kom från Pörtom, berättar Phillip Kunz. Han var född 1863 och gift med Johanna Majasdotter, född Gästgävar. De flyttade på 1890-talet till Idaho som bland annat fårfarmare, där de också dog i Soda Springs.

Nu söker Phillip alltså via kyrkböcker, släktkontakter och namn på gravstenarna sina rötter i Pörtom. Han har bland annat via egen släktforskning kommit fram till att hans morfarsmor hette Maja Greta Johansdotter Stoor, född 1822 och död 1884.

Hon hörde alltså till en av de många släktgrenarna på Stoor hemman nummer 12, och hemgården fanns i kyrkbyn, även om utflyttningar skedde under olika tider till Sidbäck, Norrback och Rönnholm.

Själv är alltså Phillip professor i sociologi vid Brigham young university i Provo, Utah, men han är född i Idaho.

Tillsammans med dottern Jenifer som likaså är sociologiprofessor, men i Texas, är han på väg till den stora internationella sociologikongressen i Tammerfors kommande helg.

Sonen Jay som är professor tyska vid universitetet i Austin, Texas kommer för sin del att fortsätta till Tyskland via Sverige och Danmark, där han har en del av släktrötterna.

Professorer i Tomatriket

Men dessförinnan skall de hin-na bekanta sig mer med Österbotten och kanske också Lappland. Redan i helgen besökte de förutom Vasa och Solf även forngravfältet på Raineåsen, Småttgården, Ahlholma gård och andra platser i Pörtom.

Dessutom företogs en rundtur genom Närpes med besök vid

Bengtsgården och i Sven Siggs toppmoderna växthusanläggning, en av de största i Närpes.

Tomatodlingen som är helt datoriserad imponerade stort på gästerna, som förklarade att man hemma i Texas odlar tomaterna endast på friland och att de växer till högst en halv meters höjd.

Three professors from the USA look for their family roots in Pörtom, Finland

A father, a son and a daughter from Utah and Texas in the USA stand at the cemetery in Pörtom and look for their roots.

They are all three professors and have not previously visited Finland, but now, they are interested in their forefathers' homeland and homesickness for the region has come over them.

Sociology professor Phillip Kunz's mother, named Hilda Irene Kunz, was born with the maiden name of Stoor in 1900. From her, he learned a couple of words of Swedish and also gained an interest in his roots in Osterbotten.

Maternal grandfather and grandmother in Idaho

"My mother's father, Johannes Emanuelson Stoor (at Sidbäck), came from Pörtom," narrates Phillip Kunz. "He was born in 1863 and was married to Johanna Majasdotter (born Gästgivars.) They emigrated around 1890 to Idaho, and became, among other things, sheep farmers. There, they also died in Soda Springs."

Now Phillip is searching consequently for his roots in Pörtom via church books, contacts with relatives and names on gravestones. From his own family research, he has found that his mother's father's mother was named Maja Greta Johansdotter Stoor, born in 1822 and died in 1884.

She belonged to one of the many family branches of Stoor, homestead number was in the parish, even though immigration took place under different times to Sidbäck, Norrback and Ronnholm.

Phillip himself is a professor of sociology at Brigham Young University in Provo, Utah, but he was born in Idaho.

Together with his daughter Jenifer, who likewise is a Sociology professor, but in Texas, they are on the way to a large international sociological convention in Tammerfors that takes place next weekend.

The son Jay is also a professor of German at the University of Texas at Austin. He came too for his part and will continue to Germany via Sweden and Denmark, where he also has some family roots.

Professors in land of tomatoes

If they have time, they want to get acquainted with Osterbotten and perhaps also Lappland. In addition to Vaasa, Solf and the ancient ruins of Raineasen, they have already visited Smattgarden, Alholoma yard and also other places in Pörtom.

In addition, they also undertook a tour of Närpes and visited the Bengtsgarden and also Sven Siggs modern greenhouse facility, which is one of the largest in Närpes.

The computerized tomato cultivation really impressed the guests, who explained that home in Texas, they cultivate tomatoes only outdoors and that they grow to a height of about half a meter.

Translated from Swedish to English by Dr. Jay Phillip Kunz, Professor of German at Mississippi State University in Starkville, Mississippi.

In July, 2000, my wife Joyce, our daughter, Jenifer and I went to Finland, where Jenifer and Jay, our two oldest children, and I had been in 1995. We again met Mr. and Mrs. Sidbäck and others. Finland: Land of our Mothers and Fathers

Scandinavian Countries

The four Scandinavian countries are Finland, Denmark, Norway and Sweden. The Scandinavian countries are between 8 and 30 degrees E longitude and 55 and 73 degrees N latitudes, comparable to Alaska in the United States. While Denmark is attached to Northern Germany, the other three countries are separated from the European continent. A bridge was opened in July 2000 between Denmark and Sweden, permitting motor travel between these countries for the first time. Other than Denmark, the other three countries are attached together in the far North.

Many of the people from these countries left their homelands for America during the great emigration to America that took place from 1850 to 1920. During this time period in Sweden, for example, one third of all of the people immigrated to America.

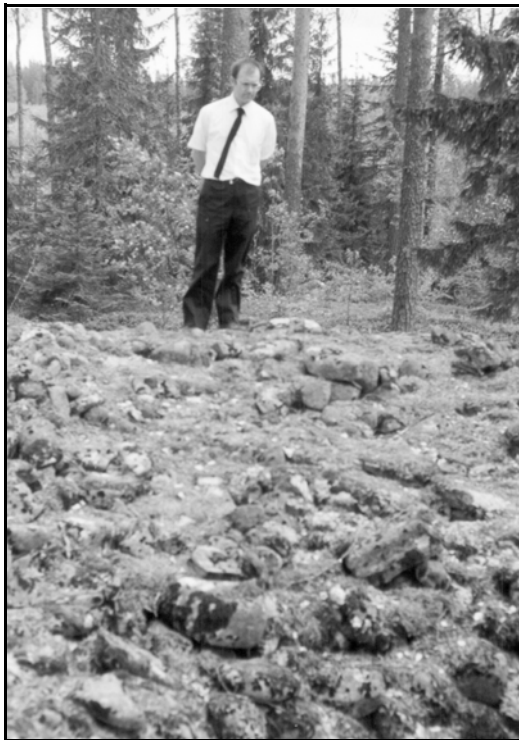

So many people went to America from Denmark that they celebrate United States' Independence each 4th of July in Rebild, Denmark. The land for Denmark's only national park was purchased by a group of Danish Americans. Since 1912, people have gathered in Rebild, nestled in a bowl shaped area created by green hills to celebrate. Fifteen to thirty thousand people attend each year. They hear the national anthems of both Denmark and the United States, and celebrate with song and speeches. Several American Presidents have addressed the crowd in past years. On July 4th of 2000, a statue of an immigrant family sculpted by Dennis Smith from Alpine, Utah was unveiled in Rebild, Denmark following the annual meeting of the Mormon Historical Association, which met there to celebrate the 150th anniversary of the first Danish converts to The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

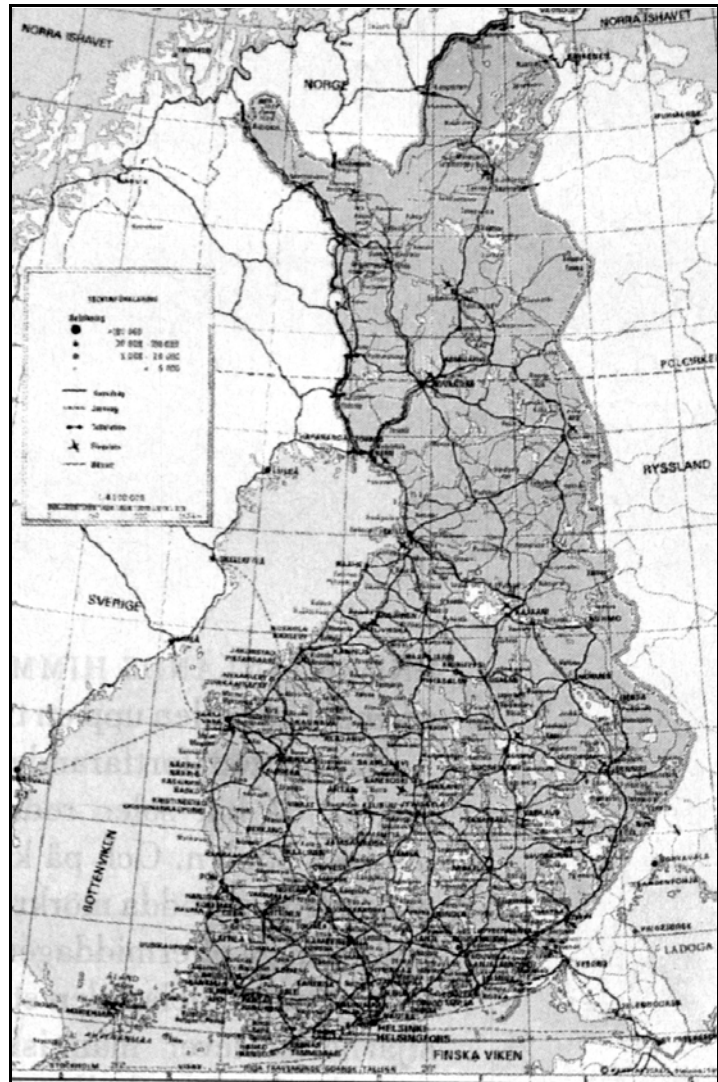

Map of Europe

Finland

Finland has a long history dating back to the stone age. In fact, there are archaeological ruins there from a very early age in the town of Pörtom, where our grandparents lived. The Vikings also had a presence in Finland. Two thousand years ago, Finland was divided with the Karelians in the East and the Swedish Tavastians inhabiting the West. They were almost continually at war. Swedish rule began in 1155 and more or less continued until 1809.

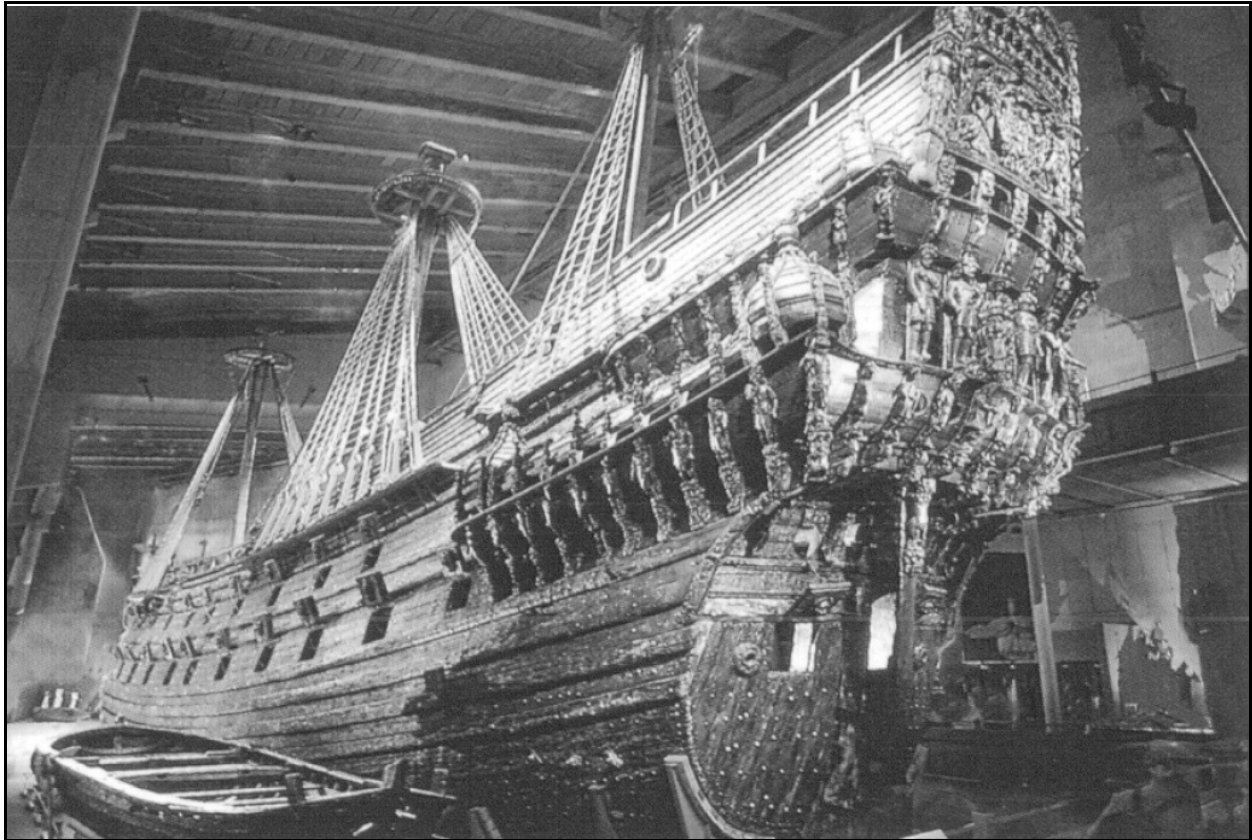

Dr. Jay P. Kunz at archaeological dig from the Bronze Age in Pörtom, Finland

Finland

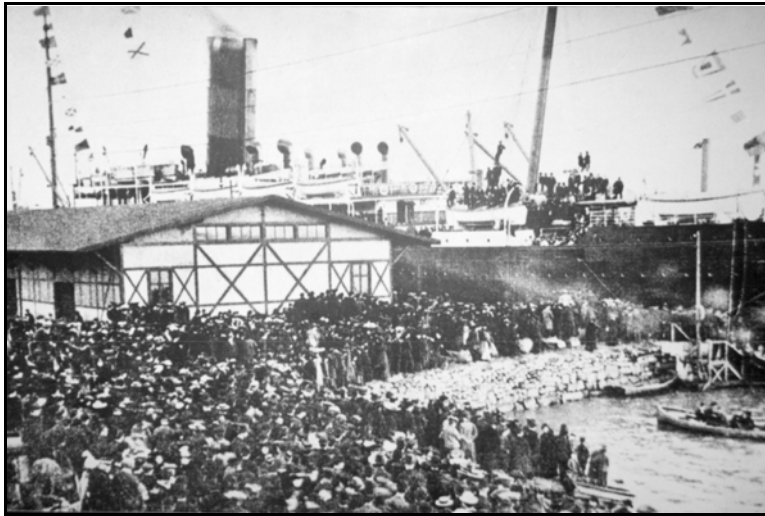

In 1529, King Gustav Vaasa of Sweden influenced his people to drive the Catholics out of Finland, giving the Lutherans the power. Probably the area of Vaasa, in Western Finland today, carries the Vaasa name because of King Vaasa. A flagship that was built in Stockholm, Sweden had two rows of cannons on both its port and starboard sides. The ship was named the Vaasa, and on its maiden voyage it tipped and sank into the bay, much to the displeasure of the King. The cause of its sinking appears to have been not enough ballast in its hold to maintain it upright. It lay there for some 300 years until it was discovered in 1956. It was raised almost intact in 1961. It now occupies a position in Vasa Museet, a special museum where the proper humidity, temperature, and lighting are maintained to keep the old wood from deteriorating.

The Russians ruled Finland for about one hundred years, from 1809 until 1917, when Finland declared its independence. John Stoor Sr. served in the military under the control of Russia. His Declaration of Intent, when he came to America, indicated that he was a subject of the Russian government. During World War II, Finland fought against both the United Soviet Socialist Republic and against Germany. As Germany withdrew from Northern Finland, the Germans burned many villages and a lot of timber in Northern Finland – in Lapland. Even today, those acts still taint the relationship between Finland and Germany.

Finland provided some seventy-five thousand immigrants to the United States between 1861 and 1899. Of these immigrants, very few returned to Finland.

Early dock scene

Finland has a rather harsh environment. It is at the higher latitudes where long Winter months have been severe on the population. It is slightly smaller than the state of Montana in area. Finland lies between Sweden and Russia and borders the Baltic Sea, Gulf of Bothnia, the Gulf of Finland and Norway. Finland has some 60,000 lakes which help to moderate the cold from the sub-arctic. Its terrain is mostly low rolling plains interspersed with lakes and small hills. However, the elevation mostly ranges from 0 to 4,357 feet.

In the Winter, Finland has long, dark nights. The Summer brings long days with the light extending into the night as this photo, taken just before midnight indicates.

During the period from 1867-68 more than 100,000 Finns died of starvation and disease. The Finnish poet, J. L. Runeberg, as translated by Kirby, wrote:

We are Europe's outpost against Nature
Set down amidst the ice
And our bread have we wrested from ice and snow.

Finland borders Norway for 453 miles, Sweden for 364 miles and Russia 815 miles in addition to the many miles of coast line. The World Factbook: 1999, written by The Central Intelligence Agency, reports that by 1900 there were about two and a half million people in Finland. Today, in the 21st Century, the population is more than five million. Life expectancy is about the same as the United States for males and females and the infant mortality rate is lower than the United States. The ethnicity of Finland includes about 6 percent Swedish, most of them located on the Western part of the country in the area of Vaasa, and the rest are mostly Finnish. The majority of the people are Evangelical Lutheran.

Today, most of the people in Finland speak Finnish. However our ancestors, John Stoor Sr., Johanna Gästgivars, and Marie Vinberg, came from Vaasa, which was heavily influenced by Sweden. Our ancestors, therefore, spoke Swedish.¹ We can well remember our parents speaking some Swedish phrases and speaking of Sweden as the "old country." Many of our family members have mistakenly believed that shortly before the time of their immigration, the family moved from Sweden to Finland. All of the records of our ancestors indicate that such a conception is in error as all of our known ancestors came from the small towns in Vaasa such as Pörtom, Solf and Mustasaari, as far back as the 15th and 16th centuries. Furthermore, the land-transfer records show that the family lived in Finland as early as that time. Akerblom, K.V., Pörtom Historia. Pörtom: AB Frams Tryckeri, 1954. See especially Chapter 24, "Husbonderna Pa De Gamla Hemmanen Intill 1860-Talet, pp 461-530.

D. G. Kirby, a Finnish historian, said:

Most Finns were poor; most eked some sort of living out of an infertile and sparse soil; most spoke Finnish, though the small minorities who were wealthy or who occupied offices of prestige for the most part spoke Swedish.

owners but were essentially part of the peasant social class.

“He who won’t work, shan’t eat” – so runs the old Swedish peasants’ Great Commandment. There was a difference between those who owned property and those who did not. In most countries the ownership of property has always been very beneficial to the property owners, and so it was in Finland. Peasants owned some land and often had servants to work for them at certain times of the year. Such a situation is described in Moberg’s history:

My own parents, in service to peasants at that time, have told me about conditions during the century’s last decades. My mother was born in 1864. For twelve years, from her confirmation at the age of fourteen in 1878 until her marriage to my father in 1890, she had been in service as a maid in several farmhouses in her parish . . . she received payment in kind, in the form of a field of flax, from which she could get enough flaxen thread to weave herself a dress, and a certain number of pounds of wool from the sheep to knit herself a new pair of stockings each year. . . .

My parents served out their time in a part of the country where farms are small, where the family usually did the same work and ate at the same table as their employees and mixed with them socially at the same feasts, weddings and funerals.

Finland has slowly developed into a modern, industrialized country. During the last part of the 1800's Finland shifted somewhat from farming to harvesting and exporting timber.

Forestry is an important industry. Finland is industrialized, but still has a strong rural farm influence. A large greenhouse industry has been developed with tomatoes and cucumbers as chief crops for export and for local use in the country. These are highly developed, computerized and fully automated operations.

Vaasa (Vasa)

[Note Finnish spelling in parenthesis]

Vaasa is the Western area of Finland which has maintained the Swedish language. Vaasa is both a city and a larger area in Finland, much like Salt Lake City in Salt Lake County, Utah. There are a number of cities and towns in the area of Vaasa, with the city of Vaasa being the largest. Farming is predominant in this area and the countryside is covered with good crops, old farm buildings and homes.

Our ancestors came primarily from Pörtom (Pirttikyla), Sidbäck, Solf (Sulva), Ilmajoki, Närpes (Narpio) and Mustasaari or Karchmo Musta Saari (called Korsholm Mustasaari today). All of these towns are in the area of Vaasa in Finland.

Pörtom

The population of Pörtom has diminished from over three thousand people, hundreds of years ago, to less than one thousand today in 2000. In the past there was a glass factory, tomato and cucumber greenhouses, timber processing operations and farming.

The church in Pörtom was built between 1781 and 1783. It burned down about 200 years ago and today a monument is on the grassy area where the church once stood. Prior to that time, the people in Pörtom and the surrounding area had to go to church in Närpes which is about thirty-five miles South of Pörtom. Many of our ancestors, including John Stoor Sr., his wife Johanna Stoor, and their first five children, John Stoor, Gus Stoor, Johanna Emanuelsson Stoor, Maria Emanuelsson Stoor, and Matt Stoor, were born in Pörtom and were christened in the new Pörtom Church. Marie Vinberg, John Stoor's second wife, was also born there and left from Pörtom to go to Soda Springs, Idaho.

Sidbäck

Sidbäck is a village adjoining Pörtom, Finland. It is a rural area with farms, old buildings, and perhaps most significantly, it is the site of the home and farm of John Stoor Sr. and Johanna Stoor and their children, prior to coming to America. Their home was torn down in 1960, but we were able to find this photo, showing part of the home in an album belonging to Gunvor and Erland Nyholm, who still live in Finland. Gunvor Åbäck Nyholm is a member of the Stoor family, whose Stoor name was changed to Åbäck, as explained at the end of this chapter. Gunvor's ancestors purchased the home and land from John and Johanna Stoor in 1893.

Lillmossvägen means bog or swampland. It is the street in Sidbäck, Vaasa, Finland, where John and Johanna Stoor lived.

Närpes

Närpes is the largest Swedish-speaking community in Finland. It has greenhouse cultivation, fur farming and more than 300 minor enterprises, including paper production and the manufacturing of truck bodies.

The first church in the area of Närpes was built of wood in 1339. The present church was built near the site of the original church in 1435. Over the years, the church has been remodeled and expanded several times. As the oldest church in the area, many of our early ancestors would have gone there for their religious obligations. That would have included those as far away as Pörtom and Sidbäck, some 36 miles away, prior to the construction of the Pörtom church. If the people didn't attend the church often enough, they had to pay a fine.

Närpes church

The church in Närpes was once surrounded by over 150 horse stables. These stables were constructed by the families that attended church there. Inasmuch as they traveled so far, the horses were stabled out of the cold, sometimes for two or three days. Some of the people also had to stay in the stables with the horses, as they did not have the wealth to do otherwise. Several of these stables are still standing today.

John Stoor Sr.'s second wife, Marie Vinberg Isaksson's grandmother and other of her ancestors were born in Närpes, Finland.

Solf

John Stoor Sr.'s mother, Maja Greta Johansdotter was born in Solf on February 23, 1822. His grandfather, Johan Jacobsson Gästgivars was born in Solf, Finland. June 29, 1781. It is interesting to note that Johanna Stoor's mother's name was Gästgivars too. Maja Greta Andersdotter Gästgivars was born February 7, 1842. Her grandfather's name was Anders Andersson Gästgivars, born April 22, 1818. However they were both born in Pörtom. The Solf church was built in 1783 of limestone. The pews in this church are original.

In 1920, the name Stoor was changed to three other names by Finland's religious-civil government, which concluded that there were too many Stoor to identify. Some of the Stoor then took the following names: Sundberg, Södervall, and Åbäck. Others retained the Stoor name. Because of this, genealogy research has become somewhat more difficult to accomplish. The tombstones below represent these names. All of these tombstones are found in Pörtom, Vaasa, Finland.

bones, hear the word of the Lord.

Thus saith the Lord God unto these bones; Behold, I will cause breath to enter into you, and ye shall live:

And I will lay sinews upon you, and will bring up flesh upon you, and cover you with skin, and put breath in you, and ye shall live; and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

So I prophesied as I was commanded: and as I prophesied, there was a noise, and behold a shaking, and the bones came together, bone to his bone.

And when I beheld, lo, the sinews and flesh came up upon them, and the skin covered them above: but there was no breath in them.

Then said he unto me, Prophecy unto the wind, prophesy, son of man, and say to the wind, Thus saith the Lord God; Come from the four winds, O breath, and breathe upon these slain, that they may live.

So I prophesied as he commanded me, and the breath came into them, and they lived, and stood up upon their feet, an exceeding great army.

John Stoor Sr. and Johanna Majasdotter Stoor

John Stoor Sr. was born on February 1, 1863 in Pörtom, Vaasa, Finland. His parents were Emanuel Sidbäck Mattsson and Maria Greta Johansdotter. He grew up in Pörtom, as an only child. He learned to work hard and to be honest in his dealings with others. He, no doubt, learned to know something about hard times. His daughter, Hilda Stoor Kunz, reported that “he lost his father when he was young and his mother had to be both mother and father to him.”

He grew up on a farm, and went to school and learned honesty in his home. John Stoor Sr. served in the military in Finland for a time. This is not documented however. His mother died February 19, 1884, and just nine months later on November 14, 1884, John Sr. married his sweetheart, Johanna Majasdotter Gästgivars in the Pörtom Church. She was a bit older than her husband; however, that kind of age difference was not uncommon at that time in Finland.

Hilda wrote of her parents:

I have heard him (John Stoor Sr.) relate that when he arrived in America, he came to Soda Springs, feeling alone and a long way from home. He met a good man, John Henry Schmit, who took him to his home and made him feel welcome and gave him work. Here, he learned a little English and he was given work on a large cattle ranch at Henry, Idaho. He helped to put up hay in the summer in small stacks. In the winter he had to shovel the deep snow from these stacks and feed several hundred head of cattle, pitching all by hand for the sum of six dollars a month and his board and room. He worked hard and saved his money and finally got a place of his own. He built a home and sent for his family—his dear wife and three sons. It was a happy reunion once more, with the family all together and with one goal in mind—to make their home in this great land of America. All these accomplishments require dedication and devotion. No one's life runs smoothly, as with each of us, he had adversity and hardships to overcome.

On October 11, 1894, Roy Robert was born. On February 17, 1896 Emil Wilhelm was born. This brought great joy, as well as work to our home. Then, on June 8, 1900, I, Hilda Irene came to make my home with them too. Doctor Ellis Kackley of Soda Springs, was in attendance. Doctor Kackley told me before he died how happy they were for me. They all loved and spoiled me.

My parents had now built a large two story house with eight rooms in it. I still remember how this home looked. I can remember the black kitchen stove, the wash stand, the basement or cellar steps and all of the other rooms. My father was determined to make a good home and he wasn't afraid to work.

Another great sorrow came into his life when my mother was stricken with typhoid fever and became very ill. She then contracted pneumonia which caused her death on October 4, 1900. Dr. Kackley said he had done all he could to spare her life. Father felt at that time that all was lost. But our Heavenly Father always comes to our rescue. A kind neighbor lady cared for the new baby in her home for six months. Her name was Offer Hansen. She told me she had been my foster mother.

In the meantime there had been other neighbors and friends come to this country so my father hired one of these girls to care for his home and family. Her name was Marie Vinberg. She was a good kind woman and took good care of the family and made a good home for all of us. Father married her June 5, 1901. They were blessed with Anna Marie on July 17, 1902, Elsie Sophia on July 26, 1903, Edla Matilda on November 19, 1905, and they were all born at Henry, Idaho, where the family had built the home.

About this time the government came in and bought up all of the land for a big government dam which is now Henry's Lake. Father sold his property and bought a 160 acre ranch in Wayan, Idaho. He had to again move his family, so he tore down the home and moved it to Wayan, where he rebuilt it. In the meantime, we lived in a small three room log house.

As time went on, he accumulated many cattle, and added much more land to the farm. He and his companion worked hard and sent the children to school. My parents continued to learn the English language and the ways of this land, living a clean, honest life.

When donations were called for by the community, church or government, Father was always there to do his part. He was a kind but stern father in the things that were right and always did unto others as he wanted to be done by.

He served for many years as school trustee at Wayan, Idaho. It was during his service in the capacity of County Commissioner in Caribou County that the Soda Springs Hospital was built. He helped to remove the County Agent from office because he felt the man was taking and spending county money that was needless and another county was receiving the help. Again, the lesson of being honest and spending needlessly was shown.

On October 11, 1907, Lillian was born and on July 2, 1909, a son Vern, was born to them. So, father had a family of thirteen children with two of them deceased. On November 24, 1918, his second companion passed away, leaving great sadness again in his life. Four of his sons were married and had homes of their own which he had helped them to obtain. So, with the two other sons and five daughters, all were able to carry on.

Prior to this time in 1916 on July 4, our family home in wayan burned down. The family were all away from home at the time at the celebration. We lived in bunk houses, tents, and what not, until a new home could be constructed. He had bought two building lots in Soda Springs, one with a home on it. On the other, he built a home. This home also burned to the ground. The children all went to school and four of them to college.

He passed away on May 24, 1926 in the Soda Springs Hospital from a ruptured appendix, leaving a large posterity to honor his name. He had very high ideals and the Lord did have a hand in bringing this family to America, and to this part of the country. He instilled in his family the ideals of honesty, hard work, and high moral integrity. He gave his family many opportunities that were not available in the old country.

Let us all honor their names and memories and be proud to have such a wonderful heritage as our Stoor family has given to us. Malachi reports:

Behold, I will send you Elijah the prophet, before the coming of the great and dreadful day of the Lord:

And he shall turn the heart of the fathers to the children, and the heart of the children to their fathers, lest I come and smite
the earth with a curse.

Malachi 4:5-6

The roots of John Stoor Sr. and his wife, Johanna, were deep in the soil and culture of Finland. Following are photographs of the font and painting inside of the Church in Pörtom, Vaasa, Finland, where John Stoor Sr. and Johanna Majasdotter Gästgivars were christened.

Johanna Majasdotter Gästgivars

Johanna Majasdotter Gästgivars was born August 2, 1862 in Pörtom, Vaasa, Finland. Her mother, Maja Greta Andersdotter Gästgivars, was born in Pörtom, on February 7, 1842 and died on May 23, 1918. Maja Greta is the daughter of Maja Brita and Anders Andersson Gästivars. The Majasdotter in Johanna Majasdotter Gästgivars Stoor comes from her mother, Maja Greta combined with the dotter in the name signifies that her father was unknown on the records in the church archives in Pörtom.

Johanna Majasdotter Gästgivars Stoor-1897

According to the church records in the Pörtom Parish, Maja Greta Andersdotter was deaf. I'm sure it was difficult for her to raise her beautiful little girl, Johanna Majasdotter, by herself.

*Maja Greta Andersdotter Gästgivars,

My Great Grandmother Maja Greta, must have been very happy when her only child, Johanna, married John Stoor Sr. November 14, 1884 in Pörtom, Vaasa, Finland. She was there to hold and love her first five little grandchildren, who were born in Finland. She was there when the twins died. She was there to see her son-in-law leave for America. She was there to see her only daughter, Johanna and her three little grandsons also leave Finland for America. She was also there to receive whatever messages came back from America, although we don't know if that ever happened. And finally, she was there until she died on May 23, 1918, having seen Finland obtain its independence. She was 76 years old when she died. God bless her for who she was and what she did.

Push and Pull of Migration

The latter part of the 19th Century was a difficult time in Finland. There was widespread poverty and crop failure. There were good reports from America and other countries resulting in many of the Finnish people leaving to make a better life. The poor conditions in Finland were a “push” for them to leave. The Institute of Migration in Turku, Finland, has a display, Finnish Emigration Through the Ages, which indicates that letters written home to the old country spoke of the great opportunities and thus became a “pull” on the people toward America. The farms in the countryside in Finland were divided down in each generation and eventually they were too small to sustain everyone. That may have been one factor that helped encourage John Stoor Sr. and Johanna to think about the possibility of a new life in America. Finland had many crop failures and hard times that “pushed” many to leave their native land. So, there were both a “push” and a “pull” that brought about the migration of 75,000 people from Finland to America between 1861 and 1899.

While there was the thought of wonderful opportunities that lay before them, there was also the strain of having to leave family members behind. Some of those left behind were close friends. Others were older relatives and there was not much hope that they would ever see them again in this life. Moreover, the parting was usually sad.

During the period of time when our grandparents came to America, of the people who left Finland, most sailed across the water to Sweden and from there by train to Göteborg, Sweden. From Göteborg they boarded another ship to Hull, on the East coast of England. They traveled by train across England to the west coast to Liverpool, where they boarded another ship enroute to America, usually either to New York or to Boston. There were some people who took other routes during this time, however.

When Grandfather, John Stoor Sr. applied for his passport, the Stoor family lived in Sidbäck, which is near Pörtom. There were four Stoor homes on the property, along with some barns. John Stoor Sr. held title to the home they lived in as well as some of the property. Just prior to leaving Finland with her children in 1893, Johanna sold the home and property, acting with a “power of attorney” from her husband.

The names in Finland are instructive. Stoor means something like “big man” and “Gästgivars” is an innkeeper. We do not know if Johanna’s mother, Maja Greta Andersdotter Gästgivars, was an innkeeper, worked at an inn, or whether that name had just been passed down from earlier generations.

This following document shows four generations of the Stoor family: The names and birth dates of the three children who came to America, their parents, John Stoor Sr. and Johanna Stoor, and their grandmother, Maja Greta Gästgivars, and Maja Greta's parents: Anders Gästgivars and Maja Brita. The records are kept in the church in Portom, Vaasa, Finland, and are there at the behest of the state. These and the following records are available for inspection, and the clerk will send this type of record for a small fee. However, the records are most likely in the Family History Library in Salt Lake City and possibly in local family history libraries of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

the five children born in Finland to John Stoor Sr. and Johanna Stoor, and John Stoor Sr.'s mother, Maja Greta Johansdotter*

When John Stoor Sr. left for the United States in 1891, his passport indicated that Johanna, and three young sons would be leaving Finland to join him later. John Stoor Sr.'s passport date was 1891. Johanna's was dated 1893. Family tradition is that he sent money back to Finland, which he had saved while working from 1891 to 1893 to bring his family together again. John Stoor Sr. had been working in Idaho and then applied for homestead property.

John Stoor Sr. gave his wife, Johanna, "power of attorney" to sell their home and property, which may have been used, in part, to pay for passage to America for her and their three sons. It is interesting to note that Johanna signed the sale document with an "X." (See document on the 2nd page following).

The documents transferring the property were initially discovered in Finland by Börje Sidbäck and others as they were collecting items for their museum. The museum is located in an old schoolhouse in Sidbäck. Gunvor Åbäck Nyholm provided the document, which was then placed in the museum.

Thank you very much för the book and the letter of the 28th of February 1996! I have got interesting facts from your book.

Now I have some very good news for you, I'm sorry, I could not present them for you, when you were here last summer. I have found your grandfather ~~and~~ and grandmother, Johan(nes) Emanuelsson Sidbäck-Stoor's and Johanna Mariasdotter Stoor's house or the place for the house just in Sidbäck, because we have got some old papers about the selling of their part of "Stoor hemman", when they left to America.

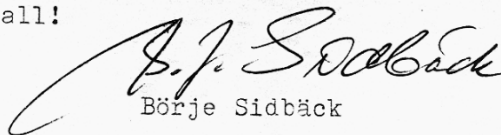

This Johanna Majas- or Mariasdotter Stoor was married to Johannes Emanuelsson Sidbäck, but when he moved over to her he took her aftername Stoor. As you know Johan or Johannes was borned ~~in~~ 1863 and Johanna 1862. Her mother was Maja Greta Johansdotter Stoor, born 1822 and dead 1884. The name "Majasdotter" ~~was~~ was from her mother, you know.

Now I am sending you a copy of the paper where and when Johanna Marias- ~~was~~ or Majasdotter was selling their part of Stoor hemman. Her husband Johan Emanuelson was probably already in America in 1893, so he had given a "fullmakt" (authority) to the wife for selling the land part for 2.700 marks to Karl Gabrielsson Stoor and his wife. This Karl, perhaps a brother to Johanna, was living in Sidbäck as a farmer ~~and~~ and smith, called "Karl's smedin"). He was also to America for ~~some~~ some years.

The house where they lived was in "Lillmossen" in Sidbäck, but is not there any more. But near that place is living a daughter son ~~daughter~~ daughter to this Karl Stoor (Södervall-Åbäck). Her name is now Gunvor Nyholm, and I have just called her to tell her about you. Her sister is living in Rangsby in Närpes. Gunvor and Erland Nyholm have two boys, Kjell and Ulf.

The number of their house in the book about Sidbäck is 48, if you can find it among the pictures of the houses in Sidbäck. The place is on number 12-Stoor in the south part of Sidbäck, look at the map! We were near the place when we were in Stoor ("Nystu") in Sidbäck last summer, you know! We hope you can come again and meet the people there!

With best regards to you all!

Börje Sidbäck

Letter from Börje Sidbäck. There is no evidence that Johanna had any brothers or sisters and the document from the church indicates that she was an only child. It also shows that Johanna Majasdotter married Johannes Emanuelsson Sidbäck and when they married. Johannes took his wife Johanna's last name Stoor. That is how we got the name Stoor.

Stoor Travel to America

The researching of the Stoor family traveling to America was pursued in every way possible. We looked in the films in the Family History Library in Salt Lake City, Utah, owned by The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. We paid for the rental of other films to be sent from Salt Lake City to our local library in Provo. We wrote letters and searched the Internet. The people who ran the archives and museums in Finland, Sweden and in Utah have been most helpful and free with their time. They helped us find more roots and to put the history into proper perspective.

The passport application for John Stoor Sr., dated March 1891, was found. He indicated that he was going to America and that his wife and three sons would follow him.

Elisabeth Uschanov, the Emigrant Register Specialist at the Institute of Migration, in Turku, Finland sent an email message about John Stoor Sr.'s records. Elisabeth indicated that she had found Johan Stor [this is John Stoor Sr.], age 28 years, who had traveled from Gothenburg, (Göteborg) Sweden to Hull, England. She had been searching some computer files of which we had no access. John Stoor Sr. indicated that his destination was Soda Spring(s), Idaho. The File number was 44:357:7782.

We corresponded with and visited the people at the Swedish House of Emigrants in Växjö, Sweden. The Swedish House of Emigrants had been compiling records and putting them in computer files. They did, indeed, know that John Stoor Sr. had sailed from Gothenburg (Göteborg, Sweden) to Hull, England on March 31, 1891, on a ship called Rollo. From there he continued his migration, like most emigrants, from Liverpool to the United States.

People migrating traveled on whatever ship line was available and within their price range. The Wilson Line provided transportation for many of the Finns. The following paragraph describes such a journey:

From 1850 English Wilson Line sailed passengers, cattle and goods from Göteborg, Sweden to Hull, England. From the mid-1860's the Wilson Line sailed every Friday evening right after the arrival of the passenger train from Stockholm. Most of the 19th century, emigrants sailed from Sweden on the Wilson Line. The voyage took two days and nights and was considered difficult since the ships were overcrowded and easily rolled in the stormy North Sea. The largest of the Wilson Line boats were the Rollo and Orlando, measured about 1,500 gross tons and could take 800 to 900 passengers. In 1915 the Wilson Line began to travel from Goteborg to New York, rather than just to Hull. [Of course our relatives came prior to that change.]

Source: Posters in the Institute of Migration in Växjö, Sweden

We know that John Stoor Sr. went through Gothenburg, (Göteborg), Sweden. Many other Finnish people used Malmo and Stockholm and still others went through Norway, Denmark or Germany. We do not know the route that John Stoor Sr. took from Finland to Sweden. We do not know the route for Johanna Stoor, but we do for his second wife, Marie Vinberg. Her route will be given later in the next chapter. At this point (year, 2000) we have not found when or how either John Stoor Sr. or Johanna traveled from England to America.

The reunion of John Stoor Sr. and his wife, Johanna (after being apart for about two years) must have been sweet and happy. John Stoor Sr.'s three little boys, John, Gus, and Matt must have grown so much during the two years they were apart. Johanna and John were then blessed with three more children: Roy, born October 11, 1894 in Henry, Idaho, Emil, born February 17, 1896 in Henry, Idaho, and Hilda Irene, born June 8, 1900 in Henry, Idaho.

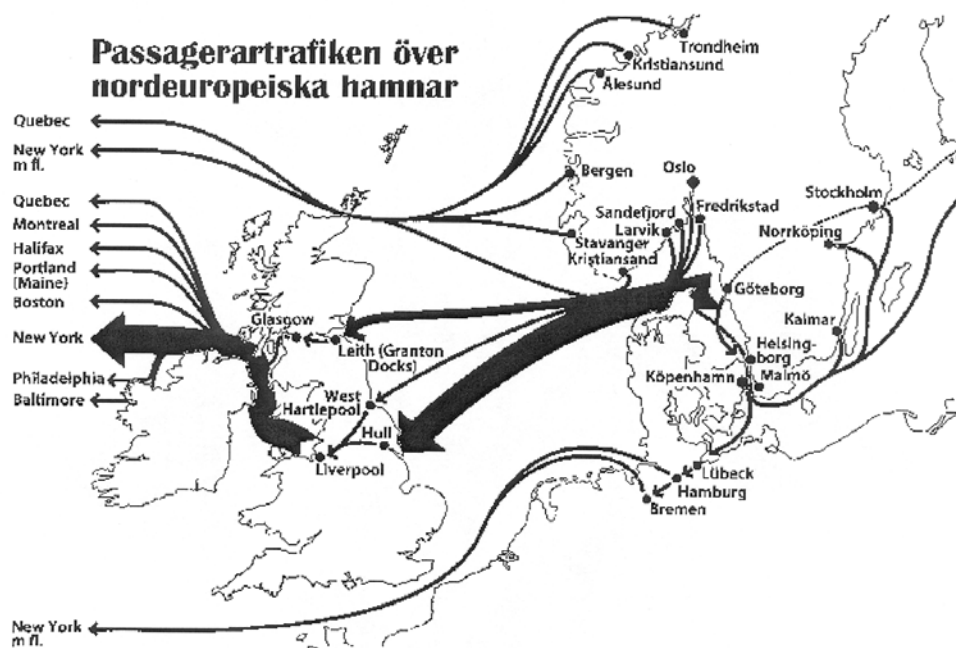

Generally they could not bring very much with them on their voyage

Leaving the Old Country

Johanna Gästgivars Stoor died on October 4, 1900 in Soda Springs, Idaho, when her youngest baby, Hilda, was less than four months old. Johanna was only 38 years old. According to some accounts, she died of typhoid fever and pneumonia. John Stoor Sr. must have been very sad to see his beautiful wife Johanna pass away after only being in Idaho for seven short years. Johanna Stoor was buried in Soda Springs, Idaho.

Arriving in New York City, USA. It must have been an emotional time for the immigrants as they saw the Statue of Liberty in New York Harbor. From there the new immigrants traveled to their final destination.

Before John Stoor Sr. married, his name was Johannes Emanuelson Sidbäck. When he married Johanna Majasdotter Gästgivars in Pörtom, Vaasa, Finland, he moved into the Stoor family farm complex in Sidbäck. Johanna had already taken the farm name of Stoor, and as was common in that time and place, he took the last name of Stoor too.

John and Johanna lived there, had five children, farmed and got by the best way they could. At some point they made the decision that they would go to America. They must have had some contact with people from the Pörtom area who had already gone to America - and probably to the area of Soda Springs. On the passport application, he indicated that he was going to Soda Spring[s], Idaho. Some of those who left Finland indicated that they were going to America and for some the decision as to where to go, once they got there, was not made until they arrived in America. At that point in time, they were met with offers to go one place or another where there were good jobs or opportunities.

John Stoor Sr. knew that he was going to Soda Springs, Idaho. Think of the difficulty of leaving his wife and three children, probably not knowing just how long he would be without them, or even if they would ever see each other again. Certainly their hopes for that reunion were high, but with the uncertainty of traveling, was not a sure thing.

One also has to think of the situation for his wife, Johanna. She was left to provide for her three children, without her husband. She had helped bury two little girls, and took care of her mother, who was deaf. Two years after the departure of her husband John Stoor Sr, Johanna had to prepare for her own journey. She had to assemble the belongings for herself and her three children, and pack them for the journey. She had to sell their home and farm and begin the journey without being able to read or write. She had to leave her mother alone, knowing that she would probably never see her again, and indeed, did not. Johanna's mother probably could not write either. Her mother lived another twenty-five years without her only child and the grandchildren.

No doubt the journey was difficult and uncertain, but that may have made the reunion all the sweeter. John and Johanna carved out their living on homesteaded land, where they would live together for such a short time, until her death.

John Stoor Sr. quickly moved into citizenship in the United States. He was a leader, not only in his family, but also in the community. He was known as "Honest John." His word was good and people trusted him. He served on the school board, the county commission, and was progressive in his vision for Caribou County. He farmed, had a ranch, raised sheep and stock cattle, and later, owned a grocery store.

Pray in your families unto the Father, always in my name, that your wives and your children may be blessed.

Let those who follow and repopulate the land be able to say...
Our grandparents did their job well.
This land is as good and in some cases better than before.

Only if they can say this will we be worthy of the rich heritage of our land and its resources.

Proclamation of John Stoor Day in Soda Springs, Idaho on July 13, 1995.

“Great ideals and principles do not live from generation to generation just because they are right, not even because they have been carefully legislated. Ideals and principles continue from generation to generation only when they are stamped on the hearts of children as they grow up.”

John Stoor Sr. and Marie Vinberg Isaksson

Marie Vinberg, the second wife of John Stoor Sr., is sometimes written Marie and sometimes Maria. She was born May 3, 1866 in Pörtom, Vaasa, Finland, the daughter of Isak Jakobsson Vinberg and Margreta Andersson Soderman. She was the oldest of eight children.

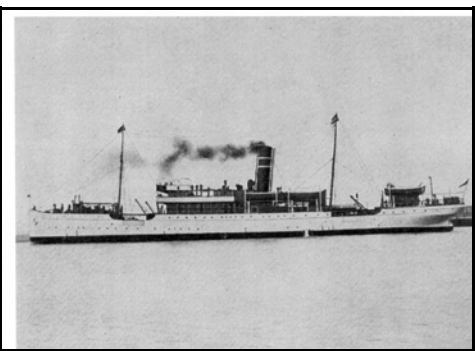

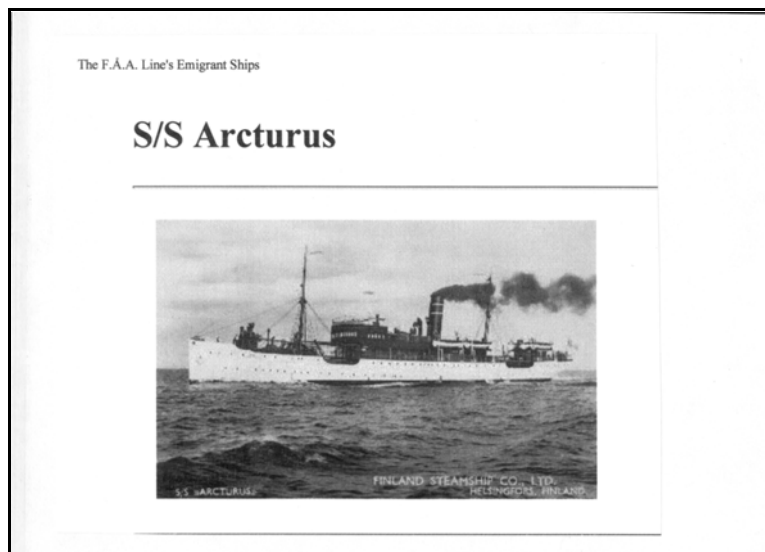

John Stoor Sr. and Marie Vinberg Stoor

At age 33 years, Marie applied for a passport (number 3144) on September 13, 1899. The passport application indicates that she was going to Soda Springs, Idaho. Marie undoubtedly knew other Finnish people already in Idaho. She departed Finland from the port of Vaasa, on the ship, S/S Arcturus on September 16, 1899. Her ticket cost 387 Finnish marks. The common route would have taken her to Hull, England where she would cross to Liverpool by train. At Liverpool, England she would have boarded a boat to the United States of America.

Another view of Arcturus ship

Arcturus: Ship that took Marie Vinberg from Finland to England*

The S/S Arcturus was a 291- foot passenger steamer which began service from Finland to Copenhagen, Denmark and then to Hull, on the east coast of England. The ship continued in service through Finland's war in 1918, through the Second World War and was finally scrapped in 1957.

The information about passengers found at the Institute of Migration in Turku, Finland does not indicate the name of the ship Marie took from Liverpool to America, but the Ocean Line is listed as the Allan Line. She most likely left for America within a few days after arriving in Liverpool.

After arriving in America in 1899, Marie probably would have gone by train to Idaho. About one year after her arrival, she was hired by John Stoor Sr. to help with his young family following the death of his first wife, Johanna in October 1900. Perhaps Marie and John knew each other from their shared hometown of Pörtom. He was a little more than three years older than Marie. Several months later on June 5, 1901 they were married in Pocatello, Idaho. John's oldest son, John, was seventeen years old and his youngest child, Hilda, was one year old. Marie and John had five children: Anna, born July 17, 1902, Elsie, born July 26, 1903, Edla Matilda, born November 19, 1905, Lillian, born October 11, 1907 and Vern, born July 2, 1909. Marie was a good wife to John Stoor Sr. and mother to his first six living children and then to her own five children. They were married for seventeen years. She must have been a wonderful woman.

John Stoor Sr. was very interested in community affairs. Source: The Soda Springs Chieftain, Thursday, February 12, 1925.

Marie always supported her husband's activity in civic events. The interest of John Stoor Sr. in the civic life of his community is very evident. He helped obtain the hospital and was also concerned about education in the community and for his own children. His ability with the language and writing is also evidence of his desire to learn and serve. The letter that he wrote to the newspaper is an indication that he was also willing and able to defend his actions.

John Stoor Sr. and Marie had to move their home, when moving was not convenient, nor easy. Their home burned and they had to house their family in a shed with dirt floors and in tents. Adversity was not uncommon to them, but they triumphed over it. They saw that their children were educated, and in his will, John Stoor Sr. provided for the education of his two youngest children who were still single at his death. They have a large posterity, with descendants living in many different places in the United States. Their family is proud of them and I am sure that they are proud of us.

TAXATION WITHOUT REPRESENTATION DOESN'T APPLY IN CARIBOU COUNTY

Taxation Without Representation" as an article in Mr. Kelley's paper says in the issue of March 18th, compels me to say: I don't agree with him. The residents in the Northeastern part of the County have been represented as much as any part of the County as far as I know—and they have as much voice as any other section of the County. As far as Commissioners living in the City the larger part of the year (as the article says) is not true. I have been staying in Soda Springs for the last seven years from three to four months of the year, in the winter, on account of school. I have a bunch of kids going to school without a mother; so you know the reason why. As far as having property in the city, that should not hurt the County any, and I have never favored the city any more than the County in any line I know of. If anyone knows of an instance—just tell me. We may have made some mistakes, but we have not been weak in intellect, or knowledge, or fairness. All of the County Officers are going to run next fall for re-election—but the outcome is not for one man to decide.

John Stoor, Sr.

The above article calls for comment on the part of the publisher of The Chieftain.

Mr. Stoor states that "the residents of the Northeastern part of the county have been represented as much as any part of the county, as far as I know—they have as much quires a wholly different view point. Our article stated that the gentlemen representing Wayan and Henry were duly elected from their districts and as electors qualified to hold office. As to the amount of time they spend in Soda Springs, we are willing to let that matter ride. However, we will add that the bills filed by the gentlemen for mileage from their districts to the county seat to attend commissioners meetings will speak for themselves.

Personally, the writer is glad to have the gentlemen in Soda Springs. We are glad they own property in the city.

Our article never intimated that the present board of County Commissioners favored Soda Springs in any of their actions, nor have we accused them of being weak in intellect, or knowledge, or fairness.

The article herewith reproduced from our issue of March 18, that Mr. Stoor comments on is being printed again at this time and we ask our readers to pass on same.

TAXATION WITHOUT REPRESENTATION

We believe the time is opportune to advocate the re-districting of Caribou County as pertaining to commissioners districts.

Those residents of Caribou County living in the extreme northeastern part of the county are entitled to representation on the county board of Commissioners. As the lines run now there does not seem to be a possibility of electing a commissioner from that section.

The people of that section are disgusted in the fact that they have no voice in county

VOLUME XXVII—NUMBER

COUNTY OFFICER CALLED BY DEATH

This community as well as the whole of Caribou County was shocked Monday when the word was passed out that John Stoor, Sr. had been called by death.

Mr. Stoor was one of the leading men of Caribou County, always interested in the welfare of those about him. Being as he was of foreign birth he had adopted the spirit of Americans. He came directly from the land of his birth and settled in what is now Caribou County. At the time of his death he was engaged in farming and stock raising at Wayan, Idaho.

Mr. Stoor served with credit on the school board in his district for a number of years, and was elected at the last election to represent his district on the Board of County Commissioners. While in that office he lived up to the letter of his pre-election promises—ECONOMY to the best interest of the county as a whole.

In the passing of Mr. Stoor, Sr. the county has lost one of its best citizens—Honest John, as he was familiarly known.

The deceased had long been a sufferer of appendicitis, but to the last attack, he had won off the disease. The last attack proved much more serious, and before medical aid could be had the case was beyond hope.

He was rushed to this city, and everything possible was done to save his life, but in vain.

John Stoor Sr. was born in Finland in the year 1863. In 1883 he was married to Johanna Rituss, and this couple came to the United States in 1891, coming to Henry, Idaho, where he was engaged in business for himself. To this union were born six children, namely: John, Matt, Emil, of Soda Springs; Mrs. Parley Kunz, of Peller; and August of Santa Barbara, California and Roy of City, Utah. Mrs. Johanna Stoor passed away in 1900, and a later Mr. Stoor was wedded to Lillian Vinburg, and from this union were born: Anna, Elsie, Edna, Lillian. The youngest of these, Lillian, died in 1918.

The funeral was held Thursday from the L. D. S. Church, and interment made in Soda Springs cemetery.

The floral offerings were numerous and beautiful.

*John Stoor Sr's probate notice in Soda Springs
Chieftain June 3, 1926*

When a person dies it is interesting what others say about the person - if anything. This article reminds us that John Stoor Sr. came from a foreign country and did what he had to in order to "fit in."

Not only did he "fit in" but he became a contributor in the new county. He lifted those around him and left a family who, in turn, made their contributions in the communities in which they lived.

Tombstone in the Soda Springs, Idaho cemetery for John Stoor Sr., Johanna Stoor, his first wife and Marie Stoor, his second wife. Note that Marie Vinberg is called Mary W. here. This shows her birthdate as 1872, but other records show her birth date as May 3, 1866.

At his death in 1926, John Stoor, Sr. left the home place to his son, Emil. The other children shared in the rest of the estate. Each of them got 1/11th of the personal property, which consisted of:

One buggy	one complete sheep camp and outfit
One Jordan automobile	three bob sleighs
One hay rack	black smithing outfit
Five sets of harness	thirteen head old horses
ten cows	one yearling bull
Five calves	three sows
eleven small pigs	seventy-five small pigs
seventy-five chickens	four turkeys
Three mowers	two hay rakes
Two sweep rakes	one over-shot stacker
two plows	one disk harrow
one spring tooth harrow	one twelve-horse drill
one McCormick binder	one three-section harrow
two farm wagons	one buckboard
one thousand fifty sheep of mixed ages and six hundred sixty-five lambs

(Information from Darlene Stoor Davis)

Fifteen hundred dollars were deducted from Matt's share to replace the sum he had previously borrowed from his father. That amount was equally divided among the other children.

His insurance policy, amounting to $2,297.52 was set aside as a fund for the education of Lillian (age 18 years) and Vern (age 17 years.) Emil Stoor was the guardian and administrator for the sole support of their education.

The photograph below was one in the possession of Hilda Stoor Kunz. It should be noted that she has written on the top of the Photo, "My Mother." This indicates that Hilda thought of Marie Stoor as her own mother. Hilda was only four months old when her mother, Johanna, died, and Marie raised her. The caption also reinforces the idea that Hilda and her step-mother did bond with one another.

Marie Vinberg Stoor died on November 24, 1918. Again, that left John as a widower for another seven years until he died.

The eleven living children of John Stoor Sr. loved each other. They looked forward to visits from each other and from their spouses. They did not differentiate themselves on the basis of who was their mother, after the death of the first wife, Johanna and the marriage to Marie. They enjoyed family reunions and other visits. Memorial Day was a time to remember those who had already died. The visits at the cemetery in Soda Springs, Idaho were happy occasions. Good memories were shared of those who had passed on and also good times remembered for those who remained.

Histories of these eleven children and their spouses are included in the following chapters. There is some variation in the length of the histories. There may also be some variation in how events or situations were remembered, but that gives life to their lives. The history of one gives some insight into the history of another. They shared many experiences, but had different ones as well. The various perspectives will help us reinforce what is significant and portray the puzzle in a more complete manner. Now that all of the children of John Stoor Sr. and his two wives, Johanna and Marie have died, we can only piece together what really happened from the entire collection of histories. It is hoped that the future will yield more documents, stories and other sources that will bring more life to those early years of the Stoor history.

Chapter 5

Idaho: Henry, Wayan and Soda Springs

It was fortuitous that John Stoor Sr. came to Idaho. In Idaho, he was able to find work, to homestead, to make a new home and to launch what was to become a large and wonderful posterity. Idaho is loved by the family even though family members have now spread into many other states and other countries. The state of Idaho was and is good to the Stoor Family, and the Stoor family has been proud to have roots in Idaho.

Here We Have Idaho

Its beautiful valleys and hills.
The majestic forests where nature abounds,
We love every nook and rill

Chorus:

And here we have Idaho,
Winning her way to fame.
Silver and gold in the sunlight blaze,
And romance lies in her name.

Singing, we're singing of you,
Ah, proudly too. All our lives thru,
We'll go singing, singing of you,
Singing of Idaho.

There's truly one state in this great land of ours,
Where ideals can be realized.
The pioneers made it so for you and me,
A legacy we'll always prize.

State of Idaho

Henry, Idaho

When John Stoor Sr. left Finland in 1891, his passport indicated that his destination was Soda Springs, Idaho. Upon arriving there, he went to work for John Henry Schmidt on his ranch. He spoke highly of Mr. Schmidt throughout his life. He then homesteaded land in Henry, Idaho, and built a home there. Henry, Soda Springs and Wayan became significant areas for John Stoor Sr. and his wife, Johanna. Henry was also important for Marie as they began to raise their family there.

Southeastern Idaho

Henry, just twenty miles North of Soda Springs, Idaho was founded about 1884 by John Henry Schmidt who constructed a three-room, log cabin which served as living quarters and housed a one room store which is still standing in 2000.

The store is not far from where John Stoor Sr. and Johanna built their home. Their home was eventually moved to make way for the water which would be backed up to make the Blackfoot Reservoir.

Phillip Kunz pointing to brow of hill in Henry, Idaho, across the road West from the Henry Store, where John Stoor Sr. and Johanna Stoor had there home before they moved it to Wayan

John Henry Schmidt was a merchant, rancher, and postmaster. He was born in Germany on June 3, 1858. He immigrated to Soda Springs in 1882 and worked for a couple of years for John Feeney in the Caribou mines. Later on, he was in the brewing business with August Largilliere. Mr. Largilliere was later associated with the Largilliere Bank, which early members of the family knew well. John Henry Schmidt homesteaded 160 acres North and West of Soda Springs, which was later sold to his brother.

This John Henry Schmidt is the same man that employed John Stoor Sr. when he came to Soda Springs in 1891. John Stoor Sr.'s appreciation for John Henry Schmidt was immense. His daughter, Hilda, always talked about how her father loved Mr. Schmidt for his kindness when he first came to America.

Thomas J. Chester wrote a history of Henry, Idaho. Although he is not part of the Stoor family, per se, the history is included here to help us understand the place where the Stoor family lived when they settled in America. The history was typed on a two-sided page with double columns for distribution, and is entitled, "Early History of Henry." At this writing, it is still available to interested people who go to the Henry Store. I was given permission to include his work as part of this book. It is quoted at length because it accords a feeling of what life would have been like at the time that our grandparents lived there. Mr. Chester writes in the Early History of Henry:

The building and property were later purchased jointly by Wm. H. Chester, his son, Will Chester and Frank Merrill in 1891. A larger frame building covered with tin siding, was built on the present store site in 1892. This original building was destroyed by fire in 1906 and subsequently the property was purchased by Wm. H. Chester and his two sons, Walter James Chester and Colin Chester, who constructed the present building in 1908. They operated the store as a partnership for some forty years. Jim Chester purchased Colin's interest in 1928 and continued to operate the store until his death in 1974.

Tom Chester inherited the property and continued running the store. This is believed to be the oldest store in Idaho continuously operated by the same family. Henry served as a center for the ranches of the area and range cattle and sheep operators. Jim and Colin Chester added a saloon, blacksmith shop and restaurant.

For many years the freight and supplies were hauled by team and wagons from the Soda Springs railroad depot to Henry over roads which were unimproved, with no gravel or surfacing of any kind.

A one room school house (still standing) on the North edge of town was constructed, where all eight grades were taught. About fifteen children attended the school including Mrs. Chester's daughter, Marjorie Chester Quine of Pocatello and a son, Tom Chester, present owner of the store. Children from the Daniels, and Reese families came to school in sleighs or horseback, some eight miles from Enoch Valley. A school teacher by the name of Mrs. Dewitt was the first teacher.

Mrs. Lorin Marriott, from Soda Springs, was the teacher for two years. Mrs. Virginia Chester, wife of Jim Chester, taught the eight grades for some seventeen years. She was a graduate of Albion State Normal School.

The winters were severe, causing travel to be done by team and sleigh. Cars were jacked up on blocks for the winter months (November to May). Prestone antifreeze was unheard of: No snow plows, only dirt roads, and most winters the snow was two to three feet deep. Despite these difficulties, the mail was delivered five days a week by team and sleigh, consisting of one bob, covered with canvas, with a small coal stove for warmth. The mail contract was held for many years by Al Deaton of Soda Springs. During the winter months, he would drive mail teams from Soda to Henry and would meet the other mail sleigh from Grays Lake, driven by Heber Skinner. Fresh teams were kept at Henry to make the return trip. [The teams] were housed and fed by Jim Chester for many years.

The Wm. Winshell family settled across the road from the Chester Store and constructed their own store, saloon, restaurant and feed yard. A large sheep shearing corral, operated by George Allbright, was built one mile south of Henry which operated about sixty days each year as large range flocks were driven to the corral to be shorn. Howard Chester, son of Colin, and Diggs Lewis Sr. tromped wool, while Tom Chester tied fleeces and wrangled sheep into the pens. All this hard work produced four hundred pound wool bags which had to be hauled by team and wagon to Soda Springs. During these early times there were no “Eighteen Wheeler” trucks to haul the heavy wool bags or transport the sheep. Even the small, and fragile range lambs from the Caribou forest were all trailed from the forest through Henry to Soda Springs.

Gas lamps and coal oil lanterns were the only lighting available for some thirty years until electric lights were installed consisting of a 32-volt, gas powered, Delco generators.

A notorious woman cowgirl and horse trader with the nickname “Six-Shooter-Sal” lived six miles North of Henry, near Chubb Springs.¹

Henry boasted of having one of the first great rodeos in the West. It bore the name of “Henry Stampede and Stockmen’s Reunion” and was widely known throughout Idaho and Wyoming. The rodeo grounds were located one and one-half miles West of Henry, on the shore of the Blackfoot Reservoir. Some of the local men who organized the rodeo were James Chester, Henry; Walter Hogan, Chubb Flat; Sen Reynolds, Government Dam; Tom Larkin, Meadow Creek; Ray Christensen, Goose Creek; Ras Hansen, Henry; Willard Bitton, Grace; Slim Wager, Tyhee; Everett Colburn, Springfield, and Claude Going of Blackfoot. The bucking horses for the rodeo were trailed all the way from Jackson Hole to Henry. Dances were held on a large canvas spread out on the ground.

A popular attraction at the rodeo was an exhibition of precision sharp shooting performed by a Mr. Gus Perot, who traveled the West for Peters Ammunition. One example of his shooting expertise involved shooting an outline of “Buffalo Bill” and an Indian Head on sheets of tin 28" X 36". One of these “originals” has been on display in Chester’s Country Store for many years.

A local cowboy from American Falls started clowning in front of the grandstand at the Henry stampede and used a Shetland Pony belonging to Tom Chester for his act. His name was Homer Holcomb, who later became famous as the World Champion Cowboy Clown and performed in Madison Square Garden and Paris, France.

Two other local men, Harry Hart of Pocatello, a “Bull-dogger” and Everett Colburn of Springfield, participated in the Henry Stampede and went on to gain national recognition. Both performed in Madison Square Garden and Paris. Everett Colburn accumulated a large string of bucking horses and Brahma Bulls, and was later hired by Roy Rogers to direct the first National Roy Rogers Rodeo.

During the years of 1907 - 1909, the bureau of Indian Affairs decided to build a dam to impound the water of the Blackfoot river. The dam was constructed on earth and rock and was located some eighteen-Miles West of Henry. There were many ranches along the river that were forced to sell out to make was for the reservoir. One of these individuals was Will Chester, the oldest son of Wm. Chester, who had “homesteaded” meadow land along the river. This reservoir was to furnish water for irrigation for the Fort Hall Indian reservation and privately owned land on Tyhee flat, near Pocatello.

¹Phillip Kunz wrote, “I have heard my mother, Hilda, speak of Six-Shooter-Sal from time to time in conversations about the early part of her life in Henry. Six-Shooter-Sal was serving time in the local jail during prohibition and on the door of her cell was painted: “Omit Moon Shine if you want to be out in the Sun Shine.””

During the years of the “Great Depression,” 1930-1936, money was very scarce and there were no jobs available. Many families survived by trapping the numerous, prolific muskrats on Grays Lake and Goose Lake. However, about 1935 the federal Government engineered a deep canal two miles North East of Chubb Springs (called Clark’s Cut), which drained a large share of the water from Greys Lake into Meadow Creek to the Blackfoot Reservoir. This action virtually destroyed the Muskrat population which eliminated a precious resource of fur bearing animals for the survival of the local populace. An annual chore, during January and February, was to cut large ice blocks on the lake and store them in an ice house, to be used during the summer months. No other refrigeration was available.² Card games, such as Pinochle, Solo and Cribbage served as the evening entertainment until replaced by battery operated radios in the late thirties.

Two men robbed a bank in Idaho Falls about 1932. They tried to escape by coming through Grays Lake and Henry. They took a wrong road near Trail Creek and were captured by the Caribou County Sheriff. Gold was discovered in the early 1870's on Caribou Mountain. It was estimated that approximately two million dollars in gold were harvested. Legend has it that a shipment of gold from Caribou was ambushed three miles North of Henry, near the Goose Lake Ranch at a place called “Robbers Roost.”

Caribou County was originally a part of Bannock County. Wm. Chester served as one of the three commissioners. In 1919 Caribou County was created out of Bannock County and Jim Chester was appointed as on of the first three commissioners in the new county. His picture is displayed in the foyer of the Caribou County Court House in Soda Springs, Idaho.

²This same practice happened in Bear Lake County where water was moved in canals from Bear River into the Stockyards. After it froze in the winter, the ice was cut into blocks and stored to be used by the Pacific Fruit Express on the railroad. This continued well into the middle of the 20th Century.

HENRY — Weather-beaten and surrounded by sparse clumps of grass, Chester's Country Store in Henry, 17 miles north of Soda Springs, remains a staple part of life in Henry.

The store celebrated its 100th anniversary recently.

"I believe it is the oldest store in Idaho continuously operated by the same family," said present owner, Tom Chester, of Pocatello.

A hundred years ago, Henry was a thriving little town with a post office, a school, stores, hotels, a blacksmith shop and several other businesses. The town helped support ranches of the area, the gold mining industry on Cariboo Mountain (now Caribou), and the huge sheep and cattle industry of the area.

At sheep shearing time, a shearing corral was operated by George Allbright one mile south of Henry. For about 60 days each spring, huge range flocks were driven to the corral to be shorn. Even the small range lambs were trailed from Caribou Forest.

"I used to tie fleeces and wrangle sheep into pens, while Howard Chester, son of Colin, and Diggs Lewis Sr., tromped the wool into 100-pound wool bags, which had to be hauled by team and wagon to Soda Springs," said Chester.

During the Henry Stampede and Stockman's Reunion, thousands flocked to the little settlement for a few days of fun and excitement. They brought their families and camped on the cowgirls from throughout the West were attracted to the celebration, as well as politicians. Some people even remember seeing artist Charles Russell there.

"Six-Shooter Sal, a notorious cowgirl and horse trader from six miles north of Henry, often participated and could rope and ride with the best of the men.

Famous people like cowboy Homer Holcomb, and cowboys Harry Hart, Everett Colburn and Bert Sibbett, participated. Colburn accumulated a large string of bucking horses and Brahma bulls, and was later hired by Roy Rogers to direct the first national Roy Rogers Rodeo.

A popular attraction was an exhibit of precision-sharp shooting performed by Gus Perot, who traveled the West for Peters Ammunition. Chester still has the original outlines of "Buffalo Bill and an Indian Head" done by Perot. One of these "originals" has been displayed at Chester's Country Store for many years.

Founder of the settlement, John Henry Schmidt, constructed a three-room log cabin about 1884, which served as living quarters and housed a one-room store, which is still standing. In 1891, the building and property was bought jointly by William H. Chester and his son, Will, and Frank Merrill.

A larger frame building covered with tin siding, was built on the present store site in 1892. Destroyed by fire in 1906, Chester and his two sons — Walter James "Jim" and Colin — bought Will Chester and Merrill's shares.

nership for some 40 years before Jim bought Colin's interest in 1928. Present owner, Tom Chester, inherited the store when his father, Jim, died in 1974.

For years, freight and supplies were hauled by team and wagon from the Soda Springs railroad depot to Henry, over unimproved roads without gravel or any surfacing.

All eight grades were taught in a one-room schoolhouse, still standing on the north edge of town. Here Chester, Marjorie Chester Quine, of Pocatello, and children from the Daniels and Reese families in Enoch Valley came by sleighs or horseback to get an education.

The William Winschell family settled across the road from the Chester Store and built their own store, saloon, restaurant and feed yard.

Winters were severe, with several feet of snow. Cars were jacked up on blocks, until spring sunshine dried out the road. Mail was delivered five days a week by a one-bobsleigh covered with canvas. It contained a small coal stove for warmth.

Times have changed in Henry. The Winschell store burned down, and residents moved out. The Blackfoot Reservoir Dam covered the area where the Henry Stampede was held.

was moved to Soda Springs, and finally discontinued in the 1950s.

Tiny Christensen, who ran Chester's Store for 24 years, retired this year, and Beth Beus is now running the store. But the old store building still gives on Wayan was settled in the late 1800's by a half-dozen families from Finland. Among them were the Abe Soderman family, the Oberg family, and the Isaac Vias family. Some of the family members still live in the area. Other early settlers in Wayan were Otto Petersen, John Stoor Sr. family, Sam Sibbett Sr., Ed Lewis, Albert Raymond, George Lincoln and William W. Call. Wayan is the northernmost settlement in Caribou Country, Idaho.

Wayan

When the Caribou area was made a county in 1919, the boundary line between Caribou and Bonneville counties passed between Gray and Wayan, leaving Gray north of the line in Bonneville County. Although Gray is not technically a part of Caribou County, its development is closely linked with Caribou's history.

East and south of Wayan is Williamsburg where the G. W. Somsen, Aaron Hansen and Joe Wood families settled. Chub Springs to the west of Wayan, consisted of only one family, that of W. H. Larkin.

According to legend or popular belief, the first white man to view Gray's Lake and the outlet to the north was a trapper named John Day. Thus the lake was first called "John Day's Lake," and the outlet was called "John Day River." The settlement, too, was called "John Day". It was not until the post office was established, April 10, 1888, that the name "Gray" was used, and perhaps that came about through an error in penmanship. "John Day" was the preferred name when Albert A. Dewey applied to the government for postal service, however, the approval came back with the name "Gray's" not "Days," and the "John" had been dropped. On March 23, 1892, the name was officially changed from "Gray's" to "Gray."

Vestige of Dairy Era Will Soon Disappear

By ELLEN CARNEY
Journal Correspondent

WAYAN — The old Weaver barn in Wayan, a landmark symbolizing a bygone era, is about to disappear. Its sagging beams and collapsing roof have become a possible fire hazard and dangerous for children playing in the area.

Built by Bud Weaver in the fall of 1936, the old barn was 80 feet long, 40 feet wide and could hold more than 50 milk cows, as well as some calf pens.

From the '30s to the '50s, the economy in the Grays Lake Valley was based on dairy cattle, sheep and hay. Every farm had at least one cow, but when a Swiss cheesemaker, John Hirschbrunner, moved into the valley and started a cheese factory, most families bought dairy cattle. They milked their cows by hand until the '50s, when many people bought milking machines to make their job easier.

It wasn't the first time the dairy industry had been important to the area. About 1887, Dave Kunz and his brother Sam settled about five miles east and two miles south of Wayan and operated what became known as the lower dairy.

In 1891, John Kunz Jr. was operating the lower dairy, Bishop Kunz operated the upper dairy, and William J. Kunz ran the middle dairy.

These dairies manufactured and marketed cheese, which was renowned for its excellence for some 30 years.

The Kunz families spent the winters in Bern, Idaho, but a number of settlers began homestead in the vicinity of the dairies in the early 1900s. Most of them stayed in the vicinity of Lane's Creek during the winters. There was a school at Williamsburg for the children.

The Kunz families were large, but when the children were too small to do the milking, they hired milkmaids to milk the 100-150 cows by hand at each dairy.

The Kunz families owned some cows, but others were gathered from St. Charles, Bloomington, Garden City, Ovid and Bern. They drove them to the dairies in the spring, then paid the owners of the cows in cheese for their use. Making cheese on a share basis for use of the cows seemed to work well for the Kunz families.

It took three days to trail the cattle to their summer dairy location, and with them came wagons loaded with cooking and camping equipment and items needed for the summer. Two wagons hauled pigs in the wagon box and chickens on top.

In the summer, there were fun country parties and all-night dances at the dairies. Most families from nearby settlements attended them. Holidays were celebrated with brass bands, programs and refreshments.

THE WEAVER BARN reminds Grays Lake Valley residents of how important dairy farming once was to the local economy.

One winter was harsh for the dairymen. Jacob Hirschi tells in his family history how he and another man were hired by the Kunz brothers to feed their dry cattle near Wayan. He said at one time the snow became so deep they could not use the horses and sleighs to feed for many days and had to pile hay on an old, dried cowhide with ropes attached. Wearing snowshoes, they pulled the hay to the cattle. This and cutting water holes open with an ax took most of the day. He reported for many days the temperature stayed at 40 degrees below zero. When they ran out of supplies, he had to snowshoe to Soda Springs and return carrying food on his back. Today only a few buildings are left at the dairies on Lane's Creek and homesteads on Williamsburg. The Grays Lake Cheese Factory became a country store for a number of years before being closed completely. Today, few families in the Grays Lake area even own a milk cow for their own use, and the old barns, a symbol of this early industry, are disappearing from the area.

Soda Springs, Idaho was an important town for the Stoor family. Many family members have lived there and many still do. Zions Cooperative Mercantile Institution, or ZCMI, had a store in Soda Springs, Idaho. Views of this store are shown from the front and side of the building. The building was constructed in the 1870's. It is located on what is now known as Hopper Avenue. After ZCMI, it was Horsley's General Merchandise. John Stoor Sr. purchased it in 1918. He called it, "Stoor's Grocery. The business was operated by the Stoor family almost continuously after that time until 1974. After John Stoor Sr. died, his sons John and Gus, operated it. Finally, the youngest son, Vern Stoor, managed it in 1930. In 1941, Vern bought the store and retired from the grocery business in 1974.

The Abe Soderman family came from Pörtom, Vaasa, Finland. They are probably related to Marie Vinberg Stoor, second wife of John Stoor Sr. They were always good friends of the Stoor family as they lived in Wayan and in Soda Springs. They are included here because of these connections.

John and Mary Jane Call Stoor

John Stoor was born September 9, 1885 in Pörtom, Vaasa, Finland. He was the eldest son of John Stoor Sr. and Johanna Gästgivars, and undoubtedly brought great joy to his parents.

John was six years of age when his father left Finland for America. He must have been sad to see his father leave him. He remained in Finland with his mother, Johanna and two brothers, Karl August (Gus) and Mathias (Matt). His twin sisters, Johanna and Maria, were born when Johannes was three years of age, and they both died within a year. While their deaths must have been of some concern to him, he was so young that he probably forgot most of what happened.

John Stoor, eldest child of John Stoor Sr. and Johanna Stoor

John and Mary Jane Call Stoor

John
came to America

in 1893, when he was eight years old. He came with his mother, Johanna and two brothers, Gus and Matt. Once again the family was all together and had one goal in mind -- that of making their home in this great land.

John grew up in Henry and Wayan, Idaho and attended school there. He married Mary Jane Call May 27, 1909 in Wayan, Idaho when he was twenty-four years old. Mary Jane was the daughter of William Wiley Call and Eliza Melvina Pace. She was born in Bountiful, Utah November 22, 1891.

Mary Jane Call spent her early childhood in Castledale, Utah. She moved to Wayan, Idaho when she was nine years old. The first summer she resided in Wayan, she lived with the Perry Tingey family. She tended their children while her parents were working in Wyoming in the hay fields.

Mary Jane Call attended school in Wayan where she and her sister Mellie, played on the Gray's Lake baseball team. They traveled all over the valley playing other girls teams.

Mary Jane met John Stoor at an early age and soon was swept off her feet. She was married at seventeen. They homesteaded in Wayan. In 1917 they moved to Soda Springs, Idaho, where they built a new home. John went into business with two of his brothers, running a general merchandise store. He was also involved in ranching.

Mary Jane was a person whose husband and family came first. She kept very busy. In fact, she wouldn't get one project finished until she had another one going. She also loved flowers and gardening.

John and Mary Jane had four children. Mable Jane Stoor was born March 14, 1910 and died August 24, 1922, at age twelve, of appendicitis. William Call Stoor was born December 2, 1911 and he died February 17, 1935 at the age of 23 from pneumonia, leaving his wife and a little 4-month old daughter, Lois. Edna Johanna Stoor was born May 27, 1913, and lived for seventy years. James Dale Stoor, the fourth child, was born March 27, 1931. He is still living in Longview, Washington.

John and Mary Jane lived in Soda Springs for a number of years and then in 1942 they moved to Blackfoot, Idaho.¹ A few years later John built a small grocery store on his property located on South Broadway in Blackfoot. Upon his retirement he sold his grocery business to his son James Dale (Jimmie.)

Late in their life, as they lived in Blackfoot, they had a business of selling second hand materials.

¹The author of this book, Phillip R. Kunz, purchased a very long and very wide leather belt from them that had the name of "Rose" on it. A lot of leather was in that belt. It was fifty inches long and five inches wide.

John and Mary Jane Call Stoor

Mary Jane will be remembered by all who knew her as a quiet friendly person with a ready smile and a genuine love for people. She died on April 10, 1975.

John Stoor accomplished a great deal in this life. I am sure that he had to be “grown up” as an eight year old, to help his mother cross the waters from Finland to England, and then the ocean from England to America, followed by the land travel to arrive in Soda Springs, Idaho to be with his father again. He must have been very excited to see his father after the two years apart. He learned the English language, attended school, and worked hard in his life, married his beautiful Mary Jane and they had four children. He died June 9, 1968, at the age of 83.

John Stoor and Mary Jane Call Stoor on their 50th Wedding anniversary May 27, 1959

The death of Call Stoor, 23, has brought the cup of sorrow to the lips of many friends and relatives. Mr. Stoor passed away Sunday morning, February 17th, 1935, at the local hospital, having been ill a week suffering with a third attack of pneumonia.

He was born December , 1911, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Stoor. His was a heart of gold. His was the soul of honor, and his friends and friendship were sacred to him. At the time of death, Call Stoor was employed by the I.E.R.A. of Caribou County. He was also a member of the Modern Woodmen of America lodge.

To the broken-hearted wife, father, mother, sister and brother, who sit in sorrow where his footsteps shall never again find echo, we extend the sympathy of one who loved him as a brother. When they have drained the cup may the peace that passeth all understanding come to them from One who cares for each little sparrow that falls.

The deceased is survived by his widow, Lavon Smart, 4-month old baby daughter, Lois Lavon; father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. John Stoor; sister, Edna Stoor; small brother, Jimmie and many relatives.

TWO KILLED AS STRUCTURE COLLAPES

Three Others Receive Treatment for Injuries Received When Front Of Building Topples Into Street.

C.A. "Gus" Stoor, 62, a long-time resident of Soda Springs, and John Autheman, 63, Caribou county sheepherder, were both dead when removed from the debris in front of the Caribou club when it collapsed about 3:30 P.M. Monday after the south wall of the building slipped into an excavation on the next lot. H. L. Finch, Walter Stiles and Hans Sorensen were injured by falling bricks and timbers. Mr. Stiles and Mr. Sorensen were released from the Caribou hospital after treatment of their injuries but Mr. Finch, who sustained a fractured left knee and minor cuts and bruises is still confined to the hospital where his condition is reported good.

J. Allen Fields, 45, who was tending bar at the time, miraculously escaped injury although he was behind the bar on the side of the structure that collapsed. He said he noticed a popping sound in the floor and then saw the ceiling start to come down. He fell to the floor behind a show case and crawled from the wreckage unhurt. Mr. Fields said Stoor had been in the Club and had just started out the door when the accident occurred and was crushed by falling masonry as the building fell.

Autheman was standing immediately in front of the building, according to witnesses, and was killed by a falling "I" beam.

Only about ten persons were in the Club at the time of its collapse. Had the accident happened a few hours later the casualties would undoubtedly been much higher.

The excavation into which the wall of the building fell was being dug in preparation for the erection of a building for Dick Allred, who leases the Caribou Club from Wallace "Scrub" Woodall. Plans for rebuilding the destroyed building and completion of the new structure are undetermined at this time.

Funeral services for Autheman, a veteran of World War 1, were held here Tuesday afternoon and interment was in the Fairview cemetery, under the direction of the Whitman Funeral Home.

Final rites for Mr. Stoor are being held this afternoon at two o'clock in the Soda Springs ward chapel of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints. Burial will be in the Fairview Cemetery.

Matt and Sarah Lewis Stoor

Mathias (Matt) Sidback Stoor, the son of John Stoor Sr. and Johanna Gästgivars, was born in Pörtom, Vaasa, Finland February 15, 1890. Matt was only three years old when he came to America.

Matt and Sarah Lewis Stoor

Farrell Stoor, a son of Matt and Sarah Stoor, wrote the following history:

When Johannes Stoor (John Stoor Sr.) arrived in America he found work on some cattle ranch at Henry, Idaho. He worked hard both Summer and Winter. In the year of 1893, he brought his family over to America, consisting of his wife Johanna and sons, John, August (Gus) and Mathias (Matt.) With his savings he bought a piece of land in Henry, Idaho. He built a large two story house there. Later the land was sold to the government and he bought a ranch at Wayan, Idaho. He tore down his home and rebuilt it in Wayan. This house burned down, so he built another large one that is still standing. This is the house which Ralph Emil Stoor now owns.

Mother, Sarah Lewis, was born in Bountiful, Utah in 1891 to William Lewis and Elizabeth Sarah Sessions. She married Dad, Mathias (Matt) Stoor, June 5, 1911. [1912?] Mom was 20 and Dad would have been 21. They met while living in Wayan where both their families lived at that time. They moved to Williamsburg where they homesteaded. Lee and Budd were born while living there.

Then they moved to Soda Springs to get work, and Lew, Robert, Wilma and Farrell were born while living there. Then they moved to Wayan and bought a house from Abe Soderman, tore it down and rebuilt it on the ranch in 1928 and 1929. That was the place where Robert and Lew lived till Robert's death in 1990. Dad was a good carpenter and built several buildings there. They raised cattle and a few milk cows, pigs, chickens, turkeys and had a big garden. They had a big family of 10 in all which kept mother pretty busily. Dad did some carpenter work on the side besides running the ranch. He would break horses to drive in the winter time for different people. It always amazed me how he could take a pine pole and ax, a drawing knife and make a tongue for his sleigh and it would look like sawed lumber. Four more children were born to our parents: Betty, Johnnie, Max and Frank (Buster).

Mother, was always busy caring for all us kids. She was a small woman 5' 2" tall. She had dark brown hair and brown eyes. Her nickname was "Bessie." Everyone called her that. She was an excellent cook, someone was always coming around and she would feed them also. She was a very kind, gentle and a hard worker. Everyone liked coming over to our place to play.

They played a lot of cards and visited. At that time a lot of cards were played for entertainment and a lot of coffee was drunk also. Mother died at the young age of 43, August 19, 1934, when Buster (Frank Reed) was born. He should have been born in November, but was much premature. She was buried at Wayan. Aunt Chat came and told Dad that she would take care of Buster, because the doctor said that he would not live. He weighed only 2 pounds and thirteen ounces. His bed was a shoe box. It was a miracle that he lived. We would make our regular visits to see our little brother Buster. His home was with Aunt Chat and Uncle Isaac Vias now. She was a Soderman. We all missed Mother so much. I couldn't understand why Heavenly Father would take her from us. It took us a long time to come to grips with it.

My Dad, Matt Stoor, had blue eyes and light brown hair, probably about 5 feet seven ½ inches. He was a big tease. He was a lot of fun and liked having fun. He was a very talented man. He loved music and could play any instrument that had strings. He used to play his violin and mandolin at all the dances. He also would play for us kids at home. It was really hard on Dad, with the loss of his dear wife. When he was really lonesome, he would play the violin to us kids a lot in the evenings. He hired a Mrs. Anderson to help with us. Dad had his hands full. It was hard time for all of us.

In September 16, 1940, Dad went to Pocatello with Walt Hogan and Glen Green on business. Dad was selling our place to Mr. Green. Mr. Hogan was driving. They were on the way home. We were always told it was a rear end collision and the right of way was his while stopped at a red light. The newspaper clipping says differently. Anyway, Dad was killed, he was riding in the back seat of the car and his neck was broken. It was a terrible time again for us kids. Dad was buried beside his wife at Wayan, Idaho.

MATT STOOR KILLED IN CAR COLLISION

Pocatello, Idaho --- A head-on collision on a sharp curve of U.S. Highway 91, four miles northeast of Pocatello, Sunday morning claimed the life of one man and placed another in the general hospital.

MATT STOOR, 48, a pioneer rancher and stock raiser of the Grays Lake section near Soda Springs died shortly after the accident at 3:25 a.m. of what Pocatello physicians surmised was a broken neck and fractured skull. He was riding alone in the rear of the light sedan asleep, when the collision occurred.

Assisting in the investigation were Pocatello police officers: Capt. A. L. Oliver, Herb Williams, Riley Dixon, and Clifford Curtis. Officers Curtis and Dixon, among the first to arrive on the scene, took Mr. Stoor to the hospital, but doctors pronounced him dead on arrival.

Survivors of Mr. Stoor are nine sons and daughters: Bud, Lewis, Robert, Farrell, John, Max and Matt Jr. , Wilma and Betty Stoor of Soda Springs. Five brothers, John, Gus, Roy, Emil, and Vern of the Soda Springs and Grays Lake area; five sisters, Mrs. Hilda Kunz and Mrs. Orlando Kunz of Bern; Miss Elsie Stoor of San Francisco; Mrs. Edla Whitehead of Bliss, Idaho, and Mrs. Lillian Hopper of Pocatello.

Funeral services will be conducted in Soda Springs.

Max, one of the sons, remembers going with his father by team and sleigh from Wayan into Soda Springs, Idaho to get supplies. They would drive about half way and spend the night and get a fresh team and go the rest of the way. He enjoyed being with his dad.

Matt and Sarah had ten children. At the time of the accidental death of Matt, Betty, his youngest daughter, was only 12 years of age. She went to live with Jimmy and Lillian Hopper in Pocatello, Idaho. Max went to Bern, Idaho to Aunt Hilda and Uncle Parley's home. Hilda and Parley Kunz's children wanted Max to live with them and some of them cried when it was decided that instead he would go with Aunt Anna and Uncle Orlando.¹

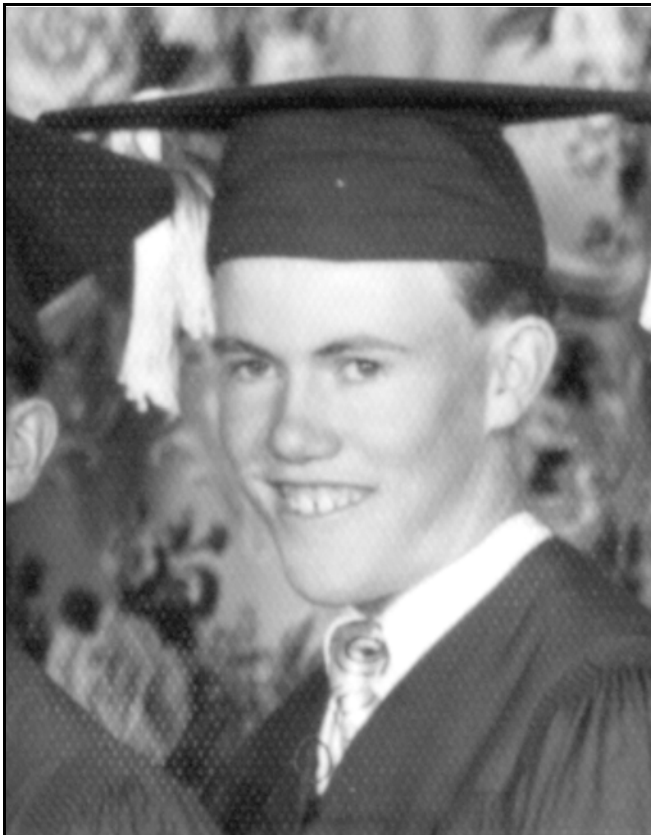

Uncle Emil and Aunt Alice took Robert, Lew, Ferrell and Johnnie.

We honor this family, the ten children who have held together so well in spite of their being separated in various families. We also honor the families who took them in and cared for them and assisted them through the years. Their son, Max David Stoor, passed away October 16, 2000 in Pocatello, Idaho of cancer. He looked forward to the publication of this book and we appreciate his help and encouragement.

¹Phillip Kunz remembered, "that we were told that they had only two children and had plenty of room, whereas we had twelve children in our home and mother was later to have the thirteenth." At that time Max was eight years of age.

Memories of Mother and Dad Written by their daughter, Marie Stoor Park
June 1999

For those of you who knew our parents you know what great people they were but for those who are younger, maybe what I write will help you know more about these good people who began their lives 102 and 105 years ago! I am Marie, their only daughter and I have four brothers, Odell, Marvin and Ellis, older than I, and Bill younger. I am sure each of us children saw our parents through different eyes but we are all proud to have been born into their home, to have been loved and taught by their words and their example. We give thanks for this blessing and the many others received because we are of the Roy and Mildred Stoor family!

Our brother, Marvin died at a campground in Idaho on July 4, 1946 of a heart attack on the day we were to gather for our family reunion, leaving his wife and family. Ellis's wife, Dora passed away several years later, July 26 1973, also from a heart attack. A few years ago Ellis and Cleone both having their families raised, found companionship with each other and were married which is wonderful for them and for all of us.

Our mother, Mildred Elsie Stanley Stoor was born and raised in Park City, Utah. At age 18 she went to Grays Lake to help a cousin, Lizzie Daniels Sibbett through the summer with her family of small children and other work that went along with hired ranch hands. At a ball game one day the young lady from Utah saw a handsome fellow across the ball diamond with a beautiful smile. He was a native and the proud owner of a horse and a fiddle! (More about the fiddle later) and since Cupid, always watching, noticed this and also noticed that Roy Stoor had seen that pretty girl from Utah he went to work with his bow and arrows and hit his targets, those two young hearts.

Love blossomed and bloomed!
They were married late that fall in

Bill, Ellis, Odell and Marie Stoor

Park City on Nov. 15, 1916! That was the beginning of four years of good life, full of hard work, for both of them. Mother died on Oct. 23, 1957 in the Salt Lake L. D.S. hospital from the Asian flu which was at an epidemic stage and took the lives of many people. When she died our brother, Marvin wrote a short summary of her life to be read at her funeral. Mother and Dad were a good team and most of what was written for Mother could also have been said about Dad.

We were living on a small homestead in Williamsburg, Idaho, mother and father became parents to their first two sons, Odell, 1917 and Marvin in 1918.

They were born at home with no doctor available, only a midwife to help. In 1920 their third son, Ellis was born in Soda Springs (with Dr. Ellis Kackley assisting.) Shortly thereafter she and father moved to Emmett, Idaho. Here Mother gave birth to a fourth child, Wilma Marie, their only daughter. The following spring the family moved to Park City, Utah where father took employment with the Silver King Mining Co. It was in Park City that their ambitions for their family began to blossom. Their education began here. Music lessons were started for Odell and Marvin as soon as they were big enough to get on a piano stool. On June 9, 1926, another son, William John, Bill was born. This completed their family and started the plans for their future. On July 17, 1928, the family returned to Grays Lake, Idaho where a small farm was to develop into a community center for them. "Love at Home" was their aim, and how well it was accomplished will be remembered by the scores of young people who always managed to find enjoyment, love and friendship at "Aunt Millie's and Uncle Roy's." They dedicated themselves to seeing that everyone had something, regardless of the amount of sacrifice involved. The teachings of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints were Mother's guiding principles as she taught our father as well as we children, Dad having been a member of the Church for only a few short years. These guiding principles were not only on Sunday, but always. Each day was a proving ground, and through rough times as well as good times Mother's faith was a constant anchor to patrol the way of life she wanted for her children. Education in the Church, as well as in the world around her, was an absolute requirement she maintained. Every physical effort she could muster was spent in this direction.

In 1940 another phase of life was opened for them. Their family began taking off in their own behalf. Two daughters-in-law and one son-in-law were added to the family circle, then came the grandchildren and the war. Mother and Dad saw all four of their sons go into the armed services and another daughter-in-law joined the family. By now their family had matured. Mother and Dad's ambitions were still active and rekindled. The grandchildren became the object of their love and desires. In 1942 the family, Mother, Dad and Bill moved to Draper, Utah and this was their home for four years. The family unity still prevailed even through a war-torn world, and its resultant forces made the reunions more difficult. Then in 1946 with Bill having a wife and family, the final break away of Mother and Dad's family was established. They began to realize the full blessings of a marriage. Church work filled the gap beautifully. Relief Society, Priesthood, Primary and Sunday School activities were always part of their lives and now Temple Work and Genealogy became of prime importance to Mother and Dad. Mother became deeply involved in Genealogy and Dad served a Stake Mission. [Marvin ended this by saying] “We know if their reunion in Heaven gives them time they will continue to work for their family.”

I have a few fond memories of Dad and Mother while we lived in Park City. I don't know how old I would have been when once I was sitting on his lap and he said something about wishing he could keep me like I was, that I wouldn't grow up so fast. I remember how warm and good it made me feel. The other memory was a time when, Bill a few months old, mother and I went to Idaho. When we got home, dad had a surprise for Mother! He had taken out the wall between the front room and dining room, building a book case on one side of the wide archway and a dish cupboard on the opposite side. He had made one large room out of the two smaller ones and had everything finished so nice. I had never seen mother so happy. I knew dad loved her a whole lot to have done that to surprise her. I remember when they received word of Grandfather Stoor's death and mother cried. She couldn't go to the funeral because Bill was to be born very soon. She cried when dad left to go to Idaho and I cried too. I thought it was because she didn't want dad to leave but I later learned it was because of her love for Grandfather and her sorrow over his death. She told me how kind and thoughtful Grandfather had been to her while they lived in Idaho.

We learned about respect, not only for our parents and each other but for all people and things, our country, the National Anthem and the Flag. We learned to look for and appreciate the beauties and bounties of life. We learned about serving others, we learned about dependability, we learned so many things from their example, perhaps even more than from things we were told. We learned the value of work and we learned how to work. We learned when we were asked to do a thing we were to do it without being told twice. If we were told twice it was usually with a small pinch and twist of a very little skin held between dad's first two fingers, never in a cruel or vicious manner, but to get our attention. It hurt just enough to help us learn one telling was enough.

One time I had gone up to Wilma's thinking I would be home in time to take the bread out of the oven and have the table set and do whatever I was to do before they came in from the hay field. I almost forgot to come home and got there just as mother came in the house. The bread was burned black and I had done nothing I was supposed to do. I was scolded pretty harshly by her and by dad. Not many days after that I went to Wilma's again and that time I knew I would just stay a little while but again I forgot to go home in time. The fire had gone out, and the pot roast or whatever was in the oven was still raw. What a set back for mother who had thought dinner would be all ready to set on the table and now she had to start all over. She was not happy with me, I had not learned my lesson the first time so mother was going to reinforce that lesson this time. We had a willow bush in our pasture about a distance of two city blocks away and mother told me to go get a willow so she could use it on me. I went slowly down and back twice, bringing something I knew she could not use and the third trip I chose a beautiful springy willow thinking by then mother would laugh and hug me but she didn't. She gave me a few stinging swats across the backs of my legs. I THINK it cured me!

Both mother and dad were frugal. Nothing was to be thrown away or discarded unless there could be no further use for it but they were not "junk" collectors. One time dad saw some old fallen and forgotten fences, no longer being used. Odell remembers going with dad to help roll up that old wire, first removing all the staples to free it from the posts, etc. It would have been a time consuming and tedious job. Wire that would have rusted away was put to good use making needed fences on our place. Hard work didn't matter to dad if it helped improve the place or maybe brought in or saved a little money. Mother was there to support him in the things he did, appreciating his extra efforts for the benefit of their family. Dad was an honest man and would never take advantage of any situation for his own benefit. He wasn't a big man but he was strong and willing to work. He was dependable and what he did he did well. There is a wonderful feeling of accomplishment, of living close to nature and of peace that comes from the wide-open spaces and beautiful mountains and streams of the country. The long and hard hours connected with farm life seem insignificant compared to the blessings that are obtained. There are long hours. Maybe one or two hours are spent doing morning chores and again doing evening chores besides the full day spent in the preparation and planting of crops, irrigating, caring for and feeding cattle and other animals or rebuilding or fixing the haying equipment, or mending fences or the many never-ending tasks. When there was a break in the summer or fall, we would go to the canyons to saw and cut trees and haul them out for the winters wood. That required a lot of hard hours and then many more hours of hard work at home to saw it into stove lengths. We then had to stack some of it as blocks to be chopped later. The other blocks had to be chopped when there was a spare hour or two. We stacked in into long and high rows, one row against the other to give protection and strength against the winds and snow of winter. This also kept the snow pretty much on the top of the whole of it helping to keep the wood as dry as possible for good burning. I don't remember ever running out of wood for cooking or heating the house.

We always had a huge garden and a good garden which many of our neighbors weren't able to have because of their water level I suppose. We had three good wells and some of our neighbors hauled drinking water from our place at certain times of the year when their wells would go dry. The garden was a big project for the whole family, Mother and Dad took great pride in planting those long rows, measuring each to assure they would grow in nice straight lines. We planted the seeds carefully, spacing the larger seeds, one at a time with just the right spacing between them and the others with much care. We began watering as soon as it was planted to make sure the seeds were damp and then periodically until it started to grow. As the weather became warmer the watering was intensified. With a rope on a pulley and a bucket attached to each end of the rope an empty bucket would go down into the well as the full one came up. Mother and each of us kids had two buckets, the larger one with the water and the other a sprinkling can, which was made with nail holes in the bottom which we dipped into our water bucket to go back and forth, back and forth until that water was used and then go for a refill. It was perpetual motion for dad for possibly an hour or more, keeping the rest of us supplied with water. Each evening a few of those long rows would be watered and when we were finished with the last rows of the garden it was time to start on the first ones again . . . The mosquitoes were perpetual too and the smoke of the smudgy fire. As soon as any part of that garden was ready for eating Mother and Dad would delight in hitching the team of horses to the buggy, go for a visit to take some fresh garden stuffs to the neighbors who didn't raise a garden. There was always enough for ourselves, some to share and what was needed to put away for our winter supply.

Because of the severe winters and closed roads, it was necessary to prepare in the fall for the many months ahead and dad and mother prepared well. Kerosine for lamps, white gasoline and mantels for lanterns and whatever we might have need of. Mother filled many, many bottles with all kinds of fruits bought from the peddlers who came to our valley as different things were in season, lots of jams and jellies, pickles and relishes and we also bought cabbage, squash, pumpkin and other vegetables to store that could not be raised in our gardens. Apples had so many wonderful uses we always had a big supply maybe 20 bushel of them. We had potatoes, carrots, turnips and other vegetables from our garden. Flour, sugar, salt, soaps, were included so with our milk, cream, meat and eggs we always had more than enough. Mother and dad were very well organized in our food storage. I don't remember ever needing to "borrow" from a neighbor anything other than a bit of sourdough starter if ours would become weakened if we failed to save enough for a good "starter." And sometimes tooth ache medicine!

It was our goal to have at least 100 quarts of huckleberries each year. With a team and wagon we headed for the mountains, a few miles away and after finding where they grew, we picked those tiny scattered berries from their low bushes. They were so hard to pick as we fought mosquitoes and horseflies and deerflies, etc. Mother and dad were both good berry pickers and even though we didn't look forward to going, it was a special occasion each time we went. We made several trips each summer to reach our goal. Mother always made delicious lunches, often with some kind of surprise. Sometimes we went with Uncle Matt's family and they took good things too so we shared as we ate together. The delicious jams and jellies and puddings and huckleberry pies we had through the year helped us forget the misery of picking them.

For several years Dad did the night shifts for Uncle Emil during lambing time and was given many of the lambs that came as triplets or were rejected by their mothers, sometimes as many as 25 that would have died without special care. Those lambs were raised on the bottle and I think a year later were sheared, some of the wool saved for quilt making, mother cleaning and cording it and laying it piece by piece between the two layers of cloth, and then making the quilt. Most of the wool was taken to Baron Woolen Mills in Utah to be sold, or traded for good blankets or jackets if we needed them. A few of the yearling lambs were kept for eating during the winter months and the others were sold and we'd start all over. This brought in extra money for school clothes or something equally important.

For a few years dad and mother raised turkeys to dress out to sell; As was their way of life, they gave some to friends and family for Thanksgiving or Christmas but most were sold in Soda Springs where they received top market price for them. The money from these possibly took care of Christmas which was ordered from the Sears Roebuck and Montgomery Ward catalogs.

Mother was my best friend. When I was a little girl, she played jacks with me, taught me how to play hop scotch, jump rope and how to make dandelion necklaces and bracelets and she had little play dinners with me. As I got older, she wanted to help me “be a young lady” knowing with four brothers it was more natural for me to continue being a tomboy. She refused to have me go into the barn to milk the cows. She thought if I started there would be reasons why the boys would think they could not be home and she didn’t want me to become a “chore girl.” She taught me how to embroider and crochet. I truly loved Conference time. We prepared ahead so we could sit and listen to the radio hearing every session and even though meal times were always quite regular, dad would make sure they cooperated with us on those days. She and I would crochet or embroider or work on a quilt as we listened to Conference. What a wonderful memory that is. I was a little resentful when they changed to two day conferences. I still do handwork as I listen and watch. I always think of mother in connection with the Conferences. I think she smiles and remembers too.

Mother taught me how to sew on the sewing machine and to mix bread and tried to help me learn the things necessary to become a good wife and mother some day....she taught me how to work. We sang church hymns as we made beds together, washed dishes together, cooked meals together. canned fruit together, picked peas together, and walked together to visit the Calls, Aunt Bessie , Aunt Alice or Aunt Chat. I believe I learned nearly every hymn from the old song book singing with Mother . She had a beautiful voice and loved to sing. A wonderful memory I have is waking up in the mornings often hearing her singing as she started her breakfast chores, or hearing Dad whistling as he went about his early work. Before she died of Asian Flu, she sang church hymns in the hospital off and on for two days in her semiconscious condition. She had already joined the Choir of Angels!

Mother worked hard too, inside and outside as well. I remember washday when she heated water on the stove in a boiler, then washed the clothes on a scrub board, rinsing them two or three times and starching the dresses, aprons, shirts, pillow cases, etc. before hanging them on the clothesline to dry. It was almost an all day Monday chore by the time the clothes were brought in dry, some folded to put away and others sprinkled and rolled for the ironing the next day and when necessary, mending. There were no permanent press clothing at that time so with the starching and wringing out by hand. There were many wrinkles to be ironed out; ironing was hot and tiring. She stood on cold winter days and hot summer days using irons heated on the hot stove. That was also a good day for baking bread, making biscuits, cinnamon rolls or other things requiring the oven. The milk separator was a daily chore too and had to be washed thoroughly with care to keep the disc in their exact order. The milk and cream had to be dealt with, churning when enough cream had accumulated, then washing the butter over and over, salting it and shaping it. If we hurried with the work it was nice to put on a clean and starched apron over our dresses, slacks or shorts. Pants were not worn by girls or their mothers. When we had time we would walk to one of the neighbors for a short visit. Sometimes one of them would walk to our place, which was wonderful too. It was especially great if it were Aunt Bessie with Wilma or Emily Call with May.

We had a good life with so many great memories. Dad and mother loved to mix and mingle with people and were loved by everyone. Often on Sundays after Sunday School two or three families would go to one of their homes to have dinner and visit and sing. What happy times they were, the women working together in the kitchen to prepare the meal, and because of space and custom I suppose, the parents would eat first and then the children. That's the way it was and we didn't expect it to be otherwise and we were happy. Sometimes the parents would gather around the piano or organ to sing and how wonderful that was to hear as we went in and out of the home in our various activities. We would raise our eyebrows and sort of come to a hidden stop when we'd hear a certain song that we surmised must be awfully bad because they spelled some of the words. We later, I guess learned enough about spelling that we knew what those words were and that it was nothing more than a cute and fun song with a syncopated rhythm. H-a-double p-y we'll be when we are m-a-double r-i-e-d. We'll live in a little h-o-u-s-e you see, just you and me! A b-a-b-y boy we'll have and a g-i-r-l too! I don't remember the words, but I do remember our thinking and their singing! I think our parents must have been the life of every party from what we saw and heard.

Another social gathering of our parents brought lots of pride to our family. One of the activities was an old fashioned spelling bee and our mother was best speller nearly every time. Mother sometimes would introduce a new word at our dinner table or other time when we were gathered together. When we questioned her, she would send one of us for the dictionary and sure enough there was such a word and she had used it correctly. Another of her ways to stimulate us! Mother was good competition for the boys playing horse shoes and other games. She and Dad always welcomed our friends whether as overnight guests or for the many house parties or bon fire parties we had at our place. They were great sports and were loved by all who knew them. During the winter months almost every evening could have been called a Home Evening night; long before the Church introduced such a program. We seldom traveled on winter nights because of lots of snow and blowing wind or below zero temperatures and also our mode of travel we played lots of table games, mother and dad playing with us most times and we sang or did other things to enjoy. If Mother caught any of us cheating in a game, it was gathered and put away, sometimes for several days until she thought we had learned a lesson.

Mother and dad enjoyed life. They enjoyed each other. One April Fools morning mother made a pancake, especially for dad by putting a strainer cotton between two thin layers of batter, and cooking it to a beautiful golden brown. We kids knew about this but dad had no idea. We all carefully watched as dad put butter and syrup on that pancake and tried to take his first bite. He tried again still not catching on and then we all sang out "April Fool." We laughed our hearts out, and he joined in. That night Aunt Bessie and Uncle Matt were having a party at their home and mother was to take a freezer of ice cream. She did. When the ice cream and cake were served, Mother became more and more embarrassed as she noticed some of them slowly and carefully take something out of their mouths and wipe it away. She watched a few minutes, then with a shocking realization thought it must be hair, but she had idea how that could have been. She felt like crying and then everyone said "April Fool." Unbeknown to mother, Dad had asked Aunt Bessie to help cut a few threads in the freezer and stir them in, then they let the guests in on the secret. The April Fools joke was on Mother this time!

I don't remember hearing them discuss finances but I know times had to be hard for them as they were for everyone especially during the depression years. Crops failed and many farmers had to sell their livestock keeping barely what they could feed. Several cattlemen shipped their cattle to Omaha to get a little higher price for what they sold. I'm not sure how this affected our farm but I'm sure it took its toll to some degree on everyone. Money was scarce and jobs were few. Bill remembered helping dad haul the huge wheels of Swiss Cheese from the factory in Grays Lake to Soda Springs, each of them having a team of horses and a sleigh and on one trip going over the divide one of the sleighs started to slide on the snowy road and tipped over. Each wheel of cheese would have weighed from 150 to 200 pounds or more and they had to be unloaded and I suppose the horses unhitched before the sleigh could be put upright, then reloading the cheese, and hooking up the team again to get on their way. That must have been a long and hard day.

Winters were long and hard in Wayan. I remember well some winters the snow would drift around our house six or eight feet high. Dad and the boys would make steps up that drift to get out and to the barnyard. We had some fierce blizzards and extreme below zero temperatures. There were a few occasions us children weren't allowed to go home after school because of a blizzard so fierce nothing could be seen but the white whirling snow and could continue for several hours. Even though it was understood between parents, teachers and students there must have been a good degree of anxiety for mother and dad, and other parents, not positively knowing. I am not sure what the phone system was into our valley, we didn't have one, nor was there one at the school. Huffs or Reeses, the two families living nearest the school, would bring soup and fruit or something substantial for us to eat. One time when the snow had melted before the lake opened our valley looked like a big lake. Then a spell of severe cold caused it to freeze but again there was a way for us to get to school and home again. The ice wouldn't support the horses but would hold us so we walked on the ice to school one morning and by the time school was out the ice had melted. Dad came for us in a canoe, pulled by a horse. We thought that was very unique! I believe Odell knows how we came by that canoe. I somehow had the idea that dad made it but I wouldn't know for what purpose.

Mother helped neighbors and friends with wallpapering, painting, quilting or in any way they might need help, even being a midwife a few times. All these things were neighborly things to do and gave the women a change of pace and the opportunity for good visits. Dad was always willing to cut the hair of anyone stopping by for that purpose and there too, with a nice visit.

We loved and respected Mother and Dad. Each had a special tender side and also had special firmness when that was necessary. Ellis remembers a lesson well taught when he was maybe five years old. While we were living in Park City it was his turn to go to the Silver King Mine in Park City with Dad to deliver groceries and this was pretty exciting. While the wagon was being loaded Ellis helped himself to a candy bar and sat on the front steps of the store to enjoy it. When Dad saw him he tapped Ellis on the head and asked if he had paid for it. Ellis said no that he didn't have any money. Dad said "Well I guess you will have to come with me," and took Ellis to the jail house which was just down the street a short distance Dad talked to the jailer, a big, rough looking man who took Ellis by the hand and put him in, as Ellis put it, what looked like a lion cage. Ellis said he was really scared but all the noise he was making did no good . . . They left him there alone really howling for I'm sure just a few minutes but what seemed like an eternity to Ellisand then the jailer and Dad came to get him. To make sure Ellis had time to really feel the punishment Dad didn't let him go to the mine either. I feel sure that lesson taught to Ellis hurt Dad as much or more than it did Ellis.

Odell remembers going with Dad once to a closeout sale of a rancher. Dad was going to buy a needed cow. When they got there, Odell became spellbound when the rancher whistled and a black horse came out of a shed , headed down the field, rounded up the herd of milk cows and brought them up and into the corral. What a horse that was! While Dad was with the rancher looking at cows, Odell was watching every move of that black horse. He had never seen such a beautiful horse. Its name was "Coon." Odell said "If ever a kid loved his father it was me. When I learned he had bought that saddle horse instead of the cow and said it was my horse." He also said he still remembers old Coon as the best horse in the whole valley. It was the horse he learned to ride on. I'm sure as Dad saw the yearning in Odell's eyes watching that horse, the heart strings of a father were pulled tight with love for his 11 or 12 year old firstborn son, and possibly Dad was remembering a time in his young life when he wanted a violin he saw and it became his.

Bill remembers Dad buying him a brand new saddle and how happy he was, and as always the giver is even more happy. He remembers too when they were 14 or 15 years old, he and some of his friends Max and Wanda Weaver and Liza Lei Call formed a band to play for dances and he was so proud to have Dad want to play with them. I'm sure Dad was super proud and happy for the opportunity to be part of that group and especially to see the talent and real love of music that Bill had, more than any of the family and very similar to the feelings that Dad himself had for a true love of good music. This group played for dances for about two years before Dad, Mother and Bill moved to Utah.

We all loved Dad's violin. We regret that we don't know how he became the owner of it. Ellis briefly remembers a story about a hobo, or however he would be classified, traveling through Grays Lake who stopped at Grandfather's asking for a hand out. He had the violin that Dad fell in love with and whether the man sold it at a very good price, traded it for food and a night's lodging or whatever, it became Dad's violin. We don't know if that was a true story or someone's "it could have been"...story. Dad learned to play that violin and it surely was a big part of his life from the time he was a young teen ager until he died. I have a picture of him age 16 in his first suit, paid for with money he had earned playing for dances. Mother told me he had told her about riding his horse, carrying his violin to play at the dances in cold or hot weather and he loved it. He was a real violist and a real fiddler. There was never better dance music than that played by Dad, Inez Skinner, Uncle Matt and Oscar Vias with a few who spelled them off occasionally. We spent many hours through the years in our home listening to beautiful violin music. I think each of us kids learned a few piano cords to accompany him occasionally. Dad had a beautiful singing voice too, and so did the boys. We all loved music.

My father was a handsome man and was always neat and clean. I used to think even in his chore clothes he was clean. And he was a gentleman. I felt it so special that Dad was baptized the summer after I was born and after he and mother had been married for nearly 25 years, they went through the Temple for the first time with Ralph and me. Satan had worked against going long enough!

We had our share of trials and sorrows and one year especially we thought we had a very big bucket full of troubles. It was in 1938. Dad spent most of that year very ill. He had sciatic rheumatism and also infection from an ulcerated tooth had invaded his whole body. He had gone from 155 lbs. down to 85 and suffered pain with every move. It took a long time to determine what was making him so ill and after they did it took several months for him to recover. During his recovery time, Mother and Dad, Bill, Ellis and I had moved to Soda Springs for the winter school months. Bill was taken to Salt Lake to have major eye surgery. Mother had major surgery, I had an emergency appendectomy, Marvin had a motorcycle accident and was hospitalized and unconscious for, as I remember, three days. Emily, a dear friend of our parents and to our whole family was staying with us in Soda Springs during the illness and death of her husband, Frank Call, also a sad time for us. Just before Christmas we had word our home and belongings had burned to the ground. Because of their health and the winter roads Mother and Dad could only imagine what it all looked like and would think of more and more things gone forever, pictures, genealogy, all family records, the beautiful big organ that Dad inherited from Grandfather Stoor and other irreplaceable things. I saw both of them cry together many times before spring came. Dad was regaining his health and was able to get a job managing the movie machine at the Idanha Theater a few nights each week which was a great morale booster for both of them. When spring came and they returned to Grays Lake it must have been almost more than they could bear to see the blackened ruins of their home along with the cellar and all of the broken glass from exploded jars of fruit.etc. It was an especially rainy spring that year and work on the new home was slow as well as the putting in of crops. It was a hard year for mother and Dad but they survived it. Many happy and good years followed.

Losing Mother was hard for Dad. He told me how he stood quite often watching out of the big window just knowing she would come up or down the street carrying a plate or bowl, having gone to visit and share with a neighbor something good she had made. I have a precious scrapbook he made during those sad days . . . I visualize Dad sitting alone at the table, perhaps wiping a tear now and then as he put the book together using many special things representing Mother. On one page was a pretty bow knot. He had braided together three colors of rick rack to make the "ribbon," then tied it in a bow with streamers. He used other sewing materials in very artistic ways too. Also some beautiful selected sympathy cards were mounted that expressed sincere loving thoughts about mother and Dad. A few letters were kept mounted, maybe adding a picture of a flower or butterfly, for color. After deciding what he would put on each page, he chose a watercolor that would blend with the main object of it to paint a shaded background for that page. Dad was very artistic. Each page was beautifully done. I know he wanted to preserve some of those things that brought special memories. This book represents hours of time and thought and love. It tells so much about his tender feelings for mother. Dad set the example of Missionary work when he served a Stake Mission. There have been 31 members of his and mother's family serve in that capacity to date, with others planning to serve.

In 1963 Dad married Gladys Hansen, a very nice lady and they enjoyed good companionship until he was found to have a brain tumor which was malignant. He had surgery to remove it and we weren't given a very positive report about his future. He did recover to a great degree and lived three fairly normal years. Gladys was a comforting and caring person during those years and we appreciated the many good things she did to help him enjoy life. The malignancy returned and rapidly spread throughout his body. He passed away Aug. 4, 1968 and is buried in Soda Springs along side of Mother. We look forward to the great family reunion in time to come with Mother, Dad , Marvin and the many others who have gone before us.

Emil and Alice Bienz Stoor

Emil Wilhelm Stoor was born on February 17, 1896, at Henry, Caribou County, Idaho to John Stoor Sr. and Johanna Gästgivars Stoor. His mother became ill with typhoid fever and later pneumonia and died when Emil was four years old. His memories of her were rather dim. Emil, at age thirty-six, married Alice Lovina Bienz November 28, 1930. Alice was thirty-six years old. She was the daughter of Rudolph Bienz and Anna Barbara Meier.

Alice Bienz and Emil Stoor

They were the parents of five children: Don Jay, born December 31, 1931. He died January 24, 1935 as a little boy; ViriJean, born August 11, 1933; Darlene, born October 2, 1936; Ila Rae, born March 28, 1941 and Ralph Emil, born June 14, 1944.

Darlene wrote the history of her parents, Emil and Alice Stoor, as follows:

Grandfather was a farmer and ranchman. He believed in hard work, honesty in your dealings and in being a good citizen of the community. He was a stern, but loving father and had a sense of humor. Many of these qualities he instilled in his children.

Aunt Hilda (Hilda Stoor Kunz, Darlene's aunt) recalls an incident when she and Dad were quite small. They were playing upstairs in a large storage room. The room wasn't partitioned off so it was a long room. Some clothes were hanging on one end and Dad told her there was a black woman there and she was going to get her. Aunt Hilda ran for the stairway crying with Dad running right behind her. They both fell. Grandfather spanked Dad for scaring Aunt Hilda and then she felt bad because she had gotten Dad into trouble.

In 1900, Grandfather, John Stoor Sr., was issued a land grant by the President of the United States, President William McKinley, for a one hundred sixty-acre homestead at Henry, Idaho. The log cabin they had on the homestead was remembered by Emil as one built of green quaken aspen and consisting of one room with a dirt roof. The floor was covered with boards. At that time, there were seven in the family. [John, Gus, Matt, Roy and Emil] Later, Grandfather built a new, larger home for the family.

They had friends and neighbors that lived in Henry during this time by the name of the John Boyd family. The family had two girls, Ivy and Inez and three boys. The children all played on a little hill back of their home.

When the government decided to build a reservoir at Henry, the family moved to Wayan, Idaho in 1906. Grandfather purchased a one hundred sixty-acre homestead from a man by the name of Will Heatley for three thousand dollars. Through the years, he was able to buy more land and at the time of his death, he owned nine hundred and sixty acres. He ran cattle and sheep there until his death. He also bought city property in Soda Springs, consisting of three dwelling homes, a blacksmith shop and a grocery store. That was about 1920.

After the death of his wife, [Johanna, in 1900] Grandfather was left with six children to care for. Neighbors and friends helped care for the children. Eventually he hired a woman, Marie Vinberg, to take care of his children and later, he married her. To this union were born five children: Anna, Elsie, Edla, Lillian and a son, Vern.

My father, Emil, started school in Henry and after the family moved to Wayan, he continued schooling there. Some of his teachers were: Charley DeWitt, Julia Sullivan, Mr. Price, Ralph Benedict, George Muir and Monte Pitts. The subjects he took were: arithmetic, reading, penmanship, physiology, geography, language, history and spelling.

His childhood playmates were: Johnnie Soderman, Ezra Dubach, Floyd Cregar and Van Daniels. Johnnie was usually included in most of his activities as he was a close neighbor as well as a friend. Some of the amusements they enjoyed were: mumble peg, minnie peg, horse racing, swimming matches and square dancing.

Dad was a shy young man but he had several girlfriends during his youth. They were Pearle DeVault, Inez Sibbett, Lucy Kunz (sister of Hilda's husband, Parley Kunz) and Mary Hargrave.

On one occasion, Dad's brother, Matt and a group of his friends were going to ride their horses over the hill to see the girls at Henry. Dad and Johnnie decided they would like to go also and followed behind at a discreet distance. They were soon discovered and offered a bribe if they would stay home. They could either have a chew of tobacco or shoot the .22 rifle. They had already shot a gun so decided to chew the tobacco. When they got sick, they knew they'd made the wrong choice.

Being an adventuresome pair, Dad and John decided to try their hand at making "moonshine liquor." They used a copper teakettle and copper tubing. They cooked the yeast mixture in the house. The rest of the project was completed in the barn while the family was away. Grandfather put a stop to it immediately. He took a dim view of alcohol in any form. They ended up giving most of it away, but were probably very proud of themselves for accomplishing it.

There wasn't much time for recreational activities and all the chores on a ranch but on one occasion, Dad and a group of his friends took a white-topped buggy and went on a fishing and camping outing. They went as far as Freedom, Wyoming the first night and then on to the Alpine, Wyoming area the next day where they fished and swam in the Snake and Grays Rivers. It was probably quite unusual for them to get out of the Valley.

When Dad's sisters were old enough to go to dances, they had to coax quite hard to get him to take them and if he took them, they had to come home with him also. Johnny Soderman usually went with them.

Dad taught himself to play the violin and would sometimes play for dances when they were "hard up" he said. One of his favorite songs was "Redwing."

His sister, Hilda, remembers Dad:

As a quiet boy who never talked back to his parents or caused trouble. He was a good son and a good helper for his father, content to stay on the ranch and take care of the chores. He was always a good brother and a faithful son and could always be relied on when his father gave him a job.

Some of his chores in his early youth included getting the cows in from the pasture and milking them, sawing wood by hand and packing it into the house.

Grandfather, John Stoor Sr., had a large band of sheep. Dad started herding sheep when he was thirteen years old – a practice he was to continue to do throughout his young manhood. He once said they'd had the sheep in the timber for two months and when they gathered them in, they'd lost only five head out of a band of twenty-four hundred. One of the places he herded sheep was on the Torgesen place back of Blue Mountain. He once remarked that he was out for forty days without coming home. During this time, he admitted "news was scarcer than frog's hair." He learned to cook and take care of himself. When the rest of the family lived in town and he was "batching it," he often made his own bread, churned butter and was a good housekeeper.

One summer day, in 1916, he went to herd the sheep and as he got up on the hill, he noticed smoke coming from the family home. He had thrown a match in the wood box where it had smoldered awhile and then caught the wood on fire.

The rest of the family was in Soda Springs so he had no help putting out the fire. They had moved this home from Henry and it burned completely down. Dad always felt bad about the fire because he was a responsible young man and was not prone to carelessness.

Grandfather then built the home that is on the "home place" at the present time and occupied by my brother, Ralph and his family. It was my childhood home as well. My sister, ViriJean and I were born in that home.

It was an elegant home, I'm sure for its time. It had four bedrooms, dining room, front parlor, kitchen and pantry. The rooms were light and spacious. The cellar was always cool enough to set Jello even on the warmest day. The house had high ceilings and the kitchen and dining room had wainscoting over the lower half of the walls. During my childhood, it was heated by wood stoves – a large black cooking range in the kitchen and a smaller stove in the dining room. The bedrooms were not heated. While many had kerosene lamps or some other form of lighting, we had carbide lights in every room. I remember carbide as little gray rocks that came in a tin barrel. Dad had a special place for them in the ground with a wood cover over them. There was also water in this place and I suppose the gas created from the rocks and water mixture was what made the lights work. Sometimes when we'd try to light them, they'd sputter and we'd be afraid they'd explode. At other times, the lights would be dim and Dad knew it was time to add more "rocks." We also had an indoor pump with good water from our well. We'd have to prime the old pump sometimes to get water. We were fortunate to have such a nice, comfortable home to live in.

At one point, John Stoor Sr. had five hundred twenty acres of hay land. Dad made the comment they had put up thirty-one stacks of hay and had nine more to go. Everything was done with horse power--"four legged horse power" that is. ViriJean and I also got in on helping in the hay field using that same "horse power" in our childhood.

In spite of all the work, they usually found time to take in the famous HENRY

Sheepcamp on Stoor Ranch

John Stoor Sr. home in Wayan where Emil Stoor family lived and now Ralph Stoor and his family live

STAMPEDE at Henry and later in Soda Springs. It was one of Dad's favorite things to do and one he continued until they stopped having them. He always enjoyed watching a good rodeo.

When Grandfather, John Stoor Sr., passed away in 1926, his property was divided among his children. Dad's share was one hundred sixty acres known as the "home place." He was eventually able to buy out his brothers and sister's shares and through the years bought more land, having accumulated more than 2,280 acres during his lifetime.

Like his father before him, Emil was a tease. He liked nothing better than to get a joke on someone, never in a malicious manner but just in warm, good fun. He had a dry sense of humor and you wouldn't realize you were being teased until it was too late.

Before Jay and I were married, Dad volunteered to let Jay borrow a horse to take hunting. All the time they were loading the horse, Dad was clicking his false teeth and smiling. Jay said he always knew something was going to happen when Dad clicked his teeth, so he was waiting to see what it was. However the horse was loaded without incident so Jay thought perhaps this time he'd misjudged Dad. The next morning he prepared to go hunting and loaded all his hunting gear on the horse. When he tried to climb aboard, he and the hunting gear were scattered over Caribou Mountain. Dad's "volunteered" horse had dumped his whole load which is exactly what Dad knew he would do. Dad enjoyed his sons-in-law, Leith, Jay and Ray and they were often the targets of his little jokes.

While visiting his sisters, Anna Kunz and Hilda Kunz in Bern, Idaho, he met a young girl, Alice Lovina Bienz. Her father, Rudolph Bienz Sr., had become converted to the LDS church in Switzerland. My grandmother, Anna Barbara, was also converted and they eventually came to America and settled at Bern, Bear Lake County, Idaho. There on May 20, 1907, Alice was born, the youngest child in a family of ten children.

While courting Mother, Dad made the trips to Bern from Wayan in a STAR automobile. It was a little tan roadster coupe with a "rumble seat." The rumble seat was where the trunk of most automobiles is now. The lid pulled back from the front just behind the rear window to open up a seat where two could ride with the breeze blowing through their hair.

Don Jay Stoor age 2 ½ years. He died when he was 3 years old January 24, 1939

They corresponded often during this time. One of Dad's letters to Mother said, "P.S. There's a message under the stamp!" You could see where Mom had worked to get the stamp off intact. When she did, the message read "Was it hard to get off?" This was so typical of him. His letters were newsy and always contained a note of humor. They left you with an optimistic feeling and anxious to get the next one.

Dad's brother-in-law, Uncle Parley Kunz, was Bishop of the Bern ward at this point in time. One fall day, my parents came to Parley and Hilda's home and said they wanted Uncle Parley to marry them. Uncle Parley started getting the information on how to go about it. Dad let him look for quite awhile and then announced casually, "I guess you won't have to keep looking, because we're already married." They were married at the Bear Lake County courthouse in Paris, Idaho, on November 28, 1930.

The young couple didn't have a honeymoon but went directly to the ranch at Wayan where they went about building a beautiful home life and life style that we were to know and cherish always.

On December 31, 1931, their firstborn, a son, Don Jay arrived. This little son was so precious to both of them. Mother had gone to Soda Springs to have the baby. Dr. Russell Tigert, Sr. had delivered him. For this service, Dad paid him twenty-five dollars. Susie Small was the attending nurse and she was paid five dollars and fifty cents. I'm not sure how long Mother and the baby stayed with Aunt Emma Lau, but Dad was concerned about the new baby and wrote letters to Mother about the care of a new born infant from information he read in books. They say Don was a very serious child and mature for his age. He followed Dad everywhere and called him "EMO" for Emil. When he was three years old, he became ill with influenza that developed into pneumonia. It was the dead of winter and there wasn't any medicine for pneumonia in those days. He passed away at the tender age of three years and twenty-four days on January 24, 1935. He was buried January 26 on a little hill west of the family home. This was a time of great and deep sorrow for my parents and something they never got over completely.

Viri Jean had arrived on August 11, 1933, and she was ill at this same time, but thankfully, she was able to recover. She was a lively, vivacious little girl with dark curls and eyes and adored by her brother, Don, who called her "Sissy." She was my protector and childhood pal, as well. I imagine she was a great source of comfort to our parents in those difficult days following Don's death as such a young age.

I was born next on October 2, 1936. I was a plump, chubby little girl with a round face and body to match. Mom used to tell me I reminded her of a dolly when I was small. Maybe that's why they named me Darlene.

Ila Rae arrived in the spring time on March 28, 1941. The snow left the Valley early that year and Mom said Dad was out in the fields in April. Mother went to Soda Springs to have the baby. Hulda Oberg and her daughter, Ruth, dear family friends, came to take care of us while she was gone. I was four years old at this time. I remember Ila Rae as a dainty little baby with soft curls. Viri Jean and I thought she was quite a novelty, and we were excited to have a baby sister.

The years passed. I don't remember Mother being pregnant. I do remember June 13, 1944. Dad was in Williamsburg fencing. Mom sent someone to get him and they took off for town. When Dad came home the next day he said, "Well, you've got another sister." When we started complaining, he smiled and gave us some tan candy kisses he had gotten for us and said it was a boy. Ralph Emil had arrived on June 14, 1944. He was a little blonde blue-eyed baby and we were surely thrilled to have a little brother at last!

When Uncle Matt passed away on 15 September 1940, Dad was made administrator of his estate. He and Mother took four of Uncle Matt's boys into our home to raise as their own: Robert, Lew, Farrell, and Johnny. These boys were our big brothers so Mom and Dad had a large family to provide for.

If anyone came near our home at mealtime, he was invited to join us in the meal. Dad had confidence enough in our Mother to know she could always feed several more. Invariably he would say something like "You'd better eat now and not say like you did the last time that you didn't get anything to eat" or "You might as well eat it, we're just going to throw it to the dogs anyway." Mother would say "Oh, Emil" and give him a withering look. The guest wouldn't realize what was happening until Dad laughed. Our home was a welcome place for friends and strangers alike. The coffee and cookies were always ready. Our parents were charming hosts and enjoyed having company.

Dad enjoyed good plain food like Mother's good homemade bread and milk. Also "clabber" which was thickened sour milk. He often had this for his evening meal. He always had a bowl of hot cereal and hot cakes for breakfast.

The Grays Lake Valley had its own cheese factory and was famous for its Swiss cheese. Most of the families had milk cows and sent their milk to the factory. However, they were only paid for the butter fat. This was a typical milk slip Dad received from the factory. It was for October 1936, the year I was born. He sent 1113 lbs. of milk to the factory that month. Of this amount, seventy pounds was butter fat. At thirty-eight cents a lb., he received twenty-six dollars and sixty cents. It cost him three dollars and eight cents for hauling; he bought nine and a half pounds of cheese at seventeen cents a pound for a total of one dollar and sixty-two cents; eleven pounds of butter at thirty-eight cents a pound for a total of four dollars and eighteen cents; a bushel of apples for one dollar and twenty-five cents. He previously owed the factory four dollars and seventeen cents so out of the twenty-six dollar and sixty cents, he received a check for twelve dollars and thirty cents. That was hardly enough to get rich, even in those days.

Like Grandfather, Dad was a sheepman and he knew his business well. He had started in the sheep business at age thirteen. He had a large band of sheep that required a lot of work in taking care of them. East of the house located across the creek by the barn. Dad had a large sheep shed. There was a horizontal one and a vertical one that joined together to make one large building. Inside were many individual pens on both sides of the room. In the spring of the year during lambing season, these pens were full to capacity with a ewe and her lambs each in their own pen. Matt Oberg, a friend and neighbor, would come during lambing season to help care for the ewes and check on them during the night. He stayed in a sheep camp near the sheds. It was exciting to walk through the sheds and see all the new little lambs. During the day, all the sheep would have to be fed and watered. In early summer, Dad would hire men to help him shear before the sheep went out on the summer range. Dad was very adept with the shears also. It would take several days to get this job done. I remember going with Dad when he hauled the big, long bags of wool to the City Transfer in Soda to be sold. After shearing, the sheep were taken to the summer range on Williamsburg. Dad hired a herder to watch over them until late fall when they would be brought back to the ranch so the whole process could start over. It was the custom for sheepmen to take the lambs to Omaha, Nebraska each fall to be sold. They were loaded on the train at Soda. Dad and the other sheepmen would travel with them until they reached their destination at the stockyards in Omaha. We were always sad to see Dad get on that train. It seemed as if he were going to the other side of the world. We'd all cry when he left, but before we knew it he'd be home again and he always brought us presents.

Dad was a civic minded man concerned about the Grays Lake community he so dearly loved. He served as a board member for many different organizations and was secretary-treasurer for some including the "Grays Lake Muskrat Protective Association," the "Grays Lake Telephone Co.," and others. He was associated with the Wool Growers Association for many years. He kept good records and had beautiful penmanship.

He was chairman of the trustees for the school district at Wayan for many years and was conscientious about the needs of the growing community. The following is a letter that was published in the Wayan High School newspaper "THE TIMBERLINE BUZZ," on January 20, 1939.

At the recent Christmas Program in our schoolhouse, held December 23, many of those who attended began wondering where to find standing room, let alone a place to sit. The writer for one wished for more room. This is one reason for the thoughts of an additional room to our school building. At the decision of the School Board, a meeting was held at 1:30 p.m. January 29 at the Wayan schoolhouse for all, taxpayers, twenty-one of whom were present. The Chairman of the Board asked the opinion of the taxpayers regarding the building of an additional room approximately 23 by 40 feet, connected to the east room of our building with folding doors opening into the added room. When the doors were opened that would make a room 23 by 73; in the added room at the north end there will be a stage 12 feet across the width of the building, a hardwood floor in the present east room and in the added room, making a floor 23 by 60; a full basement under the added room and a heating plant in the basement. A bond election will be held in the near-future. This district if the bond carries, will be bonded for $2000. The majority of the members were very much in favor of this motion. Now, you, Mr. Taxpayer, don't get it into your head that because we are bonding for $2000 that doesn't mean it's going to cost this amount to build this building. If any of you go to Soda Springs, just stop at Mr. Gorton's office and let him show you the small yearly cost to you on a ten year bond of $2000. Then I am sure you won't turn down such an essential building. I, personally think it will be one of the best investments the district has ever made when completed. At the bond election just stop to think of our Christmas program. Again we hope we will see you at the bond election if you are in favor of the bond--if not we will see you at some other time, I hope.

Yours for the GYMNASIUM,

Emil Stoor

The plans for this building were drawn up by Dad on the bottom of a cardboard box. Anyone seeing this building today knows it is exactly as he described it over forty years ago. I dare say it was one of the best investments the district made.

When Virijeane was ready to start high school, Dad sold his band of sheep and bought a home in Soda Springs. There were no high school buses from the Valley and Mother didn't want to board her children out. In June of 1947 my parents bought the J.D. Woodall home. It included Lots four and five of block fifty-three. Today, the address is 130 North First East. It is located a block and a half north of Grandfather's (John Stoor Sr.) old rock store and Stoor's Grocery. The rock building North of Stoor's Grocery was the Rose Building. Dad paid seven thousand for the house and lots, including the curtains and blinds but no furniture. He paid five hundred down with the balance to be paid upon occupancy the first of September, 1947. The deal was drawn up on a small piece of paper and signed by both parties and handshakes. Mother lived in this house until her death and it is still in the family today.

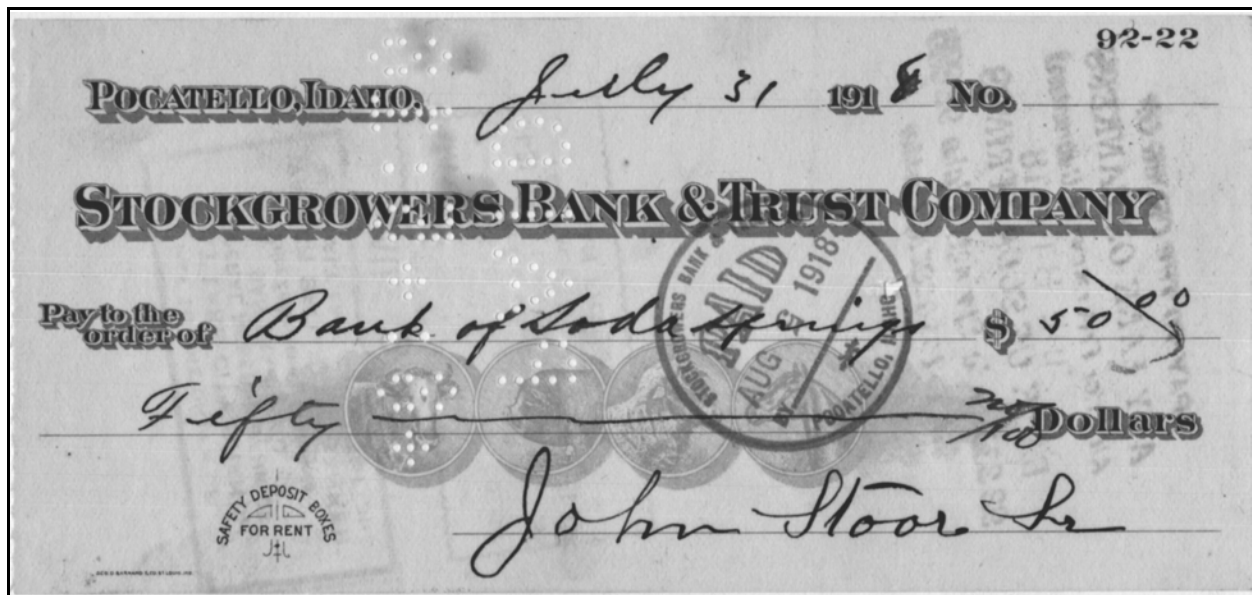

When it was time for school to start in the fall, Mother and the kids would move to town. Friday afternoons would find us going out to the ranch for the weekend to spend it with Dad. Sunday afternoons would come all too fast and we'd be sorry to leave Dad again.

Means of transportation from Fall to early Spring in Wayan

When the weather turned bad, usually in November and Dad couldn't, find any more excuses to stay on the ranch, he'd move to town for the winter. I remember how excited I'd be walking home from school and seeing his green GMC pickup there. We'd be a family again for a few months. In the spring as soon as he could, Dad would again go back to his beloved ranch. As soon as school was out in early May, we'd move out also. We were always happy to get back after our winter in town.

Dad learned early in his life the value of a hard day's work. He was an ambitious man and an early riser, believing one's best work was done early in the day and anything worth doing was worth doing well. He kept good records and was meticulous in the business of running a ranch.

Some of the banks Dad did business with were: THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF IDAHO and the STOCKGROWERS BANK AND TRUST CO. both located in Pocatello, Idaho.

Later on, he banked at LARGILLIERE CO. BANK in Soda Springs. A surprising number of his checks were written in pencil which was an acceptable practice then. He never overdraw his account and didn't believe in buying on credit. His policy was if you couldn't pay cash for something, you should wait until you could.

He was a devoted husband and father always seeing that we had everything to make our lives comfortable and happy. He helped us with our school projects and lessons and was never too busy to help us in any way or give us whatever our hearts desired, No matter how tight the budget was, there was always enough for a new prom dress if we wanted it.

He was a small man in stature and rather quiet. He had dark hair and twinkling blue eyes and a ready smile. His easy manner and personality made him a favorite to anyone who knew him and he was fun to be around. He was neat and clean in his appearance and I can never remember my mother having to pick up after him or hang up his clothing. He was honest and upright in his dealings and everyone knew that if Emil Stoor gave you his word, it was as good as gold. He expected this of others also. He was left handed and if he noticed that someone else was left-handed also held say, "Now there goes a good person!"

Every evening after supper, Dad would retire to his rocking chair by the radio with the newspaper in hand. He was very knowledgeable about local and world events. A life-long Republican, he never failed to exercise his right to vote and served as an election official when he was a young man. He didn't have many hobbies. He enjoyed his home and family and preferred being there above any place else. He had a poetic flair for words and putting his thoughts on paper. He was a good carpenter and enjoyed working with his hands. He took pride in keeping his machinery in good repair and his ranch kept up. He enjoyed playing cards with good friends like Matt Oberg, John Soderman, Henry Thomas and others, especially a game called "SOLO."

I don't recall ever receiving a spanking from Dad. He was not a strict disciplinarian, only getting after us when we were unusually noisy or silly. He would look up from his paper and say, "Here now, you girls stop being so silly."

Dad was not a world traveler. He didn't enjoy going but was willing to take us and we always liked to go. A summer trip to Jenny's Lake in Wyoming for a picnic outing and a boat ride with the Soderman family a few trips to Bern to see our relatives, the 4th of July celebration and the Henry Stampede were about the extent of our Summer activities. In the winter, we never left the valley.

In the winter we traveled exclusively by sleigh and team. Dad had a team of big gray horses whose names were Jed and Jerry. This sleigh was our car and our school bus as well. It was a square box affair set on runners. The inside was filled with hay and there were benches for us to sit on. Up front was a miniature pot-bellied stove to keep us warm. I can remember the wonderful holidays like Thanksgiving and Christmas going over the crunchy snow through the fields to John and Martha's home.

Some of the automobiles I remember Dad having were a gray International pickup, a Chevrolet sedan that he bought from Uncle John Stoor. He must have owned this car during World War II when rubber tires were hard to come by. Each fall just before winter set in, he'd take the tires off the car and set the car up on blocks. One strange car we had resembled a watermelon half set on wheels. It was a 1949 green Kaiser. Dad drove this car until he bought a 1955 Chevrolet. This car along with his GMG pickup was what he had at the time of his death.

He was baptized in the LDS church late in his life in 1953. He led an exemplary life and had a deep belief in God, even though he wasn't a regular church goer. There's a saying that goes, "There are two kinds of Christians, them that talks it and them that lives it." Dad definitely was one who lived it. He lived the Golden Rule every day of his life. He was never too busy to help people who were in need financially or physically.

Byron said, "Heaven gives its favorites early death." Dad must have been a favorite. He was called home at the early age of sixty-five. He enjoyed good health all his life until he developed cancer. After a two year battle, he passed away early in the morning of April 12, 1961, at the Caribou County Hospital in Soda Springs. On April 15, 1961 he was buried in the Fairview Cemetery in Soda Springs. During those two years, he displayed so much courage and never complained. Even his last thoughts were of Mother's comfort and well being.

After his death, Mother went to the Logan Temple in Logan, Utah, and they were sealed for time and eternity on June 8, 1962. Mother passed away on January 22, 1982, following a stroke and I'm sure Dad was there waiting for his beloved wife.

Linda Bevins, my sister-in-law, joined the family after Dad passed away. She would have had a special place in his heart because she, too loves the Grays Lake Valley so much and has made their home a special place where we can come to renew our childhood memories and enjoy special family times together.

Dad lived to see five of his fourteen grandchildren, Connie, Steve, Randy, Scott and Vicki. He was so proud of them, but in his truly typical way he'd say to us, "We're happy to see you come, but we're a damn site happier when you leave with those wild kids!" Mother would worry for fear we'd get our feelings hurt, but we knew it was just Dad's way of telling us he loved us. Bob, Tammy, Julie., Jodie, Jon, Tod, Shawn, Shannon and Brandon were to follow. How proud he would have been of them also and all of his great-grandchildren. Shawn carries his name and Brandon shares his birthday.

There is much more to say about the life of Emil Wilhelm Stoor. Each word I write brings to mind some other memory. I realize that mere words cannot do justice to the man he was, or the accomplishments he made. Still, the legacy and lessons of life he left with us are priceless.

It is my hope, dear family, as you read this history of his life and recall your own memories of him that you may come to know Dad better and always cherish the heritage he so lovingly gave each of us.

History of Alice Lovina Bienz, wife of Emil Stoor

By Darlene Stoor Davis

Alice Lovina Bienz was born May 20, 1907, at Bern, Idaho. She was the youngest child in a family of ten children born to Rudolph and Anna Barbara Meier Bienz. She was blessed in The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints by John T. Rigby on June 16, 1907, at Bern.

Alice was proud of her Swiss heritage. From her humble beginnings and the love of her closely-knit family, she learned the lessons of life that were to shape the woman she was to become.

In spite of the lack of financial security and the luxuries of life, the family enjoyed a loving relationship between parents and children. The children spent happy evenings listening to their parents yodeling and singing songs in the Swiss language.

Alice told of one experience she had concerning raisins, which were a treat to the children only to be eaten on special occasions. One day when their parents went to Montpelier, as soon as the buggy was out of sight, the children decided it was a good time to get into the raisins--Alice eating her share. As the afternoon progressed, she developed a toothache and apparently was in some distress when her parents arrived home. When her father looked at the aching tooth, what should he discover but raisin seeds! No doubt, she was not in favor with the rest of her siblings on that occasion.

Alice said that on numerous times when her parents were gone, her sisters would dress her in her brother, Albert's clothing. He had passed away when he was two and one-half years old. Alice was not fond of this practice, but being the baby of the family, didn't have much say in the matter. Her sister, Mary, also passed away from complications following measles.

Alice was baptized in the Bear River below her home, in "Lower Bern," by her father, Rudolph. She was confirmed by John P. Alleman on May 21, 1916. Always having a deep belief in our Heavenly Father, she was told in her patriarchal blessing given to her by Samuel Kunz that "she would be one of His chosen vessels and a great instrument in spreading truth and righteousness among those that sit in darkness."

When Alice was six years old, her father was called to serve a mission in his native land of Switzerland, leaving his wife and children the responsibility of running the farm. The children learned at an early age, the responsibility of work in order to sustain the family and provide for their husband and father on his mission.

Alice attended elementary school in Bern. Some of her teachers were: Ruth Hulme, Leah J. Kunz, Iola Keetch, Zina Kunz, and Reuel Kunz. She received good grades and for the most part behaved properly. However, for the first grading period on her second grade report card, it stated that Alice was a "disobedient child." All her report cards were signed by Rudolph with the exception of one which Anna Bienz signed.

Around 1921, the trustees of School District #13 signed a contract with Mr. W.W. Ream, of Dingle, Idaho, as the principal and teacher of a two-year high school at Bern. Alice was a freshman. Some of the subjects she took were English Composition, English Literature, Algebra, Science, Community Civics, and Modern History. She was a good student and at the conclusion of the school year, she received her hand-made report card. It was a slip of paper folded in half. On the front it read: "Bern approved Two-Year High School, Bern, Idaho Dist. #13." Inside it read: "This is to certify that ALICE BIENZ has completed a course in the ninth grade of the Bern School with subjects and grades as shown on the "opposite" page." It was signed W.W. Ream, Principal.

She finished her high school education at Montpelier High School also taking Seminary classes. S. H. Spencer was her Seminary teacher.

Alice enjoyed the companionship and friendship of her brother, Rud, and her sisters, particularly Lillian, who was closest in age to her. Her best friend during childhood and teen-age years was Amelia Bischoff. Amelia said of this time:

Although I had other friends, Alice was the most noble, true and very best friend I ever had. From the time we started school we were always together. In the early spring we enjoyed climbing the hills together to pick all the wild flowers. In the fall, we would go after the beautiful autumn leaves to pick the wild berries. When my folks bought and moved to the farm just a ways north and east of her home, each time we had the chance either she would come to my home or I to hers. Times without number we used to walk up to Bern in the morning to mail a letter, or in the afternoon to get our mail and often at sundown we had the excuse to walk back up in the cool of the evening to pay our tithing. We would walk hand in-hand talking about our boyfriends and who were the nicest and what we thought about them.

Often, Alice's young nephew, Darrel Bienz, would accompany them on these excursions. Alice and Amelia's friendship was to continue throughout their lives and they saw each other whenever they could.

Darrel says that "Aunt Alice had quite a few boyfriends, several of whom he called 'Uncle'. Ballroom dancing was extremely popular and at most dances, couples were given a small program booklet with a tiny pencil attached to it with a string. Aunt Alice had quite a large collection of programs and pencils. The pencils, because they were of so many different colors were fascinating to me. Every once in awhile I could persuade her to give me one."

Because she couldn't afford to buy sheet music, Alice had a notebook with the words to various songs written down. Some of the songs included in this notebook were: FALLEN LEAF, RED WING, LIFE'S MIRRORS, JUST BEFORE THE BATTLE, MOTHER, BEAUTIFUL MABLE CLAIRE, THERE'S A LONG, LONG TRAIL AWINDING. (one of her favorites). Also, included were the words to songs she sang in school, ABRAHAM LINCOLN and GEORGIES HATCHET among others. Some of her favorite hymns were: I THANK THEE DEAR FATHER and LET US OFT SPEAK KIND WORDS.

Alice was a hard worker and was often found helping her father and mother on the farm. She believed that "anything worth doing was worth doing well." During young womanhood, in addition to her responsibilities at home, she worked for various neighbors caring for their children, cooking and cleaning--whatever work she could find. It is a small wonder that she became so proficient in these things.

These experiences helped her to become the wonderful wife and mother in the years that were ahead of her.

Alice met a young man, Emil W. Stoor, of Wayan, Idaho. His sisters, Hilda and Anna Kunz left Wayan to marry men in Bern and they lived in Bern. It was through this association that he and Alice started a long-distance courtship that lasted several years mostly through letters and a few visits.

Darrel recalls, "When Uncle Emil started coming to see her, we could tell who it was by his automobile. It was a little tan roadster coupe (maybe a STAR) with a rumble seat."

Emil wrote "newsy" letters to Alice--not too romantic but always interesting. On one letter he wrote "P.S. There's a message under the stamp." Alice worked carefully to get that stamp off intact. The message turned out to be: "Was it hard to get off?" No doubt, a disappointment to a young girl in love. He always closed his letters to Alice "with oceans of love and a kiss on each wave."

In his "no-frills" manner, Emil wrote in his life history, "I met a farm girl, Alice Bienz and married her."

On November 28, 1930, Alice Lovina Bienz and Emil W. Stoor were united in marriage at the courthouse in Paris, Idaho. W. Smith Hoge, Minister of the Gospel, officiated at the afternoon ceremony. Alice Spenser and Mrs. Parley Kunz, Emil's sister, signed the marriage certificate as witnesses.

The song, "DRIFTING AND DREAMING" was popular at the time. Alice was later able to get a seventy-eight phonograph recording of this song. It was her and Emil's "song."

Immediately after the ceremony, the young couple left for Wayan where they were to make their home and raise their family for the rest of their married lives. No doubt, Alice must have felt a little melancholy and apprehensive in leaving her home and family in Bern, not knowing how soon she would see them again.

She told of the day after she arrived as a new bride in Wayan. Emil's brother [Vern] and sister-in-law were living in the house also. Her sister-in-law, Jenny, was pregnant with her first child and not feeling well. In typical fashion, Alice seeing that things needed doing, pitched right in doing the laundry. She said she washed clothing from daylight until dark using the wash board and tub and doing it all by hand.

On December 31, 1931 their first child Don Jay was born. How thrilled they were with their little son. Alice stayed in Soda Springs with her sister, Emma, for awhile following his birth. Don was a beautiful baby with fat cheeks and blue eyes. Darrel recalls that, "Don was a serious boy, very mature for his age." As he grew older,

Don called Emil "Emo" and his baby sister, Virijean, "Sissy." He was a joy to his parents. On the day of his blessing, one of the ladies in the Grays Lake Ward said, "You should never have named that baby, Don--he'll never live to be a man." What a terrible thing for a new mother to hear, but as the years passed and the baby was healthy, Alice pushed the thought to the back of her mind. However, it turned out to be a prophetic warning. Darrel recalls, "The September before Don died, Aunt Alice, Virijean, and Don spent some time with Grandma and Grandpa.. Grandma had considerable rheumatism and was not well and Aunt Alice came to help out. When Uncle Emil came to pick them up, Aunt Alice and others who bade them goodbye had a premonition of death. I think most expected something to happen to Grandma. I felt it also."

Don caught a cold and croup which developed into pneumonia. Roads were blocked by snow and there wasn't any way to get medical help. At that time, there wasn't any treatment for pneumonia anyway. Two-year old Virijean was also ill at this time with the same thing.

On January 24, 1935, at the tender age of three, Don went home to his Heavenly Father. Emil and Alice were heartbroken – a heartache they never completely got over.

Darrel recalls, "The only way to call from Wayan was from the Ranger Station. Someone called Bern from there to let the folks know of Don's death. Dad, Mother, Hilda and probably others went from Bern. They were able to drive to Soda Springs from Montpelier and then went by team and sleigh to Wayan. I still have admiration for the closeness of family ties that persuaded relatives to support each other when so much effort was required."

Alice was heartbroken and somewhat bitter. She questioned her father why the Lord would take her precious baby who was just starting his life when there were so many elderly people who were ill, suffering and praying to die. Her father's reply to her was, "Wouldn't Heaven be a funny place if there were only old people there?" His answer comforted Alice somewhat as she related this experience to her children in later years.

Don was buried on a little hill west of the ranch--a spot Alice could see from her kitchen window. It must have been some comfort to her to continue watching over him. In the spring after his death, she hand carried water daily to his grave in order to get the grass established. She never neglected his grave during her lifetime and pleaded with her children to always care for it, which we have.

Darrel remembers that "Aunt Alice had sheet music of 'That Little Boy of Mine' which had been written for the Lindbergh baby that had been kidnaped and killed. The words had been changed to fit her own situation."

Don's toys and clothing were stored in a wooden chest. Whenever it was opened to look at the contents, Alice would get tears in her eyes.

After the trauma of Don's death and ViriJean's illness, each time one of her children became ill, Alice would worry, especially during the winter months when travel was often difficult and medical assistance hard to get.

On one occasion, Darlene fell onto the wood stove, severely burning her arm pulling the skin completely off. Alice quickly called a neighbor who had knowledge of home remedy treatments. That the old crank-style telephone worked, in itself, was somewhat of a miracle. The neighbor told Alice to have Emil go to the barnyard and get fresh horse manure, lay it between clean cloths to make a poultice. Alice said she was reluctant to do this as she feared infection or worse. She offered a quick prayer to Heavenly Father and as she did a peaceful feeling came over her and she did as she was instructed. As soon as the poultice was laid on her arm, Darlene stopped screaming and in later years, neither could remember which arm had been burned as it healed completely and without a scar.

Many times Alice depended on faith and prayer, along with mustard plasters, castor oil, and homemade cough syrup (consisted of onions, honey, and lemon juice kept warm on the back of the stove) and other remedies to cure her children.

Emil and Alice were the parents of five children-Don Jay, ViriJean, Darlene, IlaRae and Ralph Emil. Being normal children, they were far from perfect and when they weren't, Alice disciplined them with a loving heart and the fly swatter! There were two fly swatters in the Stoor Family--one for-the flies and one for the kids! Most of the time, she'd put her children on their honor to do the right thing and respect their free agency.

She and Emil raised four nephews when their parents died. Robert, Lewis, Farrell, and Johnny Stoor. They took them into their home and cared for them in the same manner as their own children. Alice was concerned about them and especially when they went to serve in the armed services.

She loved her extended family and was always interested in her nieces and nephews as well as the rest of the family. Most of the time she was aware of the happenings in the STOOR and BIENZ families. Some of her happiest memories, were when her brother and sisters and their families were able to be together.

When her beloved parents passed away, it was a sad milestone in Alice's life. When she received word that her mother, Anna, was ill, Darlene remembers seeing Alice crying. Concerned to see her Mother crying, Darlene asked what was wrong. Alice replied that her mother was sick. She wanted desperately to go to Bern but there was a bad storm and the roads were blocked with snow. Finally a neighbor took her on a sleigh hooked behind a Caterpillar tractor and got her to Soda Springs where she learned that her mother had passed away the day before. Alice hadn't seen her mother since November and now she was gone. Alice wrote that "it was one of the biggest heartaches I've had."

The gospel was the anchor in Alice's life. She believed firmly in the principles and tried her best to live them. She had a strong testimony. Prayer was especially important in her life and she talked to Heavenly Father on a daily basis, and instructed her children to do the same. She believed strongly in fasting and paying her tithing which she did faithfully no matter how financially strapped she was. Throughout her life she held numerous church callings and was always willing to serve in whatever capacity she was called.

Alice was a wonderful cook. She had a talent for being able to fix a delicious meal on the spur of the moment. If anyone came to the ranch around mealtime, they were always invited in to share the meal. If unexpected company dropped in for a summer Sunday dinner, Alice would simply go out and kill a couple of spring fryers, clean them and fry them up in a short amount of time. Her fried chicken, apple pie, and rolls were special favorites of her family.

Alice was immaculately clean in her home and in her person. She often counseled her daughters, "If you'll wash the dishes and make the beds, the rest will take care of itself." One of the things she often quoted was something her mother had told her. "It's no sin to be poor, it is to be dirty." When her children would complain about all the cleaning, Alice would say "you know cleanliness is next to Godliness." This applied to her speech and frame of mind as well. She raised her large family without the luxury of electricity or indoor plumbing for the most part.

Alice was a member of the Relief Society and loved the association she had with the sisters in the Grays Lake Ward. In earlier years, the meetings were held in the homes of the sisters. Alice was never hesitant in taking her turn. She took pride in her home and wanted it sparkling clean for the sisters. The linoleum floors throughout the house would all be scrubbed and waxed. The curtains and rugs would be freshly laundered. Much to the dismay of her children, who were enlisted to help, even the wooden kitchen chairs would have to be scrubbed from top to bottom. After the lesson, contained within the pages of THE RELIEF SOCIETY MAGAZINE, refreshments would be served to the sisters and their children who always accompanied them. Occasionally, even a husband or two would accompany their family especially in inclement weather. Alice recorded in her journal the refreshments she served at one meeting: "lettuce and crab salad, sandwiches, pickles, homemade ice cream, cookies, and hot chocolate." No wonder everybody loved Relief Society!

In her tenure as Relief Society president of the Grays Lake Ward, the members were involved in various projects in order to make money for a new building. The Relief Society sisters furnished the meal for a cattleman's tour in order to make money. Alice wrote that she arose early and baked eight pies, fried chicken and made three pots of coffee.

Alice was a compassionate person by nature. She ministered to the needs of those who were ill or had sorrow in their lives. She prepared meals, cleaned homes, did laundry, doing whatever needed to be done to ease burdens. Even people she didn't know well, would be the recipients of her delicious rolls if there was sickness or death in the family. She donated generously to church dinners whenever asked. It was always three dozen rolls or two or three pies. In later years, she would visit the elderly at the rest home doing errands for them or just visiting them to let them know they were important. She loved them and they loved her. She always had great concern for her sisters when they were ill.

Alice was a devoted wife, mother and grandmother. Her happiest times were when her family was able to be together. She always had her family home for Christmas dinner. It was a tradition for her and she insisted on doing all the cooking herself. She would prepare for two or three days before. Always on Christmas Eve day, she would invite her son-in-law, Jay to come and sample the apple pie to see if it was good. It was a standing joke between them, because Alice knew how much Jay enjoyed her apple pie. The Christmas before her death in January was no exception. The day seemed to be extra special. Maybe it was because it was to be our last Christmas with our precious Mother. Alice was a tender, loving person and her family was always to know of her love, loyalty and support. On the occasion of her children's birthday, they would have a special three layered birthday cake, each layer being a different color. After the children were grown and gone, they'd still get a birthday cake from their mother.

When her children were young, Alice sewed most of their clothing. She took pride in dressing her girls nicely and seeing that their ringlets were brushed so as to not have a hair out of place. As they grew up, she always made certain they had new prom dresses or whatever they needed for the special events in their lives. Alice enjoyed needlework of all kinds and making quilts. Her nimble fingers were busy every evening making things for her family. All of her children and grandchildren's homes are graced with the fruits of her labors.

When Viri Jean was old enough for high school, Emil sold his band of sheep and purchased a home in Soda Springs. Alice was determined to keep the family unit intact, so winters would be spent in Soda Springs and as soon as school was out in the spring, the family would move back to the ranch at Wayan. Alice was active in whatever community she lived in, serving on school committees, as farm bureau president and always taking an active role in the community. When her children were all enrolled in school, Alice started working for the school lunch program in the Soda Springs school district. For over twenty years she worked in the program receiving a certificate of congratulations from the Governor of Idaho upon her retirement in May 1972. She was very proud of this accomplishment and made life-long friendships with the women she worked with.

Alice was dependable. If she gave her word to do something, she always followed through. She hated being late for anything. If she told you she'd come and get you on the hour, you'd better be ready ten minutes before. Alice would be there and tell you that your clocks were slow!

In April 1961, her companion of thirty-one years passed away from cancer leaving Alice a widow at the age of fifty-four. All through Emil's illness, Alice was at his side giving him loving care and support. Another great sorrow in her life. She was left to raise a young son and a ranch to run. It was both physically and financially difficult for her at times.

It was her desire to have her companion sealed to her for time and eternity. This became a reality on June 8, 1962 in the Logan Temple. Don was also sealed to them. It must be a great comfort to Alice and Emil to know that all their children have now gone to the temple.

There were changes in Alice's life, new challenges to be met and she met them. She didn't have time to think of herself. There were people depending on her and through these changes, she remained the strong, independent, spiritual person she had always been. She took her role as the head of her family seriously. She knew where her priorities were and she acted on them.

After Ralph married, she moved to her home in Soda Springs. It must have been a lonely time for her. In the winter, she worked in the school lunch program and during the summer months she worked in the office at the Enders Hotel. It was while she was working there, that she met and eventually married Parley Hopkins. They were married in July 1967 and spent fourteen and a half years together until the time of Alice's death.

Alice and Parley had a large garden and they freely gave to their children the fruits and vegetables it produced. Alice had a garden most of her adult life. She canned and preserved everything for the winter months. She was a thrifty person always spending wisely. Her motto was, "Waste not--Want not."

For most of her life, she enjoyed good health, never complaining about the aches and pains of life. On January 5, 1982, she had a stroke. Ironically, as was the case during much of her life, on the day she became ill, there was a big storm and many of the roads were blocked. Her family from Grays Lake couldn't get in for a few days, but she was in loving hands with the rest of her family. This stroke was a totally frustrating experience and nuisance for the active, independent soul she had always been. After seventeen days in the hospital, she passed from mortal life at 12:25 p.m. Friday, January 22, at St. Anthony Hospital in Pocatello with her children at her side. She was laid to rest beside Emil at the Fairview Cemetery in Soda Springs, Idaho on January 25, 1982.

Alice Lovina Bienz, farm girl, was a remarkable person. She was a loving daughter, a devoted wife, mother and grandmother, and a caring sister, aunt and friend. She was so proud of her grandchildren and great grandchildren, remembering their birthdays with a "little something from Grandma." Perhaps one of her granddaughter's said it best when she said, "Grandma loved everybody."

We cherish the memories we have of this remarkable lady. We're thankful for the influence she had and still has in our lives today. We're so grateful to our Heavenly Father for the blessing and privilege of having such a person for our MOTHER. We love her more with each passing day.

Hilda Irene Stoor and Parley Peter Kunz

Hilda Irene Stoor Kunz and Parley Peter Kunz

Hilda Irene Stoor was born June 8, 1900, in Henry, Idaho, the only daughter of John Stoor Sr. and Johanna Gästgivars who survived childhood. She was the last child born to Johanna, as her mother passed away just four months after Hilda's birth. Hilda loved and was proud of her father, John Stoor Sr., her mother, Johanna, and her step-mother, Marie Vinberg Stoor, who raised her. Hilda grew up in Henry and Wayan, Idaho. She attended school in Wayan and was happy to have graduated from high school.

Hilda begins her history:

Dr. Ellis Kackley told me that my mother was a beautiful woman and very kind. She died of typhoid fever and pneumonia. My Stepmother was a kind lovely woman and the only mother I ever knew. She always worked hard and never complained. She was always patient. Our parents taught us to always be honest, to live clean lives, and they gave us what was best for us.

The first thing I remember of my life was out at Henry. We had a big home and I have a lot of memories of the rooms and how they were fixed. Emil started school and I guess he must have been 6 years old. He started walking and I put a bonnet on my head and I started down the road with him because I wanted to go too. I had to come back home and I felt so bad. We made our own butter, cottage cheese by letting the milk sour and putting it on the stove, and our own bread. I was the oldest sister, and I remember when we weren't very big, we would stand on a chair by the table and help mix the bread.

Hilda was a beautiful sewer, making many clothes for her children and herself. She made a pair of pants out of corduroy and did not provide a fly in it. So, her little boy cut out a hole to supply bathroom needs.

Mothers' hands were never idle. Whenever she rested, even though she felt sick, she kept busy. She crocheted, made tablecloths, doilies, dresses, baby clothes, handkerchiefs, afghans, knitted slippers, mittens, mitt liners, pillows, dolls, balls, toys, beautiful patchwork quilts, baby quilts, rugs, embroidery work, tatting and so on. She won many ribbons at the Bear Lake County Fair in Montpelier, Idaho for her handwork. She was always willing to assist other women in the ward who were quilting. She was fast in her quilting and her stitches were well known to be even and small.

In addition, she had time to work in the 4-H program, and to help with the various community activities, such as the cancer drive. She worked for many years in the Primary, Relief Society, and Sunday School organizations of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. She taught in each of these organizations for years.

She was avidly involved in picking berries, gardening, canning and preserving food for her large family. She was a very skilled huckleberry picker and could find the good patches and pick the berries very rapidly. She also knew what to do with the berries when she got them home.

Hilda continues her history:

We had no place to go to play as children when we were growing up. School was 6 - 8 miles away and we went by sleigh when the roads were good and stayed home when the roads were bad. I remember my brothers playing the violin but I don't remember having any serious illness or any broken bones. We had a few colds and mild cases of measles and mumps but they were never serious. We would cord wool for all our quilts, pull wool to make it fluffy after washing, and did embroidery work. We quilted a lot at home. It was fun when Father and my Stepmother would tie a quilt and we would play under it. Father would stand and help tie the quilts.

The first thing I remember sewing is my doll dress. Father cut it out for me and I sewed it. I can still remember the dark black dress with a little white flower in it. I guess I had a doll to put it on, I don't remember.

Father was about the size of Parley—140-145 pounds. He was a tailor in the old country before he came to the United States. He started a coat for someone. I remember seeing it hanging in the closet before we moved to Wayan, Idaho.

When the sheep would go through in the Spring, we younger ones would always go out to the road and wait for the pet lambs which were left by the sheep herders and we would get the lambs. We finally had enough pet lambs saved for Father to sell and buy an organ. I always liked music. We learned to play the organ without any teachers. That was a talent that was given to me and I didn't make use of it like I should have. I played the organ throughout much of my life in Wayan and in Bern, after I was married. I played for the various church organizations and eventually obtained an organ for our home, which brought us much joy.

I enjoyed school. I hated to see school let out in the Spring of the year for the simple reason that I knew when school was out we would have to go out on the farm and ride the disk, follow the harrow, and burn sagebrush. When I graduated from 8th grade, my Father bought me a pretty white eyelet dress – kind of like eyelet lace. I wish I would've kept the dress.

We drove an old horse hooked to a two-wheel cart with one seat. Two or three of us would get in the cart. The horse was slow and ornery so we finally put a pin on the end of a stick and when she would slow down we would give her a poke. It is a wonder we didn't get our heads kicked off, but we got where we were going ok.

Hilda Stoor, Roy Stoor and Inez Sibbets

At Christmas, we would get a little box or a book and usually a piece of rock candy (hard, clear sugar-like candy). Once in a while we might get an orange or an apple, if they got into Soda Springs before Christmas. Mother always had a lady come in and make our dresses for Christmas. One dress was pretty red velvet. My stepmother didn't sew much. I never figured others had nicer clothes than we did. We had many friends and good times at parties.

I don't remember any special presents or cakes on my birthday. When anyone got married, there was always a big party and a nice white cake with lots of good cream on it. When my brother, Matt got married, I remember the 5 gallon can of ice cream they put in a big tub with snow on top and how they had to turn it by hand until it froze. That was the biggest affair that I can remember.

My stepmother had a piece of wedding cake in an old trunk. I don't know whether it was made here or in the old country. It used to be so nice to open that trunk and smell that cake. We never dared eat it, but we always enjoyed the smell of all the spices in it.

I was only 8 or 9 when my older brother, John, got married. I remember the big wedding cake they had on the table. Of course, we had to go to bed in the other room. We had to sleep on the floor wherever we could find a place to sleep while the party went on.

We had a lot of baseball games. The girls would get together and play a team from Star Valley. We would ride a horse several miles so we could go practice. I played outfield and we always played a game on the 4th of July. On the celebrations for the 4th of July, we had foot races, 3 legged races, ball games during the day and dances at night. We had lemonade to drink and once in a while there would be cherries—my they were good. When we were little we would sleep on the benches while they danced until we got older, then we would dance. I won lots of foot races. We would get money for winning and we'd spend our money at the stand buying candy, lemonade, or oranges.

On the 4th of July, my brother, Emil was hunting for something in the wood box on the porch and struck a match. He must have thrown it in and went up to get the cattle on the hill because when he came back the house was burnt down. The family was to the celebration and no one was home. They were able to save a few chairs. I remember the rocking chair they saved with finger marks on the back where they had grabbed it while it was still hot. Quite a few men came to help build our new home.

We had to live in a little two room cabin when we first moved to Grays Lake. I remember calling it the two-room junk house. We lived in that quite a while until our home was built.

One day Roy, Emma, Anna, Elsie and I went huckleberry picking. We got up to the huckleberry patch and there were some people that had been up there picking and camping. We spied their bucket in the tent already picked and thought we would get huckleberries in a hurry. We filled our buckets and went home. A little while after we had been home, here came those people. They had followed our tracks. They came in and told the folks what had happened. Of course, Father gave them every berry—even the ones we had picked. He didn't spank us or anything but we new what it meant to take something that didn't belong to us.

Before I was married, I worked outside the home a little bit. When Sam Sibbets wife was sick, I worked there doing the house work and cooking. When Lawrence Jensen's wife had a baby, I helped them too. Bishop Ephriam Schneider was a good Bishop in Wayan. His wife was Primary President and she held Primary after school at the school house. We enjoyed staying to Primary once in a while. I never remember attending MIA.

Bishopp Schneider came to our house often. He had quite an influence in my life. One Sunday Dad took me to Sunday School and the Bishop told the story of Joseph Smith, I remember that story and how it impressed me. I enjoyed all the stories of the gospel and although I didn't know much about the church except the association I had with the people, I was baptized by Bishop Robert Schmid in Montpelier January 29, 1919, just a few months before we were married.

I was put in as Sunday School organist and I taught a class in Wayan before I was a member. All the lesson book I had was the Bible—that's when Father bought us a Bible at home. I read to the class out of the Bible and told them Bible stories. Some people might have thought the Bishop did wrong putting me in that Sunday School when I wasn't a member. I remember him saying I wouldn't hurt anybody.

I think Father might have joined if he's lived longer. We went to church every Sunday and he always went with us. I think the "Sunday Saints" had a lot to do with his reason for not joining. He was a honest man and he didn't like those who spoke sermons on Sunday and then did the opposite on the other days—take your animals or steal something.

I met Parley Peter Kunz in 1918, the year before we were married at a party at Williamsburg—I think it was a 4th of July celebration or a celebration of some kind. He didn't seem to fascinating to me then. I liked Able, Parley's brother, better at the time because he makes friends easily. The Kunz's had dairies out in Williamsburg in the Summers, and they worked there in the dairies. I think I tied a red bandana for fun around Parley's neck that day at the dance. I am happy that Parley asked me to marry him.

I made my own wedding dress and all my girls' wedding dresses. They were all made without patterns. I never learned to use a pattern until later. I used a treadle machine. I made my own quilts when I got married. My Stepmother did a lot of knitting but all that I had, I made myself.¹

Before my marriage, they had a party and Parley and I sat on chairs in the middle of the floor around a big round old fashioned tub. We opened our gifts and put them inside the tub. There weren't too many gifts—a set of glasses, set of sherbet dishes, a broom and probably a rubbing board. My brother, Roy, gave us a set of silverware, Uncle Johnny gave me some sheets, and Bishop Robert Schmid gave us a silver tray. We never got a reception or party—just a few gifts. We were married May 23, 1919 in the Salt Lake Temple. Source: Hilda Stoor's written history from her genealogy book.

¹Marie Vinberg Stoor died November 24, 1918, just six months before Hilda got married.

Parley P. and Hilda Stoor Kunz

Parley Peter Kunz was born in his parents' family home in Bern, Idaho October 28, 1894. He was the only son of John Kunz III and Elizabeth Boss. They were born in Switzerland. Parley was just a little over five years of age when his mother died May 13, 1900, giving birth to Lydia, his sister. The baby sister died the same day too.

Parley and Hilda spent their entire lives in Bern following their marriage. They lived in the home where Parley was born. They lived on a farm. At various times they raised hay, grain, horses, cows, chickens, pigs and sheep. More significantly, they raised thirteen children, all of whom lived to adulthood and married and had families. That is important because Parley was promised when he was set apart as Bishop of the Bern Ward, that if he would always obey the Word of Wisdom all of his children would live to maturity.

Parley Kunz told Joyce Sheffield Kunz, his daughter-in-law, an interesting event in their early life.

Father Kunz told me that when they were going to have their first baby, they walked hand-in-hand up to the cemetery and back. Shortly after that, they had their baby. They named her Fern.

I pictured in my mind a young beautiful happy couple who were so much in love, awaiting their firstborn. He was a tender man and always so kind and thoughtful to his lovely, beautiful bride.

Hilda and Parley had thirteen children all but the last two were born in Bern in our home. The children were: Fern, born May 23, 1920; LaRue, born July 6, 1922; Geniel, born March 21, 1924; Carol Mary, born November 19, 1925; LaVaun, born May 16, 1927; Dale John, born April 30, 1929; Naomi born January 12, 1931; Paul Roy, born June 20, 1932; Owen Lee, born June 30, 1934; Phillip Ray, born July 19, 1936; Eva Mae, born March 12, 1938; Richard, born August 28, 1939; and Arthur Stoor, born January 23, 1944.

Their home was not very large for such a big family. It was two stories without many rooms. Water was piped into the home from a spring west of where Able Kunz lived. It was paid with the money Hilda got for her inheritance when her father died. That replaced the little well which was just Northeast of the house. A bathroom replaced the old “two hole” outhouse in 1950.

Modifications in the home have been made since. But perhaps one of the more interesting modification was made early on when Hilda wanted a door that separated the kitchen and living room moved from the center of the room to the East edge of the wall. She mentioned that to Parley but as it was Summer and he was busy in the hay, and he didn’t get around to it. Hilda’s patience must have worn thin. She went out to the woodshed, got the ax, entered the kitchen and chopped a hole where she wanted the door. Parley hired a neighbor to finish the job properly and cover the old opening.

Naomi Kunz writes of her early family experiences:

I remember helping drive the sheep from out north of Tony's [Kunz] to the property just past the big river bridge toward Montpelier. Papa was on a horse and us kids were walking. We were trying to keep the sheep from going through the fences. We had gunny sacks to shake at them or hit them with. All of the little lambs would get tired and break through holes in the fences. It was a hard job. Papa usually had a crippled lamb in one arm on the horse with him.

One year Papa planted potatoes out south of Bern on his property. One day he asked me to go with him and miss school so that I could help him weed the potatoes. I started at the end of one row and went to the other end of the next row. There were a lot of tumble weeds. Papa left me and said for me to just keep working. I was kind of scared there by myself because we were near the cemetery. I worked hard and as fast as I could. At noon he came after me. I started to clean up and Mother came in and gave me a new dress that she made for me. I was so happy to go back to school wearing the new dress. Mother made shirts and dresses out of mash sacks that came with the mash which was purchased in Montpelier, Idaho for the chickens. Sometimes other material was used as well. She also made pants for the boys and even coats.

I didn't really enjoy the time we went to Montpelier and made mattresses.² How hard it was. Mother sewed the covering and we laid that down on the tables made with boards on saw horses. Then, we put layers of cotton in and pounded between each layer. The dust flew everywhere. We would then sew the top on and catch some of the cotton in the edge to make the roll. I don't remember how many we made, but when we were finished Mother loaned me to Aunt Mae [Mae Tingey Kunz] to make some more. I'll always remember what it was like coming home from school and there would be laundry hanging all over to dry. Sometimes it would be frozen stiff. There would be 8 or 10 loaves of bread, freshly baked, under a clean dish towel on the table. She would make that many loaves every other day. I remember how bad Mother felt when Aunt Anna hung her laundry out before Mother could. Several times Mother hurried and hung out dry, dirty clothes to make Aunt Anna think she had beat her.

Dale remembers that "Mother was such a pretty and petite little lady. She had no gray hair when she died at almost 85 years of age. She claimed that she had such soft and beautiful skin because she would rub the wet diaper of a new born baby on her face. She said it was an old custom. She had few wrinkles. She always looked nice in anything she wore."

²Mattresses were made by people in the Montpelier, Idaho area to be used by the military during World War II. Later on, they were made in the school gymnasium in Bern, Idaho. Other efforts, to support the war, were gathering old animal bones, scrap metal and rags.

Parley and Hilda Kunz in Bern, Idaho

For what shall it profit a man, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul?
Or what shall a man give in exchange for his own soul?

Mark 8:36-37

Parley and Hilda had a special, long life together. They were always good examples and taught their children how to live. They were happy and their love for one another was easy to observe. Hilda's journal had an interesting reference of summation in it, following the death of Parley. She writes:

My year ending in 1983, was a lonely one because of the death of my dear companion in October, of a stroke. Miss him every morning when he would arise and have me bring him a glass of warm water, which I did. Now the morning he had his stroke, he had a good breakfast, after which he said to me, "Mother, that was a good breakfast," then he dressed to go for the mail. So his words of his breakfast were the last he spoke to me. Then when I was told that he had fallen off the steps at Arlo's, across the street. [The mail was taken care of in the home by Arlo's wife, Idelle] He looked at me but couldn't say anything. So hard to see him after in this condition, this was October 8, 1983 Could only hold my hand and at times his eyes would follow me when I moved around the room.

Now his passing has been hard to take. But thinking of a statement I have read, "God give us memories so we can have roses in December." So I know I have a big bed of beautiful roses. We had a good life together. The Lord blessed us with a choice family, grandchildren and many great-grandchildren. Each one so special.

We had many lovely trips together, along with my dear sister Anna and her husband, Orlando, Kunz. Then to finish, the privilege we had of going on a 6 months mission to Alabama in 1972. Parley always said that was the highlight of our life. I think so too.

Now I am going to carry on and do my part and be grateful for all I have been given in my life. There are many blessings I have received and we have had many good years together, and pray I may endure to the end.

In about 1944, Hilda had a very serious illness resulting from an ulcer condition. Dr. Gaertner, a doctor in Montpelier, Idaho, sent her to the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minnesota for the operation. A good part of her stomach and pancreas were cut away. For the rest of her life, she ate more often but smaller servings.

The thirteen children had a wonderful life growing up, with plenty of hard work. We played games in the evening, outdoor games such as "kick the can," "prisoners base," "hide and seek" and so on. On cold days in the Winter, there were rides to school in the "rook sleigh" with the crackle of the snow under the weight of the sleigh. Naomi says, "One night while we were all at the table eating there was a fire in the oven. Mother had been rendering lard and left it in a little too long so it got hot and caught fire. Father got up from the table and grabbed a dish towel and opened the oven, grabbed the pan and went out side and threw it down. In the process, he got bad burns on his arm and hand. Mother covered it with soda."

Parley was always thoughtful in remembering Hilda, his beloved wife. Here is a note he wrote to her. She cherished it more than what money could buy.

To My Dear Wife,

I wonder what I did in the pre-existence to deserve a help mate like my wife. She has certainly been more in my life than I deserved. In other words, how would I get along without her?

I fell in love with her the time I was milking a cow and she was busy heading a calf away while I milked.

I pray the Lord to bless her with his choicest blessings for her wonderful ability as a partner in life and throughout eternity.

I hope I can so live that we will be forever together.

Love from your Husband

Hilda Stoor Kunz's Dreams

Dream of Death

There were a group of us out somewhere, I don't know whether it was around Bern or somewhere else. We were out in the open and someone said, "There is a cloud. When a cloud goes over you, someone is going to die." We were all watching that cloud and Mirintha [Bienz] and I must have stepped out of the group and that cloud went over us. The next thing I knew, we were in Heaven, both of us.

We were up there wandering around, not a thing to do. We went up to the girl at the desk and I said, "Isn't there anything to do, any books to read or anything?" She said there wasn't anything. So, we said that we wanted to go back to Earth and she said that would be fine, that we could go back for a little while.

We went back to Earth, but it wasn't long until we were back there again. People were meandering around in a big room getting clothes and things. We saw people going up these stairways all dressed in white. Mirintha got her white outfit and was leaving me. I was left alone, back by some little rooms. I wanted someone to wait on me so I could get my clothes to go with Mirintha, but nobody came.

Later on I woke up and the next morning my son, Dale, came up quite early and said Mirintha had passed away as they were having family prayer. She was praying and she stopped. They wondered why and after waiting for a minute, she didn't say anymore and they found her dead. This is a dream I never forgot.

Dream of Hilda Stoor Kunz

I dreamed we were going through the temple in Logan. We came up to go through the veil. It seems like my Mother had gone through with me up to this point. Mother said, "Well, I can't go any further. This is as far as I can go." There happened to be a chair and she sat down and I know I sat on her lap and I guess I was crying to think I was going to be separated from her. I can still see that. My mother wasn't a member and we did the work for her after we were married. The work had been done for her when I had this dream. I don't know why she said she could go no further with me.

I had an experience going through the Logan Temple after my marriage. I guess I was dozing a little bit in one of the rooms and I felt someone just shake me, right good and hard. It reminded me of Aunt Caddy at the time and the way she would shake you when we didn't do what she thought was right. I don't remember the name of the person I was going through for, but I got that shaking up and from then on I knew we weren't supposed to be dozing off at a place like that. We were supposed to be paying attention.

The end came for Hilda, as had been promised in her patriarchal blessing. She was promised that death would come in the twinkling of an eye:

Thou shalt live a life of purity before our Father. Thou shalt not taste of death nor molder in the grave, but thou shalt be changed in the twinkling of an eye from mortality to immortality.

Her son, Paul Kunz, found her in bed. She had apparently passed away in her sleep January 11, 1985 in Bern, Idaho. She was 85 years old.

ANNA MARIE STOOR AND ORLANDO N. KUNZ

I, Anna Marie Stoor Kunz, was born to John and Marie Vinberg Stoor July 17, 1902 at Henry, Idaho.

Anna Stoor Kunz

In the Fall of 1905, my parents moved to Wayan, Idaho. It was there I attended grade school with my four sisters and six brothers.

July 4, 1915 our home burned down leaving us with only what we were wearing which was our Sunday clothes. The next day my parents went to Soda Springs for supplies to set up house keeping and material which Mother made clothes for the family. That Summer we lived in a granary and tents until November. We were then able to move into our new home which Father and others built.

Three years later on November 24, 1918 my mother passed away, at the time I felt like all was lost, but with a kind and loving father we were able to carry on.

In 1919, we moved to Soda Springs and there I attended High School and graduated in 1923. I entered college at Pocatello in the Fall of 1923 and studied Education. I taught school one year at Tyhee, Idaho and three years in Bern, Idaho.¹

¹Anna's experience in Bern proved to be of great value for it was there that she met her future husband, Orlando N. Kunz. He was the son of David Kunz, the same David Kunz who had joined the Church in Switzerland and then returned to Switzerland with his brother, John Kunz III on a mission. Orlando sometimes spoke of his experience in the Second World War when he was at the entrance of a cave with his fellow soldiers where the enemy was shelling the hill in general. As he stood by the entrance he felt a strong impression that he was to go back into the cave. He did, and a shell exploded where he had been standing. He always testified that he was moved upon by the Holy Ghost and that protected his life.

Anna Stoor and Orlando Nephi Kunz

May 24, 1926 my father passed away. On May 25, 1927 I married Orlando N. Kunz in Salt Lake City, Utah. On July 27, 1927 I was baptized into The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints. In June 24, 1930 my husband and I received our Endowments and were married in the Logan Temple.

We were blessed with two children, Donna Le born February 16, 1930, and Wendell Ray born August 1, 1932. On January 1, 1940 my nephew Max Stoor came to live with us. He had lost his parents when he was eight years of age. He had no home so we took him in our home and made him feel as one of the family. Our home is and always will be a home for Max.

In 1925, I was asked to work in the Bern Primary as a teacher. In this organization I worked for 32 years in the presidency and 17 years as President. I had the privilege of working under three presidents of the Church, three Stake Presidents and four Primary Stake Presidents and four Ward Bishops. I have worked in the Mutual as Secretary and class leader, on the Stake Board YWMIA and on the Stake Board Primary. I have worked in the Relief Society as a class leader and visiting teacher and teacher in the Sunday School. In 1955, I was called to work in the Relief Society as 1st Counselor to Fern Galloway as President.

Phillip Kunz remembers when he was a small boy and Anna was in the Primary leadership and conducted the opening exercises, “Anna would put her arm around me and help me to offer the opening prayer for Primary. She would whisper a sentence into my ear and then I would repeat it out loud. After all of these years I can still feel her arm about me and hear her whisper the words of prayer for me to repeat.”

She enjoyed working in the Church and with all those she had contact with, especially the children. Anna said, “The more I work the stronger my testimony grows. I hope and pray that I will remain faithful to the end.”

Her daughter, Donna Le, writes:

When Mother started school in Wayan, Idaho she couldn't speak English. The whole family spoke Swedish at home. It didn't take her very long to learn to speak English. She had to work in the hay fields along with her sisters because there were no boys at home only her little brother Vern who was too little. In the spring of each year my parents would buy 2000 baby chicks and put them under a brooder and when they were big enough they would butcher them and sell them. One year they had about 2000 chicks in George Kunz's chicken coop and it caught on fire and burned most of the chicks. That was a terrible loss. When I was 9 years old Mother was very sick and had to have surgery. She was in the hospital for a month. She said that while she was so bad she kept fighting with the devil, he tried to get her to go with him. There were not only one but a whole room full of them. They would stay in her room until a nurse or someone would come in her room. Mother loved getting 3-act plays together for the Primary children and putting them on at the Ward Christmas Party. She would start early in the fall so everyone would be ready. She would always bear her testimony that she would be able to endure to the end and she did. She died 6 June 1973 in Soda Springs, Idaho at the age of 70.

Anna Stoor and Orlando N. Kunz

Naomi Kunz, Anna's niece remembers:

What good memories I have of the chicken cleaning time at Aunt Anna and Uncle Orlando's. We would clean several hundred and it was quite a process. We got paid so much for each one – I think about five cents a chicken. We would hurry to get paid a little and to get through with the job. There were always a lot of pin feathers and rather than wait for the one pair of tweezers we would use our teeth. Papa and Mama and several of us would help. We cleaned them at our home at times, but not as often as we did at Uncle Orlando's.

Elsie was born in Henry, Idaho. She was born July 26, 1903 to John Stoor Sr. and Marie Vinberg. She married Herbert Duering September 21, 1941 in San Francisco, California. Herbert was born October 27, 1890 in San Francisco. He had two children, Herbert Jr. and Walter, from a previous marriage to Matilda Schedeman.

Elsie enjoyed Herbert Jr. and Walter and found much joy in their families and their association.

Elsie went to San Francisco where she was employed for quite a number of years by a Jewish family as a housekeeper. She met Herbert at a Christian Science Meeting and they were married. By that time Herbert's oldest son had joined the Navy and moved from the home. Walter was about 16 years old. He lived with them for a couple of years before going into the military.

Following his service he returned to live with them for another year before moving away.

According to the book, Now and Then, by Faunda Bybee, Elsie was listed as a school teacher in the rural district of Wayan prior to her moving to San Francisco. It is interesting that her sister, Edla was also listed as a teacher in the same district. (Bybee, Now and Then, 1978. p 61). Her sister Anna also taught school.

Edla Matilda Stoor

Children:

(Maxine Huskinson)
(Patricia Kelley)

Edla Matilda Stoor and Leon Whitehead

Edla Stoor was born November 19, 1905 in Henry, Idaho to John Stoor Sr. and Marie Vinberg Stoor. She attended school in Wayan, Idaho. She was a school teacher in Wayan. She met and married Leon George Whitehead November 14, 1931 in Farmington, Davis County, Utah. Leon was born August 7, 1907 in Eureka, Utah, the son of George Obed Whitehead and Mary Ellen Black.

Leon was employed for many years for the telephone company and Edla taught school. They lived in Montpelier for a time and in Grace, Idaho and for many years in Rexburg, Idaho.

Leon passed away March 26, 1983 in Rexburg, Idaho and Edla on February 2, 1992 at Pocatello, Idaho. They are buried in Soda Springs, Idaho. They had two sons, Jerry, born November 11, 1932 in Logan, Utah and Darrell, born February 24, 1936 in Grace, Idaho.

Edla Stoor

Jerry writes about his parents as follows:

Our dad was born in Eureka, Utah. At that time his dad was working in the mines and farming part time. Dad's family lived in Eureka, Utah until 1918 at which time they packed up all their belongings into a covered wagon and moved to southern Idaho. Dad and his oldest sister (Leda) rode mules all the way, while the two younger children (Alba and Bill) rode in the wagon. During this trip Alba fell out of the wagon over bumpy ground and her head was partially run over. A rock kept her from being killed, but she did receive a bad head injury which left her cross-eyed for life. In southern Idaho, Dad's father farmed part time and worked on road construction. Dad worked on the farm through high school. In high school, Dad was a starting guard for the Grace High School basketball team. In his senior year, Grace took the State Championship for their division and Dad was named to the state all-star team as a starting guard. Dad received a partial scholarship to play basketball with what is now Utah State University in Logan, Utah. He only went one semester and then quit because of the way he was treated on the basketball team. He told me he got mad when they made him buy his own basketball shoes, while returning players were given shoes by the school. After leaving school Dad went to work with his Dad in road construction.

Mother's mother, Marie Vinberg, died when she turned 14 and her father, John Stoor Sr., died when Edla was 21. Her father raised her and her sisters and brother until his death. Mother did not talk much about her mother and father. About all my brother and I knew about them was her mother died of a sickness. After graduating from high school, mother attended college in Pocatello, Idaho at what is now Idaho State University. She received a two year teaching certificate and started teaching school in the Soda Springs area of southern Idaho. After she was married she taught school on and off until she retired. In the 1960's, Idaho passed a law that required teachers to have a degree in Education, so she went back to school at Ricks College (which was a four-year school at that time) and received her degree the last year that Ricks was a four year school.

Dad and mother met while she was teaching school in the Soda Springs area and Dad was working in Grace. They didn't talk much about their courtship, but they were married in November of 1931. I, Jerry, was born a year later in Logan, Utah when Dad and mother were living with Dad's parents. Dad was unemployed at the time so they were staying with his parents. Leda, Dad's sister, had married by this time, while the two younger siblings were still at home.

Soon after I was born, Dad decided to try farming (remember during this time the depression was in full swing), so he took over his Dad's farm outside of Grace, Idaho. His Dad had bought this farm from Leda's husband earlier.

Darrell was born on the farm in February of 1936. Dad farmed in Grace from early 1933 to 1938, when he decided he could make more money in construction.

Leon Whiteheads note 50 years of marriage

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Whitehead will be honored on their 50th wedding anniversary Saturday, Aug. 1 with an open house from 6-8 p.m. downstairs at the Rexburg Presbyterian Church, hosted by their family.

The Whiteheads were married Nov. 14, 1931, in Utah. They later moved to Rexburg where they have lived for 33 years. Mrs. Whitehead taught school for 33 years and Mr. Whitehead worked at Mountain Bell for 32 years.

They are the parents of two sons, Jerry of Santa Paula, Calif., and Darrell of Redondo Beach, Calif. They have eight grandchildren; and two great-grandchildren.

Dad went to work for Mountain States Telephone Co. in 1938, and started out in their line construction division. During the next few years he worked in many places through Nevada and southern Idaho. While in Mountain Home, Idaho, mother had a back operation which she recovered from completely. Dad's dad was killed in an construction accident in 1939 while building a new road through Heber Canyon, Utah. In 1941, Dad decided he wanted to move from telephone line construction into a telephone office doing installation and repair. So early in 1941 Dad moved to Pocatello, Idaho to receive schooling and training. In 1942 Dad was transferred to Montpelier, Idaho where he worked until 1947, when he was transferred to Rexburg, Idaho. Mother taught school both in Montpelier and Rexburg. Dad received a medical retirement from the telephone company (he had fallen off a telephone pole in his 60's). Mother retired from teaching a few years later.

After their retirement they decided to travel, so they took trips to Hawaii, Alaska, Tahiti and many places in the United States. They were in Rexburg at the time of the Teton Dam disaster, but seeing that it happened about noon on a Saturday, they had plenty of time to pull their trailer to a friend's house on Rexburg Hill. It turned out they had five feet of water at their house, which was on the west end of town. The water was ten feet high when the flood waters reached the east end of town. Their basement was completely flooded, with 5 feet of water in their family room and 18 inches throughout the whole upstairs. They lost a lot of pictures, personal papers, and souvenirs because no one thought the water would get as high as it did. Because of the flatness of the upper Snake River Valley, the experts expected the water to spread out more from the river bed, but it didn't. Dad felt afterwards that his throat cancer started because of the dust and debris that was left by the flood. Some of the closest relationships with my parents were on camping trips. Both my parents liked to fish, so we had many fishing trips where we either camped by a lake or a stream. During these outings my brother and I became very close to our parents and my parents love abounded. Dad also liked to hunt, so we had many special experience on hunting trips. I can remember one hunting trip up Montpelier Canyon where Dad and a friend of his both claimed they had felled this deer. As it turned out Dad's friend had expelled three live rounds onto the ground. I guess every time he was ready to shoot, Dad shot, so he thought he had fired and ejected his live round.

After Dad died in March of 1983, mother became closer to Aunt Lillian and eventually moved to Pocatello to be nearer to her. As mother's health deteriorated, she relied more and more on Lilly's help. Both Darrell and I are extremely grateful for the assistance Lilly gave to our mother. Dad went real fast when an aneurysm in his back ruptured, but Mother went slowly. Her body was wasting away while her mind was as sharp as a tack. It was sad to see her caught up in a deteriorating body with very little communication. Mother died at her home in February of 1992 with both Darrell and me at her side.

Lillian Stoor
James Grant Hopper

Lillian Stoor and Jimmy Hopper

Lillian was born on October 11, 1907 at Wayan, Idaho. She was the last daughter born to John Stoor Sr. and Marie Vinberg Stoor. She was loved very much by her parents. She grew up in Wayan and attended school there. Her father, John Stoor Sr., left her some money when he died so she could attend college for one year. She went to Pocatello to school at Idaho Technical Institute, now Idaho State University, where she met James (Jimmy) Grant Hopper and they were married in Idaho Falls, Idaho on August 16, 1928.

Jimmy was born February 19, 1905 in Blackfoot, Idaho, the son of Thomas Hopper and Laverne Parks.

They had a dairy business in Pocatello, Idaho called the Hopper Dairy and then Hopper's Dairy Queen and Orange Julius. Farmers brought milk into their dairy and they bottled it. They made cottage cheese and ice cream as well. They supplied all of the ice cream for the Stoor reunions. Anyone who is old enough can remember the big, well insulated containers of ice cream and everyone looked especially forward to that part of the reunion.

Lillian was a member of the First Presbyterian Church and also a member of the Order of the Eastern Star.

After the death of Matt and Sarah,

Lillian Stoor

Lillian and Jimmy Hopper

Lillian's brother and sister-in-law, Betty, at age twelve, went to live with Lillian and Jimmy. They treated her well. She brought a lot of happiness and joy to them. Betty's children called Lillian "Grandma Ice Cream."

Jimmy and Lillian Stoor Hopper

Jimmy and Lillian went to the World's Fair in Chicago in 1933. Hilda went with them in a little one-seated car. They shared a 3 Musketeer bar since it had three pieces. They often spoke of the fun they had on that trip to the Fair.

Lillian Stoor Hopper

Jimmy died September 24, 1959 so Lillian was without him for several years. She was always cheerful and happy. She could always laugh. Now she only brings her ray of sunshine in our memories. She passed away, after a long, painful struggle August 6, 2000. Both Jimmy and Lillian are buried in the Mountainview Cemetery in Pocatello.

Written by Lillian Stoor Hopper about her father, John Stoor Sr.

In September, 1997, Lillian Stoor Hopper wrote the following about her father to Naomi Kunz, who was preparing for the Stoor Family Reunion:

I don't know too much about my Dad, except from this history I am sending.

I do know what he liked to wear, and that was woolen clothes the year around. He never wore overalls, but had suspenders to hold his pants up.

He liked plain food like clabber milk, smoked fish, blood bread real hard, and this was made from the blood when they butchered an animal for meat.

He was a tailor in Finland, but he never did sew for us.

His education was the Bible, he could quote so many things.

I never saw him dance, but he could out run anyone in a foot race.

He went into the sheep business, made a good living for us.

He loved his family, he never spanked us but when he spoke we did what he said.

I was quite young when mother died. She had a stroke from high blood pressure. At that time nothing was done for it. They had worked so hard.

I used to comb her pretty hair. She was working so hard and loving us all.

When he married my mother she loved them all as if they were her own; if only she could have stayed with us a little longer.

Naomi, I hope you can find something in the letters that will help you, so nice for you to do this.

Oh yes, he could read tea leaves and could predict death, but he would never read ours.

Hope to see you someday before snow comes.

Love to you
Lillian

Vern Stoor, the youngest of John Stoor Sr. and Marie Vinberg's children writes:

My father, John Stoor Sr. was born born in Sweden.¹ He started school and later spent a couple of years in the army. After the army he learned to be a tailor. They migrated to the United States, arriving in Idaho in 1891. Soon after that he homesteaded where the Blackfoot Reservoir is now. Then in 1895 the Government bought the land and Dad bought land at Wayan, Idaho to which they moved their two story log home piece by piece. Dad had five boys and one girl by his first wife, Johanna, (John, Gus, Roy, Emil, Matt, Hilda), and four girls and myself (Vern) by his second wife, Marie, (Anna, Elsie, Edla, Lillian, Vern). In Wayan we mostly farmed and raised sheep.

Vern was born in Wayan July 2, 1909. He is the youngest child of John Stoor Sr. and Marie Vinberg. He attended school in Wayan and Soda Springs and graduated from Soda Springs High School. Vern went to Pocatello Pharmacy School for one year. He then went back to raising sheep in Wayan. He met and married Jennie Averill in 1930.

Vern continues:

When Dad (John Stoor Sr.) died I inherited a 160 acre farm, 100 head of sheep and $2000. We stayed on the farm for 3 years then moved to Pocatello where I delivered milk for 5 years. Then moved back to Wayan and stayed until the price of wool got down to 12 cents a pound.

While at Wayan I worked the Winters in the woods for the USPWA (Public Works Administration) cutting timber in 10 feet of snow in Nevills Canyon. Then we moved to Soda Springs and rented a grocery store for $25 a month.

In 1941, we bought the old rock store for $2500 plus $300 for inventory. I retired from the grocery business in 1974. Since then, Stoor's Grocery has had about five different people operate it. (McClellan, Gary Skinner, Powells, Hughes). Marshals Craft and Hobby shop occupied the place for a couple of years and it is now the offices of Idaho Health Care.

Jennie Averill was born July 18, 1912 in Blackfoot, Idaho. Her father was Wallace Averill. He was a forest ranger all over the West so they moved around a lot. She had one brother, (John) who was married to Mary. They lived in Washington, D.C. Her mother Myrtle divorced Wallace and married Gamond Hayward who was a miner at Conda, Idaho. Some of the places she lived were ¹He probably meant Finland. Because his parents spoke Swedish, he may have mixed up this reference to Sweden.

Carlin, Nevada, Elko, Nevada, Morgan, Utah and Conda, Idaho.

Jennie went to Soda Springs High School. She married Vern in 1930. Their children are Gary, born in Conda in 1931, Jack, born in Pocatello in 1933, Tommy, born in Soda Springs in 1945. Tommie was killed in an airplane crash while flying the Fish and Game people spotting and counting Elk in 1974.

Personality Profiles . . .

By Ruth Crawford

Vern Stoor is probably the only merchant in Soda Springs who moved to town for a winter of comfortable living from ranch life in Wayan and never did move back.

Mr. Stoor was born in Wayan July 2, 1909. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Stoor Sr. were born in Finland and were acquainted there. They were married in this country about a year after Mrs. Stoor's arrival from Finland. Mr. Stoor's first wife died some time before.

John Stoor Sr. homesteaded about 1890 in the area of the Blackfoot reservoir and when his homestead was flooded he bought a ranch a few miles southwest of the community of Wayan. The family home where Vern was born burned in 1916 and a new house was built. The ranch is still in the Stoor family and the home is occupied by members of the family.

Vern attended school to the Fourth Grade in Wayan then came to Soda Springs where he graduated from high school in 1928. He attended classes in pharmacy at the University of Idaho, Southern Branch, at Pocatello, then returned to ranching at Wayan.

On July 3, 1930, Mr. Stoor and Jennie Hayward of Conda were married. For five years they lived in Pocatello where their two oldest sons, Gary and Jack, were born. They then moved back to the ranch at Wayan where they lived until the winter of 1939.

During the years they were ranching a big event of the year was the day the snowplow cleared the roads. Residents would be snowed in from about the first of November to the middle of May. Transportation around the ranch was easily solved by hitching a horse to a flatbottomed boat.

When Vern and Jennie had saved $300 they came into town to spend the winter. Gary was going to school here and they wanted to be with him for the winter months. The fourth week of the holiday Gary developed a mastoid infection which required several weeks of convalescence after surgery and used up the winter's funds. On Jan. 3, 1940, Vern and Jennie bought out the inventory of Stoors Market from an older brother and they were in the grocery business. They have maintained the same grocery store since then.

The store was originally bought by John Stoor Sr. from Herb Horsley in 1924. The building has always housed a grocery, having been built originally by ZCMI in 1895. It was constructed of lumber brought by ox cart from Salt Lake City, shingles made by hand from cedars on Soda Creek and part of the building is made of lava rock left by the railroad when the construction site of a roundhouse was changed to Montpelier.

Mr. and Mrs. Stoor have three sons: Gary, who lives in Soda Springs, is a consulting civil engineer; Jack has a dental practice in Casa Grande, Ariz., and Tom, recently returned after 18 months duty in Vietnam with the Navy, is due for discharge this month.

They have eight grandchildren.

Mr. Stoor has been active in civic affairs in Soda Springs and has been a member of Lions and Kiwanis clubs.

When the Reese Ranch in Star Valley, the homestead of Mrs. Stoor's grandmother, was sold, two acres were reserved from the sale. Mr. and Mrs. Stoor are building a home on this land at the end of Palisades reservoir.

CHARACTERISTICS OF EFFECTIVE MORMON FAMILIES

With the strong emphasis in the church for building good families, you may be interested in the results of our research of the Characteristics of Effective Mormon Families. We asked stake presidents from different states to identify the 15 strongest families in the stakes. Then we gathered data from some 200 families to find out what made their families so effective. We compared these findings with some less effective families as well. Here are some of the things we discovered.

1. Almost 100% of these families are full tithe payers, attend all of their meetings regularly and always accept a job or position in the church
2. These families have very clear goals as to what they want for their children. Virtually 100% said their goals include: having their children marry in the temple, get a good education, develop a strong self-concept, be active in the church, develop a strong sense of family unity and have children go on a mission. (We also found that the less effective families did not have these clear goals for their children.)
3. In effective families 73% said they always or usually held daily family prayer.
4. Two thirds of these families said they always or usually held regular weekly family home evening. The other one third also held family home evening, but not as regularly.
5. These families did not identify movie stars or sports figures as family heroes. They most often said the heroes to their families were church leaders or older family members.
6. Husbands and wives work at having a good personal relationship in their marriages. On a scale of 1 to 10, the average family was at 8.5 in terms of feeling the marriage was strong and good..

7. Ninety-six percent said they most often would do things together as a family. Ninety-two percent said another family member performed or was in a game or activity.

8. These families are not free from adversity. Eighty percent said they had some real adversities in their lives (illness, death, problems with children, etc.) but they worked as a family to deal with problems. The family was the first line of defense in times of adversity. They worked things out together as much as possible.

9. Over 80% said they daily express affection physically to other family members.

10. These families on the average watch TV only 1/3 as much as the average family in America.

11. Effective families tend to see themselves as somewhat stricter than other families. They had rather few rules but very high expectations. They expect a lot from their children.

12. They tend to reward their children more by giving praise or some special treat, rather than giving money.

13. These families spend a great deal of time talking together. Almost 100 % said they talk regularly as a family and also to each child individually on a regular, almost daily, basis.

Themselves. Salt Lake City: Deseret Book

Chapter 17

Family Of John Stoor Sr. Johanna Majasdotter Gästgivars Marie Vinberg Isaksson

The members of the John Stoor Sr. Family are presented here with the best information we have been able to obtain over the past few years. Addresses and telephone numbers may not always be exact, inasmuch as about one in five families in the United States move each year. The information lists each person in the family in bold print, their birthday, where born, where living or when died, their spouse and where married and their children. Generally, the information for the parents is the same, but there are cases where some may have divorced and subsequently have separate addresses.

The columns on the left of the page represent generations, with John Stoor Sr. and his wives, Johanna and Marie, as the first generation. By glancing at the number of lines on the page it is easy to determine what generation the individual is. The numbers on the column lines indicate which number the person is in his or her family, the number for the parents, and so on.

The children of John Stoor St. and his wives are in the second column. Because there were thirteen in all, the first nine are numbered from 1 through 9 and the 10th one [Edla is given the letter a, Lillian b and Vern c.

If the system is not clear, the easiest course is to look in the index for your own name and turn to that page. You know your own immediate family and will be able to see how the information is presented.

You will note that the original eleven children, as adult parents, are listed on top of the pages where the information on their family is given. You will find that you have many relatives.

A PRECIOUS PROMISE

“The Prophet Joseph Smith declared—and he never taught a more comforting doctrine—that the Eternal sealings of faithful parents and the divine promises made to them for valiant service in the cause of truth, would save not only themselves but likewise their posterity. Though some of the sheep may wander, the eye of the Shepherd is upon them, and sooner or later they will feel the tentacles of Divine Providence reaching out after them and drawing them back to the fold. Whether in this life or in the life to come, they will return. They will have to pay their debt to justice; they will suffer for their sins; and may tread a thorny path; but if it leads them at last, like the penitent prodigal, to a loving and forgiving Father’s heart and home, the painful experience will not have been in vain. Pray for your careless and disobedient children; hold on to them with your faith. Hope on, trust on, till you see the salvation of God.

Who are these straying sheep—these wayward sons and daughters? They are the children of the covenant, heirs to the promise, and have received, if baptized, the Gift of the Holy Ghost, which makes manifest the things of God. Could all of that go for naught?”

Orson F. Whitney, conference report of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, April 1929. Pages 110-111.
